SENATE WILL PUT MITCHEL AT MERCY OF TAMMANY FOES

Draws Rules for Wagner Investigation Which Will Permit Free Cross-examination.

SETS TUESDAY AS DATE

WHITMAN BARS BRACKETT

Compels His Withdrawal as Special Counsel—Hot Fight in Secret Session Over Procedure.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 28.—John Purroy Mitchel, Mayor of New York City, has been cited to appear before the bar of the Senate at noon on Tuesday next to answer to the charge that he made a "false and malicious statement" against a member of that body. The charge is an outgrowth of Mayor Mitchel's attack on Friday last on Robert F. Wagner, leader of the Democratic minority in the Senate, when, as the official indictment declares, he said: "It would appear that there are certain members of the Legislature who are working in the interests of the German Government. You know whom I mean, don't you? I mean Bob Wagner."

The decision to call Mayor Mitchel to account on next Tuesday instead of tomorrow, as had been intended at first, was reached by the Senate at 7 o'clock this evening in secret session. The Senate had been deliberating behind closed doors for nearly five hours. From all accounts, its secret session was one of the most acrimonious in recent legislative annals.

When Mayor Mitchel appears before the Senate he will be at the mercy of a dozen or more Senators, some of these Republicans, who are looking forward to the occasion with grim anticipation and are preparing to make a Tammany sacrifice of New York's Fusion Mayor.

The discussion in the Senate, after the doors of the Senate chamber had been barred, was almost entirely over the question of whether members should have the right of "cross-examination," or whether the President of the Senate or some specially appointed counsel alone should question him.

Brown's Single-handed Fight.

Senator Elon R. Brown, the President pro tem., contended forcefully against any line of procedure which would permit the hearing to be turned into "a heckling bee." With that end in view he offered an amendment to the report presented by the special committee appointed to formulate rules of procedure for the hearing. For two hours he stood off the whole Senate single-handed. Then, realizing that he was leading a forlorn hope, he withdrew his amendment and gave up the uneven fight.

Under the rules finally adopted notice of the charge must be served on the Mayor, on or before Saturday. Should the Mayor fail to appear in response to this notice a warrant for his arrest will be issued by the President of the Senate and handed to Sergeant at Arms Charles R. Hotaling, with orders "to take the said John Purroy Mitchel into custody and produce him before the Bar of the Senate forthwith to answer said charge."

When Mayor Mitchel appears or is "produced" in the Senate he will be asked first, if he made the statement attacking Senator Wagner which was attributed to him in the newspapers. Should he answer in the negative he will be requested to withdraw while the Senate deliberates over what further action to take. Should he answer in the affirmative he will be called upon to produce his proofs.

When this stage of the hearing has been reached, Mayor Mitchel, under the procedure decided upon, will have the right to give testimony in response to questions from his own counsel. When the direct examination is concluded he will be open to cross-examination, not only by the President of the Senate and the Chairman of the Board of Managers, composed of five Senators, which will manage the proceedings, but by any Senator who has a question to ask. That this part of the hearing will be stormy is generally predicted, for many Senators will come primed with questions.

Refusal on the Mayor's part to answer any question pertinent to the inquiry would constitute contempt. The President of the Senate under the rules will be the judge of what is or is not pertinent. His rulings will be final, except when the Senate, on an appeal from at least five members, shall overrule him. The rules of evidence which obtain in courts of record in this State have been adopted for the hearing in other respects. When the testimony is all in, the Senate will vote on a verdict in open session. If this should be against Mayor Mitchel, the Senate will go into secret session to deliberate on the punishment to be meted out.

Waited for Mills's Report

The plans for the hearing were held up for several hours today while the members of the special committee which was formulating the rules of procedure were awaiting word from Senator Ogden Mills, who had gone to New York for the purpose of conferring with Mayor Mitchel and fully informing him as to the temper of the Senate. Word came from the Senator early this morning that he would be at the Capitol on an early train. He urged that nothing be done pending his arrival.

Later another message arrived inform-

Inquiry About Lost Cunarder; Ordana May Be Held by Gales.

The United Press sent out the following dispatch from London yesterday:

"Queries concerning 'a Cunard liner reported recently sunk,' the number of casualties and whether the ship was mined or torpedoed were asked of the Government by the independent Irish Nationalist Lawrence Ginnell in the House of Commons today.

"Secretary to the Admiralty McNamara replied that such information 'was not in the public interest,' and refused to disclose in reply to Ginnell's further interrogatories whether an inquiry was to be instituted."

The Cunarders in the British Government service are all accounted for and are believed to be safe. The only Cunarder overdue in the transatlantic service is the Orduna, on her way to New York. She should have been here two days ago, but may have been delayed by adverse gales.

LLOYD GEORGE WON TO WOMEN'S CAUSE

He Joins Asquith in Declaring in Favor of Granting Them Suffrage.

COMMONS SHOWS APPROVAL

LONDON, March 28.—Premier Lloyd George made a declaration in the House of Commons today in favor of woman suffrage. He said he welcomed the recommendation to that end which had been offered in the program for electoral reform moved today by former Premier Asquith.

Other recommendations of the program, which was framed at a recent conference presided over by the speaker, were: Six months' residence or the occupation of business premises to be the only qualification for voting, redistribution of seats, proportional representation in large urban areas, all elections to be held on one day.

After an interesting debate today the House by a majority of 279 expressed approval of legislation on the lines of the Speaker's conference recommendations for franchise reform. The small minority represented not the actual opponents of reform, but rather members who were desirous of postponing legislation of so contentious a character until after the war.

The great features of the debate were the frank acceptance by Mr. Asquith and Andrew Bonar Law, Chancellor of the Exchequer, of women's right to vote as a result of their war sacrifices and services, and the Premier's wholehearted acceptance of the conference recommendations, except proportional representation. He was even willing to go still further and make the qualifying period of residence three instead of six months.

The Premier, paying the warmest tribute to women's work during the war, especially the devotion, courage, and zeal of women munition makers, said that when after the war the nation came to recast the whole industrial fabric, to give women no voice therein would be an outrage; it would be inequitable, unjust, and ungrateful, and he believed that the country would not sanction such injustice for a moment. He agreed to the desirability of avoiding all political controversies during the war. The Parliament to be elected after peace was declared would have to solve quickly the problems which would determine the course of things in Great Britain and the empire for generations, and unless he was mistaken in the temper of the people, they did not intend to intrust this tremendous reconstruction to any party machine; they meant, he believed, to take it into their own hands. Therefore, he declared that he was glad that men of all political faiths had agreed upon a basis for an electorate, millions of whom had made sacrifices for their country.

After intimating that the Government was not prepared to adopt proportional representation, the Premier concluded by expressing the hope that the House would show a spirit, not merely of conciliation, but of good sense, and carry through the recommendations substantially in the form in which they had been made and without the bitterness of a political controversy.

An Amendment for Delay.

Several members of the House supported as amendment introduced by Arthur Clavelle Salter, Unionist, urging the avoidance of the question during the war, except in the shape of a temporary measure placing soldiers and sailors on the register, the ground being taken by Mr. Salter that any scheme of reform as suggested would discourage the Allies, disconcert the fighting men and detract from the national efforts to win the war.

Walter Hume Long, Secretary for the Colonies, implored the Government's opponents to acquiesce in the Government's policy. He urged the adoption of the conference proposals in full. It would be criminal folly, Mr. Long said, to lose this opportunity for compromise, and for the members of Parliament to turn their backs on the possibility of a settlement, a chance of which might never return. He had been a lifelong opponent of woman suffrage, the Secretary added, but if he still held the same views, which he did not, he would not raise his voice against granting recognition to women who had suffered and died for their country in the war, and without whose heroism, self-denial, skill, physical strength and endurance the country could never have faced its hour of crisis.

Mr. Asquith's statement of his change of opinion in the matter of woman suffrage was made in the course of his speech moving the adoption of a plan for electoral reform. He said his opposition to woman suffrage had always been based solely on considerations of public expediency. The women had now worked out their own salvation. The war could not be carried on without them. What moved him especially, he added, was the problem of reconstruction after the war. He considered it to be neither just nor expedient to with-

GERMANY MUST SEIZE ALL FOOD, BATOCKI ASSERTS

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Tuesday, March 27, (via London.)—In a few isolated towns the reduction in bread rations from 200 grams to 170 grams, which was to begin April 15 in all Germany, has already been in force a few days. In Zielenzic, a small manufacturing town in Branderburg, people receive an additional half pound of meat weekly in place of a bonus of bread, for which the extraordinary cheap price of 20 pfennigs (less than 5 cents) is charged. In Berlin the municipality is now making arrangements with certain butchers of the poorer districts where people will be able to buy their additional half pound of meat at an equally low price after April 15.

How precious bread cards have become here may be gathered from the fact that repeatedly lately men have been arrested for stealing large quantities from the municipal officers. Some of these thieves have been doing a flourishing business, selling them to restaurants, and many thousands of marks derived from this have been found in their possession. In Munich yesterday the authorities discovered an establishment for manufacturing counterfeit bread cards and cards for other food rations. Large quantities of brand new cards which were absolutely indistinguishable from the genuine article, and also a number of matrices, were confiscated.

LONDON, March 28.—A dispatch to Reuter's Telegram Company from Amsterdam says:

"According to the Dutch newspapers, the food question in Germany was again discussed by the Reichstag Committee today. Adolph von Batocki, President of the Food Regulation Board, gave a detailed statement of the available supplies, and expressly declared that the seizure of all stocks of foodstuffs in the country was imperative. He intimated the possibility of the abolition of meatless days and said a State contribution would be made toward increased prices at the rate of 75 pfennigs for the wealthy and 90 pfennigs for the poorer communities per capita weekly."

A Central News Dispatch from Amsterdam says that Herr von Batocki in a statement to the Reichstag Committee admitted that the compensations for the reduction of the bread ration were not sufficient, but declared no other solution was possible.

Despite all the experience the food administration authorities had gained and the knowledge of conditions they had acquired, the supplies, Herr von Batocki continued, had been too highly estimated, but the seriousness of the situation did not justify either sharp criticism or Utopian proposals.

The supplies of pigs were not sufficient to permit the slaughter of the number which strict necessity required, the food dictator is quoted as declaring, and therefore the reserves of cattle would have to be drawn upon considerably. Increased production was impossible, owing to the lack of labor, leaving out of consideration the enormous difficulties of transportation. In any case, the speaker said, it was impossible to live without potatoes and bread, and the agriculturists must be made fully aware of their obligations.

COPENHAGEN, March 28, (via London.)—The result of the recent stocktaking of the grain, potatoes and other foodstuffs on hand in Germany was so unfavorable as to cause general apprehension, according to the Berlin Vorwärts, which quotes remarks made before the Reichstag Committee on Food by the Socialist Deputy Ebert. The Vorwärts is the only Berlin paper which carries an account of the proceedings before the committee.

According to this report Deputy Ebert said that an inventory showed the 1916 yield of bread grains was only 500,000 tons, or fifteen pounds per capita, above the 1915 harvest, a harvest which had been regarded as almost calamitous. Earlier reports on the 1916 harvest had described it as good, and a rationing scheme was based on an estimated excess of 1,000,000 tons. The reduction in the visible supply by one-half explains the cut in the bread ration, which was announced by the authorities as soon as the results of the census were in hand.

Deputy Ebert added that a similar deficit apparently existed in other food products, and declared that part of the missing foodstuffs had undoubtedly vanished down the throats of cattle and hogs which were fed on illegal fodder by 127 British Vessels Sunk by U-Boats in Last 4 Weeks.

LONDON, March 28.—During the week ending March 25, 2,314 ships over 160 tons net arrived at ports in the United Kingdom, according to an official statement issued this evening. During the same period 2,438 vessels of over 100 tons net sailed from ports in the United Kingdom. These figures are exclusive of fishing vessels and local shipping.

Eighteen British merchant vessels over 1,600 tons gross, including two during the previous fortnight, and the hospital ship Asturias, were sunk by mines or submarines. Seven merchant vessels under 1,600 tons also were sunk. Thirteen British merchant vessels, including three during the previous fortnight, were unsuccessfully attacked by submarines. Ten British fishing vessels, including nine sailing vessels, were sunk during the same period.

Including the above totals, the number of British ships destroyed thus far for this month is 127. Sixty-two, including the Asturius, were of a tonnage of over 1,600, while twenty-eight were under that figure. Thirty-seven fishing vessels also have been sunk.

The Admiralty reports for the first two weeks of March showed that forty-six ships were sunk, while the reports of hte last two weeks tell of the destruction of eighty-one vessels.

BRITISH PRESS ON NORTH OF ROISEL

BIG ATTACK IN CHAMPAGNE

Germans Penetrate French First Line Trenches, Taking 300 Prisoners.

LONDON, March 28.—British troops north of Roisel pushed forward again today, led by cavalry and armored motor cars, and captured the important town of Villers-Faucon, as well as the heights to the north, on which stands the village of Saulcourt. A few prisoners and machine guns were taken. This operation represents an advance since yesterday of nearly two miles. The British line at this point is less than seven miles from Le Catelet and five miles from the Scheldt, which, rising east of Le Catelet, flows west through the city and then bends to the north.

North of the Bapaume-Cambrai highroad the British also made progress, reaching the road running from Lagnicourt to Doignes at two points, while General Haig's troops are drawing closer daily to Croisilles.

On the French front there has been little change today. South of St. Quentin the artillery of both sides has been engaged in a fierce duel, while south of the forest of Coucy General Nivelle improved his positions on the northern part of the Coucy plateau. In the Champagne district, however, the Germans attempted another diversion, this time on a considerable scale. After a violent bombardment lasting through the greater part of the night the Germans launched a heavy attack this morning on the French positions west of Maisons de Champagne, penetrating the first line trenches. Other attacks against the Champagne farm itself failed with sanguinary losses.

British Take Two Villages

The British communication says:

Following up their success of yesterday morning, our cavalry captured during this afternoon Villers-Faucon and Saulcourt, taking several prisoners and four machine guns.

Last night a hostile attack on our new position at Equancourt was driven off with considerable German losses.

Further north our troops established themselves during the night at two points on the Doignes-Lagnicourt Road after a short fight, and today gained ground south and west of Croisilles, meeting with strong resistance.

We carried out successful raids early this morning east of Aix-Noulette and north of Neuville St. Vaast.

Between the Somme and the Oise great activity displayed by the artillery of both sides, especially on the Essigny-Benay front. Our fire dispersed enemy pioneers south of St. Quentin. There was no infantry action.

South of the Oise and north of Soissons skirmishes between patrols and lively rifle firing occurred at a number of points.

In Champagne, after a violent bombardment of our positions west of Maisons de Champagne, the Germans delivered a strong attack this morning, gaining a footing in some of the elements of our first line. All of their attempts against Maisons de Champagne broke down under our fire, which inflicted sanguinary losses on the enemy.

Two surprise attacks against our outposts east of the road between St. Hilaire and St. Souplet and north of Tahure completely failed.

On the left bank of the Meuse we effectively shelled the German organizations in the sector of Hill 304 and Le Mort Homme. The cannonading was intermittent on the rest of the front.

Afternoon statement follows:

Between the Somme and the Oise and south of the Oise there were no important events during the night. The artillery firing was rather heavy in the region east of the lower forest of Coucy. North of the Aillette we made further progress, and also in the sector east of the line Leuilly-Neuville-sur-Margival, where we captured several important points of support.

In the region of Rheims we made a surprise attack east of Neuville, taking prisoners. In Champagne late yesterday and during the night the artillery fighting became violent, especially in the region of the Butte du Mesnil and Maisons de Champagne.

Elsewhere the night was calm.

KAISERS DISCUSS PEACE IN BERLIN; RUMOR OF OFFERS TO ALLIES AND TO US; GERMANY IS TO DETAIN WHITLOCK

WILL HOLD WORKERS 4 WEEKS

CALLS IT 'NEWS QUARANTINE'

Men Will Be Released After Their Information Ceases to be of Any Military Value.

AGAINST PLEDGE AND LAW

Simply Adds Another to List of Indignities Upon Americans, Washington Says.

THE HAGUE, March 28, (via London.)—The Associated Press has been informed from an absolutely authentic source that the German Government will ask American officials and relief workers of the American Commission for Relief in Belgium to submit to a period of "news quarantine," the time not to exceed four weeks, in order to prevent military information from leaking out.

The time would count from the day the men laid down their charges and notified the authorities in Brussels of their readiness to depart. They will be asked to assemble at some centre, like Liége, or preferably a German city, such as Cologne, Karlsruhe or Munich, which they would not be allowed to leave for the period mentioned.

The "news quarantine" would apply equally to Brand Whitlock, the American Minister to Belgium, and his staff, whom the German Government since the break in diplomatic relations regards on the same footing as relief workers, although personally in the case of Mr. Whitlock the period of detention, as a matter of courtesy, might be shortened. After the "quarantine" has ended, it is stated, no obstacles will be placed in the way of the departure of the officials and relief workers by any route they may choose.

Gross Violation of Pledges.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The State Department, it was said tonight, had no information regarding the report that Germany would detain American officials and relief workers in Belgium for four weeks after their work ended in order to destroy the "news value" or strategic importance of such information as they may have gathered.

The view of official Washington is that such a course on Germany's part would be another gross violation of German pledges regarding the American relief work in Belgium. The promise was that these workers should have unrestricted egress when their work was done.

The detention of Brand Whitlock, the Minister to Belgium, would be a still more serious breach of international law. The State Department does not believe he could be detained legally on any pretext whatever. While Germany may argue that since the breaking off of diplomatic relations between the United States and Germany Mr. Whitlock's status in occupied Belgium is simply that of a relief worker, the State Department regards him as unqualifiedly retaining all his diplomatic immunities. The chief of these immunities is the right of safe conduct from the place of his mission.

The reported plan of Germany at an ordinary time would bring the relations of the two countries to a crisis. On the eve of what is expected to be open war, the incident simply adds another to the long list of counts in the President's indictment of the German Government.

RED CROSS BANDAGES POISONED BY SPIES

Special to The New York Times.

PHILADELPHIA, March 28.—Albert W. Staub, Director of the Atlantic Division of the American Red Cross, addressing the local Red Cross organization today, said:

"You women of Philadelphia must clean house. Go over the list of your members and make sure of the loyalty of every one. Under no circumstances allow any one in your board rooms unless you know who they are. Keep persons out of the workroms who have no right to be there.

"'I'll tell you why I am insisting on such precautions. Recently I found in a New Jersey town bandages which had been prepared at one of the Red Cross headquarters and which had been soaked in poisonous chemicals and then dried, so that when they were put to use they would kill the person on whom they were used. In addition, some of the dressings had been filled with ground glass, so that when they were used on open wounds they would cut and cause suppurating sores.

"These discoveries were made within the last three weeks. The results of our investigations have been turned over to the Department of Justice, and that department is about to institute prosecutions. You do not realize the desperate extremes to which those who are against us will go."

The Executive Committee of the local organization later had a protracted session behind closed doors.

Germany Wants Spain to Buy Safety for Her Ships; Asks Guarantee That They Won't Trade With Allies

MADRID, March 28.—An official note made public today by the Premier, Count de Romanones, states that the Spanish Government had entered negotiations with the German Government to obtain the return to Spanish ports without risk Spanish vessels now in allied ports.

The Germans demanded a deposit in a German bank of 500 marks per ton burden as a guarantee that these vessels would not be used for traffic with allied countries. Germany also required Spain, according to the note, that it give a promise not to insure with a Government guarantee merchant ships voyaging in the war zone. The Spanish Government refused to accede to these conditions. Negotiations are continuing.

Even before the Spanish Government on Feb. 6 made its energetic reply to Germany's "barred sea zone" note of Jan. 31, negotiations were said to have been begun at Berlin and Madrid for the safe navigation of Spanish ships to their home ports.

The firm stand taken by Spain in condemning in toto Germany's claim to an extended zone and indiscriminate sinking seems to have put a stop for the time to the negotiations, which at first dealt merely with an extension of time asked for by Madrid.

NAVY OVERCOMES CLERICAL DELAYS

WOMEN STIR ENTHUSIASM

Tour Streets in Auto and Speak to Crowds About the Stations —Police Disperse Pacifists.

Adequate clerical forces were put on duty at the navy recruiting stations in this city yesterday, relieving a situation which has caused many complaints and which had retarded the task of bringing the personnel of the navy up to the required strength. While there was no great rush of recruits, Lieutenant Commander Taylor, in charge of the headquarters in Twenty-third Street, seemed satisfied. Among other extra assistants he obtained a recruiting officer from the Brooklyn Navy Yard. It was now possible, it was stated, to dispose of applicants quickly and thoroughly.

Last night the Naval Training Association issued this statement:

"The enrolling staff of the United States Naval Reserve force at 26 Cortlandt Street has been increased by additional physicians, enrolling officers, as well as by officers whose duty it is to explain the duties and service in the naval reserve to applicants. It is now expected that applicants will be enrolled without unreasonable delay."

Many applications were received at the naval recruiting station yesterday from women who were anxious to see active service in some capacity, but because no official order had been received from Washington, none was accepted. Women who went to the offices said they had been told that Secretary Daniels had made the announcement that women might be enrolled as clerks or nurses. They were indignant when informed that no authority had been received here. Several of them left their names and addresses.

Women Inspire Enlistment

The women did much work in other ways, however, in Manhattan and Brooklyn. Armed with placards and accompanied by persuasive orators, they stationed themselves at various points and pleaded with the men to give their services to the country. They also joined with the police in breaking up pacifist meetings.

Among the most active of these workers was Mrs. Margaret M. Crumpacker, widow of Federal Judge H. W. Crumpacker of Indiana. She recently has been at the western front in Europe. She toured the city in a gayly decorated automobile with Mrs. Charles Francis Bedell and made a score of speeches.

At noon Mrs. Crumpacker held a meeting in Printing House Square in front of the navy recruiting tent. She spoke under two large streamers which bore the inscriptions "The President Neews You" and "Your Country Urgently Needs 25,000 Men for the Navy." This, she explained, was in accordance with the method which had been used successfully in England.

"I have been on the western front and I know what those people have to undergo. The navy is our first line of defense. The only way to ward the enemy off is to be ready for him. It is absolutely true under modern conditions of warfare that with the same material and as good leadership as the enemy may have, untrained men cannot cope with equally good men who have been trained. Preparedness is our sacred duty.

"And whose duty is it? Isn't it yours? Are you not bound to respond to your country's call by enlisting? The navy needs men and needs them now. We can have no doubt about the hostility back of the acts of piracy committed against us on the high seas."

While Mrs. Crumpacker talked Mrs. Bedell walked among the men in the crowds and distributed enlistment cards.

The Women Volunteers.

There were similar scenes at the Borough Hall and the Williamsburg Bridge in Brooklyn. Among the workers there were Miss Viola B. McGurkin and Mrs. George A. Wheelock.

Among the women who attempted yesterday to enroll for active service were Rose Fried, 22, of 1,761 Madison Avenue, a pharmacist and bacteriologist, who wanted to serve as a nurse or pharmacist; Mrs. G. M. Appelbe, 49, a nurse; Mrs. Florence Bain, 25, of 216 East 126th Street, a school teacher; Frances Finklestein, 20, of 489 Howard Avenue, Brooklyn, a stenographer and typewriter; Margaret McSweeney, 22, of 136 West 122d Street, and Mrs. Theresa Meehan, 34, of 482 West 213th Street. One woman stenographer—Miss Lola Long, employed in the Whitehall Building—volunteered to serve the United States Government at her own expense in any way possible.

Commander Taylor has received many applications for enlistment from men who were dishonorably discharged from the navy, but were eager to redeem themselves by offering their services to the country now. These applications were sent to Washington for approval. If the offense for which the applicant was dismissed was not too serious his

REVOLT IN GUARD FOR FEDERAL ARMY

Prominent Officers Will Fight Resolution Favoring State Control.

UPSETS CONVENTION PLAN

Meeting Was Called to Indorse Movement for Universal Service Within the Militia.

Plans were perfected last night by a group of men prominent in public life and National Guard circles to come out openly at today's session of the guard convention in the Seventy-first Regiment Armory in opposition to the so-called "National Guard plan" of universal service. This group, which includes Captain Herbert L. Satterlee, ex-Assistant Secretary of the Navy and brother-in-law of J. P. Morgan, favors the plan for universal military training prepared by the General Staff of the regular army, which would do away with the National Guard except as a State militia force.

As it has been an open secret that one of the underlying reasons for holding the present public convention of the National Guard Association, which has held only private conventions heretofore, was to try to sway public opinion toward a policy of universal military service in the National Guard instead of in the regular army, the sudden concerted opposition on the final day of the convention is expected to come as a surprise to the officials who have been most prominent in the previous sessions. A lively meeting is expected this afternoon, whereas the previous sessions of the convention have been meagrely attended, and most of the speakers, except Brig. Gen. Mann of the General Staff, have simply echoed approval of the National Guard plan put forward by Major Gen. O'Ryan at Tuesday's session.

Among those expected to oppose the National Guard plan are many of the younger officers in the organization, and their opposition was said last night to have been aroused by the autocratic methods of some of the high officials of the guard in those States where the system of making political appointments to these offices still prevails. The conviction of the General Staff is that genuine efficiency can be gained only through national authority over the country's armed forces.

Some evidence that the younger officers of the guard were not in accord with their superiors in the fight to retain the National Guard system was noticeable during the open forum yesterday morning. Two Lieutenants who returned recently from border service stated that their border experience had shown them that soldiers could not be made by the National Guard's system of occasional training for brief periods, and they said they favored universal training under Federal control.

The officers who have come out for the General Staff plan include Colonel Willard C. Fisk, Commander of the Seventh Regiment; Major Francis G. Landon, retired, formerly of the Seventh Regiment; Captain Satterlee, and Captain Herbert Barry of Squadron A. These men, a friend of one of them said, are indifferent to the question whether the National Guard plan would advance their own interests. The hope was expressed that all other National Guardsmen, regular army men, and civilians who believed the regular army plan to be the most efficient, would attend the forum today and express their views.

Yesterday the Committee on Resolutions was called together for a meeting to be held before the regular morning session of the convention opened. The committee met, and did not finish its private conference until after the end of the afternoon session. The official program calls for the report of this committee to be made at this evening's meeting. There was a report yesterday that the committee would present a resolution for passage at this afternoon's session. It was understood that this resolution would aim to put the delegates to the convention on record as favoring the plan of universal service under the National Guard.

The attack on the National Guard plan, it was said, would be started probably during the discussion of this resolution. At first the counterattack was planned for 5 o'clock this afternoon, but several other officers besides those named are expected to be present all day to oppose the resolution if it is brought up at an earlier hour.

In point of attendance, the convention thus far has disappointed many of the guard officials. Some of the prominent speakers from other States on the program failed to appear, sending word that the President's recent mobilization order for parts of the National Guard had made it impossible for them to come to New York. At yesterday's sessions there was a meagre attendance.

UNCERTAINTY IN WASHINGTON

But Knowledge of Any Move Toward Peace Is Denied.

SILENCE ABOUT MESSAGE

PACIFIST INFLUENCE FEARED

Apprehension in Some Quarters That White House Silence Will Encourage Them.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Thursday, March 29.—Various rumors of new peace proposals from the Central Powers reached London yesterday, particularly in connection with Emperor Charles's visit to Berlin. The Daily Telegraph's correspondent at Milan says:

"The sudden visit of the Austrian Emperor to Berlin, accompanied by Foreign Minister Count Czernin, was decided upon unexpectedly and is connected, I have reason to believe from information via Switzerland, with new proposals of peace to be made to the Allies, for which the Russian revolution will serve as a pretext.

"The German Chancellor, it may be remembered, made several important communications to the Reichstag at its secret sittings in January, preparatory to the declaration of the new submarine policy, and these communications, it is judged, were connected with the German hopes in Russia. It was, perhaps, more due to the Chancellor's revelations to the effect that Germany soon hoped to arrange a separate peace with Russia than to promises of the success of the submarine campaign that the members of the Reichstag were impressed.

Austria Hoped for Separate Peace.

"The Austrian Government, persuaded by Germany, likewise founded great expectations in a separate peace with Russia, and all these hopes have now been shattered. The Austrian Emperor and his Foreign Minister therefore find it necessary to go to Berlin, and at the same time fresh rumors are started in Switzerland of new peace proposals.

"The name of Prince von Bülow once more appears. He had been asked to go to America in January to undertake the same sort of campaign in Washington as he had conducted in Italy in 1915. He demanded as first conditions that he should have an entirely free hand and that his work should not be interfered with behind his back as had been the case, he alleged, in 1915. He had the advantage this time of not dealing with von Jagow as Foreign Minister, his antagonist in the time of his Chancellorship, but with Zimmermann, his personal friend. Zimmermann tried his best to satisfy him, but could not obtain the necessary assurances, and von Bülow thereupon refused.

"Now Bülow is being once more approached, but his latest declaration is said to be that he will have nothing more to do with 'peace missions.' Still there are rumors that he is being hard pressed by his friends. He is told that the Kaiser sees in him the only possible 'peace emissary' and that he will be officially required once more to undertake the task."

May Discuss Policy Toward Us.

A dispatch from Vevey, Switzerland, to The Daily Mail says:

"A Vienna telegram states that Emperor Charles has left for Berlin, where he will confer with the Kaiser on the subject of relations with the United States. It is believed that the conference is to decide whether the Austro-German policy toward the United States shall be modified in order to avoid actual hostilities or whether the present conduct of the submarine campaign, which will inevitably provoke war, shall be persisted in."

NO WORD IN WASHINGTON.

Government Not Expecting Any Move to Change Its Policy.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—It was learned definitely today that the American Government has no knowledge of any development likely to come before Congress convenes which would change the present situation between the United States and Germany.

If Germany contemplates any sort of peace move, or has considered abandoning submarine ruthlessness, or if any other nation has a step in mind designed to alter the present international situation, the Government is without information on the subject.

Except for information concerning German plots against American interests, it was learned, the public in a general way knows as much as the Government about everything directly affecting the present crisis. Concerning German intrigues in this and other countries, the Government has much information which up to the present it has not thought it wise to make public.

President Wilson today continued conferences with his advisers preparatory to writing the address he will deliver to Congress next week. The Administration is said to be chiefly concerned at present with the form of action to be taken by Congress recognizing that Germany is making war on the United States, and with preparedness measures. Aggressive steps, while being carefully considered, are understood to be looked upon as questions for determination after Congress has defined the satus of the nation.

Whether suggestions that a huge loan or gift of money to one or more of the Entente Allies should be adopted, whether an army should be sent abroad, and whether increased supplies of munitions should be forwarded, are generally regarded as questions which would only confuse the issue if pressed to decision now.

The President has told no one just what his message to Congress will include. It is expected to review the history of the negotiations with Germany leading up to the present situation, and submit what he believes Congress should do. The preponderance of opinion still is that Congress will adopt a resolution declaring that a state of war exists.

Officers of the Emergency Peace Federation came to Washington from New York today to arrange for a public demonstration here at the convening of Congress on Monday, in protest against war with Germany. They propose to have peace advocates from various cities march over Pennsylvania Avenue to the Capitol and there seek interviews with Representatives and Senators to urge the creation of a German-American joint commission to discuss the international differences, and a conference of neutral nations to consider means of ending the war.

Cabinet Members Silent.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The profound secrecy maintained in official circles as to President Wilson's policy toward Germany is creating various erroneous impressions here which may be hurtful to the President's cause. Out of the mystery that Cabinet members are making of the President's attitude has grown the opportunity for peace-at-any-price pacifists to muddy the waters by creating doubt that the President will advocate a vigorous course when he appears before Congress next week to explain the situation produced by German submarine attacks on American commerce.

It is feared by some friends of the President that by the time Congress assembles on April 2 many Senators and Representatives will have obtained such a false impression of the President's attitude that it will be difficult for him and the Congressional leaders to bring them around to the point of giving all the support that will be required by the Government to prosecute the war with Germany in a vigorous manner.

Even now it is being said that the President has not determined what plan of acion he will recommend in his address. Interpreted in one way this would mean merely that the President was undecided whether to recommend that Congress declare war outright or follow the usual course of declaring that a state of war has existed between the United States and Germany since a specified date.

No Fixed Policy Indicated.

But, in the way in which this statement is being discussed in some quarters, it is possible for it to create the belief that the President has no fixed policy at this late day, that he may content himself with laying the facts of German submarine outrages before Congress without comment or recommendation, or that he may propose only that Congress give him certain authority to deal with the German situation and leave it to future demonstration whether there shall be war.

There is no reason to place credence in these stories, but the fact remains that they are being permitted to go uncontradicted. Worse than that, Cabinet officers are saying things susceptible of the interpretation that they are as much in the dark as the rest of the world as to what the President intends to do.

One member of the Cabinet said today that what the President would say to Congress next week would depend on what happened between now and then. It was supposed that he meant the President's address might naturally have some reference to statements of German policy contained in the speech to be delivered in the Reichstag tomorrow by Chancellor von Bethmann Hollweg, but the remark is being construed as indicating that the President is still undetermined upon his program.

Recent Moves by the President

All that is known outside the Cabinet circle goes to show that the President came to the conclusion some time ago that patience in dealing with Germany had ceased to be a virtue and that war was the only possible relief from existing conditions. When he issued his first call for an extra session of Congress, in which the date was fixed for April 16, his main idea was to have the two houses enact the necessary annual supply measures which had failed of passage at the regular session on account of the Senate filibuster. After the President's proclamation had been issued German submarines began to sink American ships, and at the regular meeting of the Cabinet on March 20 the President was urged strongly to call Congress for an earlier date with the object of bringing about a declaration that a state of war existed. There was no doubt of the meaning of the Cabinet discussion and no doubt that if the President granted the appeal to move forward the date of the extra session, his action would mean that he had determined that war was the only course open to the United States to uphold national honor and dignity. On the day following the Cabinet session the President issued his proclamation setting April 2 as the date for the meeting of Congress.

From that time there appeared to be no question as to what the President would recommend to Congress. Following yesterday's Cabinet meeting, however, the seeds of uncertainty were sown in the minds of many of those who up to then were confident that there would be no backward steps in dealing with Germany. Lack of frankness on the part of Cabinet officers has prevented the checking of discussion along this line when a few words from them would show that the President had no intention of receding from his determination to bring Germany to account.

Won't Lift Veil of Mystery.

A strong group in the Cabinet has not hesitated to tell the President that honor and self-preservation demand that the nation throw in her lot on the side of the Allies. There is no doubt in the minds of the men composing this group, according to what was said today, that the President will enunciate a vigorous policy of hostility in his address, but like other members of the Cabinet these men of action are doing nothing to lift the veil of mystery that hides a situation that a few days ago was exposed plainly to the public view. They will not say that they "know" that the President will call for war on Germany; they say merely that they "think" he will take that course, thus leaving doubt that they possess knowledge of the President's attitude when everybody feels that they are fully aware of the President's determination to do what they "think" he will do.

In the opinion of men who continue to have confidence that the President will not recede from the course indicated by his second call to Congress, the danger of this state of affairs lies in the possibility of its giving the pacifist and pro-German elements a chance to confuse the situation in the minds of Congress and the people, and lay the foundation for opposition to any vigorous program for dealing with Germany.

Callers at the White House today came away impressed with the belief that those who felt there should be no half-way measures in dealing with Germany would find thorough satisfaction with the policy the Government would put into effect, although none of them indicated that the President had imparted any of his plans. One of the visitors was Senator Husting of Wisconsin, who does not share the pacifist views of his colleague, Senator La Follette. He told the President that since the publication of the letter written by Herr Zimmermann, the German Minister of Foreign Affairs, proposing an alliance between Germany, Japan, and Mexico, sentiment among Wisconsin Germans had changed and they were thoroughly behind the President in whatever policy he adopted.

Colonel E. M. House of New York, the confidential adviser of the President, with whom he usually discusses grave problems before putting the policies pertaining to them into execution, arrived at the White House last night and is still there. Colonel House has been to Europe since the war began on missions for the President and it is supposed that he is being consulted with reference to the indictment of Germany that the President is preparing for presentation to Congress.

BRITAIN GIVES AID IN WAR PREPARATION

PART WHICH WOMEN TAKE

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, March 28.—Information regarding the way in which Great Britain has been handling her war problems is being gathered by the American Embassy here for the use of the American Government in the event of war with Germany. Already Ambassador Page has forwarded to Washington details touching upon the various phases of Great Britain's conduct of her share of the war. A part of the embassy staff has been put upon this work alone, and it has been turning out a mass of informative details. The stream of data will be kept up indefinitely.

The details of how Great Britain raised her volunteer army; how later she changed to conscription; how she organized her munition works, with many thousands of women employes; how she adjusted her finances; how shipbuilding has been going on; how the food control is working out, to say nothing of a myriad secret details regarding the army and navy—all this is being sent on to Washington.

As it was explained to THE NEW YORK TIMES correspondent, the British Government has thrown all avenues of information open to America's official representatives, and there is no question that Washington asks that London does not readily answer. In short, Great Britain is giving America full advantage of her whole experience in every phase of the war.

One important feature of the information deals with the handling of the British railroad system, not only as regards the transportation of troops but of food and supplies to the ports whence they are shipped to France. This has been the most gigantic achievement in railroad operation known in history. The whole railroad system has been put at the disposal of the Government and has hauled hundreds of trains for war purposes every day without disorganizing ordinary traffic.

How women who never did hard work before were organized for munition manufacture, doing work that is admitted to have had a vital effect in increasing the output of shells for the army at the front, is being told to Washington.

A delegation of the American Chamber of Commerce called on Ambassador Page a few days ago and offered the chamber's services in any way to aid America in England. The Ambassador promptly asked the chamber to collate statistics of exports and imports and other matters of commerce and finance relating to British-American trade, and this information is being whipped into shape to be sent on.

All this is naturally done to aid America in organizing her own forces in the event of war with Germany. But at the American Embassy the word "war," as Ambassador Page expresses it, is not in the vocabulary. Nobody at the embassy speaks officially of the possibility of America going to war with Germany; but outside the embassy there is not an American in London who does not openly say that he expects America to be in the war soon after the reassembling of Congress.

MADE NO MEDIATION OFFER.

Swiss Foreign Office Denies Having Sought to Avert War.

PARIS, March 29.—Regarding the recent report of an effort by Switzerland at mediation between the United States and Germany, the Journal de Génève, according to a Havas dispatch from Geneva, has advices from Berne that the Swiss Foreign Office denies absolutely that any offer of mediation has been made by Switzerland.

The Foreign Office, it is stated, affirms that it is impossible that the Swiss Minister in Washington could have taken any step that could have been interpreted in this sense. To have done so, it declares, would have been absolutely contrary to his instructions from the Swiss Government.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The Swiss Legation has been authorized by the Federal Department of Finance in Berne to deny published reports that the Swiss Governmental insurance institution in Lucerne has invested money in German war loan securities. The Department of Finance, which administers the general insurance fund, was said to have made no new investments since the outbreak of the war. The institution itself disposes of no money.

SAYS JOINING ALLIES WILL HELP OUR TRADE

PARIS, March 28.—Jules Cambon, General Secretary of the Foreign Office, in talking with a correspondent today, referred to an effect which he considered the entry of the United States into the war would have upon that country's international commercial relations during and after the period of hostilities.

The American Government, said M. Cambon, had never cared to enter into commercial treaties with other nations in the European sense; therefore American imports had not always received what was called the "favored nation" treatment. Joining the Allies, however, he said, would naturally bring with it to America more intimate trade relations, which would greatly develop and become permanent in peace.

REDFIELD TO NAME WAR-TIME ADVISERS

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Secretary Redfield will soon name a committee of business men to advise his department in framing measures to safeguard the country's commerce if war comes and to meet the conditions after the war. He conferred today with Willard Straight of New York, representing the National Foreign Trade Council, whose members have approved the plan.

The committee will serve as an informal body. It will work out with the department plans for a permanent organization to co-operate with the Government in promotion of foreign trade.

Commerce Department officials realize that the war has changed so completely the position of this country in the financial world that a future practical national financial policy must be outlined. Officials believe it imperative that foregn trade and foreign loans be encouraged by the Government, since the United States is now a creditor nation.

ASKS SCHOOLS TO PLEDGE.

Mayor Backs Plan for Exercises as Congress Meets.

Mayor Mitchel suggested yesterday to William G. Willcox, President of the Board of Education, that patriotic exercises be held in all the public schools at noon next Monday, when the special session of Congress convenes. The suggestion came originally from Cornelius F. Burns, Mayor of Troy, and President of the Conference of Mayors and Other City Officials of the State of New York, who wrote to Mayor Mitchel that as Congress is convening "for what will probably be the most important session in the history of the Republic" it would be appropriate to have the children of the public, parochial, and private schools invited by the Mayor of each city to assemble in their respective schools and that the following program, or one similar to it, be carried out:

1. Singing of "Star Spangled Banner."
2. Adoption of resolutions of loyalty and support by the children, these resolutions to be placed in the hands of the Mayor for transmission to President Wilson.
3. Flag salute.
4. Singing of "America."

In his letter to President Willcox, Mayor Mitchel said:

"This suggestion seems to me most appropriate. I will be glad if you will give it your careful consideration, and if you think it advisable to inaugurate such a program in the schools, will you let me know just what form your plan will take?"

Not Yielding to Militancy

The fact that for three years there had been no recurrence of the "detestable campaign which had disfigured our public life," said Mr. Asquith, "would make it impossible for any one to say that in changing their position in regard to suffrage he and his associates had yielded to force what they had refused to yield to argument. With the exception of the actual bearing of arms in the field, there was hardly a service which had contributed to maintenance of the cause of the Allies in which women had not been as active and efficient as men. Wherever one turned might be seen women who, without detriment to the prerogatives of their sex, were performing work which three years ago would have been regarded as falling exclusively within the province of men. After the war questions would arise with regard to women's labor functions and activities in which the women must have a voice.

Mr. Asquith also supported strongly the other proposals for electoral reform, and expressed the opinion that the recommendation that all elections should take place on one day dealt with one of the greatest reforms which could be introduced. He understood that the life of the Parliament would be extended further until the end of November, and hoped that a new register on the lines of the reforms suggested would be ready, should an election be necessary at that time.

Bonar Law Also Converted.

Mr. Bonar Law, addressing himself to the Conservative opponents of the recommendations of the Speaker's conference, said he had always held the view that the Conservative Party, which was not a national party, might as well go out of business altogether. There was going to be a new world after the war, and it was certain, at least, that no party need attempt to exist which could not hope to have the support of the men and the bulk of the nation which had saved the liberties of the empire. If there could, then, be a better understanding between all classes in the recognition that increased production was for the benefit of all, the recovery from the devastation of war would be quick.

The war, Mr. Bonar Law declared, had altered his view on the subject of woman suffrage, and he would do his best to prevent any extension of the franchise to men if women were left out.

Mr. Salter's amendment was rejected, 341 to 62, and Mr. Asquith's motion was carried.

Members of a small group in the course of the debate expressed their continued firm opposition to woman suffrage, but their numbers were too small to carry great weight. The Nationalists announced that they would support Mr. Asquith's motion.

As a result of the debate the Government, as Mr. Bonar Law announced, will proceed with legislation to give effect to the recommendations of the conference. The bill will embody all of the recommendations except those for proportional representation and woman suffrage. These will be omitted, first, because the Government is still undecided on the question, and, second, because it is held that Parliament must first of all express acceptance of the principle of woman suffrage.

The present idea is to make the bill as little contentious as possible, so that the second reading may be easily secured; then, in committee, these two excepted questions may be raised as amendments to the bill, thus giving the House an opportunity to record its opinion.

Votes for Women Now Certain.

It cannot be doubted that the views expressed today by Mr. Asquith, Walter Hume Long, and others who were formerly prominent opponents of woman suffrage, will influence many other opposing members. In any case, during the war this opposition has been a rapidly dwindling one. It is still possible that the women may have to wait until after the war for the fullest recognition of their claims, but the vote for women in some shape is now certain.

The new bill will not be introduced until some considerable time after Easter, as the budget and other urgent business claim priority.

Apparently Premier Lloyd George, in his speech yesterday, outlined a program for electoral reform in accordance with the Government bill introduced in June, 1912, with the addition of a measure granting woman suffrage, the threat of which amendment five years ago caused the original bill to be withdrawn.

The original bill provided that a person should not be registered or vote for more than one constituency; that an elector should be qualified only by residence or occupation, the property qualification being abolished; that the residential qualification should be six months; that parliamentary elections should be held simultaneously, and that the university constituencies should be abolished.

SUFFRAGE LEADERS REJOICE.

But Hope War Won't Be Needed to Win American Men to Their Cause.

While suffrage leaders in this city rejoiced last night at the victory of the English suffragists in winning the support of Premier Lloyd George and former Premier Asquith, many of them felt that the English statesmen were somewhat ungenerous in not admitting before the war that women possessed those qualifications which entitled them to enfranchisement.

"We are naturally pleased with the news," said Mrs. James Lees Laidlaw, "but it is unfortunate that it required a war to awaken the Englishmen to the fact that the services of woman to the nation entitled her to vote. Our American men ought to read the signs of the times and not wait for a war before granting her the ballot."

"Every suffragist in America is delighted with the victory," Mrs. Norman De R. Whitehouse said. "It is the forerunner of the enfranchisement of the women in this country. With the women voting in England, Canada, and Russia since the war began, it doesn't seem possible that the men of this country will withhold the ballot to the women."

Mrs. Raymond Brown, another prominent suffrage worker, also expressed her satisfaction at the result. She declared that she hoped the citizens of this State would not wait until a war before taking similar action.

RESERVE BANKS LEND M'ADOO $50,000,000

PAYABLE IN THREE MONTHS

Half of Loan Will Be Used to Pay for the Danish West Indies on Saturday.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—To maintain the working level of the general fund of the Treasury, Secretary McAdoo has borrowed on Treasury certificates from the Federal Reserve Banks $50,000,000 at 2 per cent. per annum. The decision to make this loan was made yesterday and the Federal Reserve Banks subscribed with such promptness that at 3 P. M. today the entire amount had been taken.

In announcing the loan Secretary McAdoo made the following statement:

"In anticipation of the payment of the corporation and individual income taxes due in June, 1917, I have determined to borrow at this time on ninety-day Treasury certificates of indebtedness $50,000,000, with interest at 2 per cent. per annum. These certificates were offered on the 27th of March to the twelve Federal Reserve Banks which are fiscal agents of the Government. Before 3 o'clock today these banks subscribed for more than the entire issue.

"This is extremely gratifying and shows not only a fine spirit on the part of the Reserve Banks, but is an additional demonstration of the usefulness of the new Reserve system to the country. A statement of the allotments to the subscribing banks will be given out as soon as the details are completed.

"It is possible that an additional $50,000,000 of these temporary certificates of indebtedness may be issued before the end of the present fiscal year. No statement can be made about possible issues of Government bonds until further developments in the international situation."

To Pay for Danish Islands.

The first large use of this loan will be to pay $25,000,000 as the purchase price of the Danish West Indies. This payment will be made next Saturday, when the islands will come into possession of the United States. The life of the Treasury certificates will be ninety days, and the loan is made without any arrangement or expectation that there will be a renewal. Probably by that time, which will be very near the end of the fiscal year, there will be an issue of bonds under the authorization of Congress in the Navy Appropriation act and the Treasury notes will be paid from the proceeds of this sale.

The net balance in the general fund at the close of business yesterday was $56,595,283. This balance is available to pay Treasury warrants, disbursing officers' checks, and matured public debt obligations. The amount to the credit of disbursing officers is $66,958,241. While the margin of resources appears narrow and with the obligation to pay the price for the Danish islands is actually much reduced, so that the issue of Treasury notes or bonds is amply justified, it is pointed out that in the next 90 days there must be large receipts from the income tax due by July 1. The revenues from this source are estimated to be $244,750,000 for the fiscal year 1916-17.

There has been collected thus far on this account $31,526,828, leaving $213,223,172 to be collected before June 15. The passing of the Army bill by Congress in the extra session and the very large aggregate of appropriations made last session for the military system will soon serve to indicate that the condition of the Treasury can be brought into a state of preparedness for possible war only by an issue of bonds in much larger volume than thus far contemplated.

The issue of certificates of indebtedness to run not longer than one year, and to bear interest at a rate not exceeding 3 per cent., has been authorized by Congress up to $300,000,000, and today's issue is the first under this authorization. In addition, Secretary McAdoo has authority to issue $474,000,000 in bonds for various purposes, including the Panama Canal bonds to reimburse the Treasury for the amount paid out of ordinary receipts for the construction of the canal. Mr. McAdoo is understood to have the issuance of bonds under consideration.

Bankers Approve Step.

It was learned in New York yesterday that the greater part of the Treasury issue of $50,000,000 in 90 day notes would be purchased by the Federal Reserve Banks in New York and Philadelphia. Bankers here expressed the opinion that the step was a wise one as a temporary measure, but that the same plan could not be followed out for any substantial amount. They said also that Government obligations at 2 per cent. interest would only be available to the Federal Reserve Banks, and other institutions and investors would not care to invest their funds in these securities at the very unattractive rate.

It is expected that the Secretary soon will make an announcement concerning the sale of one-year 3 per cent certificates to the amount of $300,000,000, and also something about the bond issues, although the belief exists in some quarters that the Secretary may defer action on bond issues until after Congress reconvenes next Monday. It is believed that in the sale of any Government securities the Secretary will avail himself of the facilities of the Federal Reserve Banks for the gathering of subscriptions. Of course, all the banks will receive subscriptions from their customers without expense to the Government, but it is supposed that the Reserve Banks will be made the central receiving agencies.

UPROAR IN THE ASSEMBLY.

Wells Says Shiplacoff Has a Yellow Dog's Patriotism.

Special to The New York Times.

ALBANY, March 28.—With Abraham Shiplacoff, one of the Socialist members of the Assembly, as a storm centre, Assembly members today indulged in bitter personal invective, hurling epithets back and forth in disregard of all the rules.

It was during a debate on a resolution offered by Assemblyman Callahan declaring it the view of the Legislature that Congress should enact the Chamberlain bill as a preparedness measure that the trouble arose. Mr. Shiplacoff objected to the resolution as favoring conscription, and made some remarks about the manner in which the Democratic Party was following the lead of the Republican Party in a policy which would lead to war.

"It's you and your kind which have changed my views on the subject of compulsory military service," retorted Martin McCue, Democrat, to Mr. Shiplacoff at this point. "We tried conscription to make you and your kind do your bit. If I believed as you do I would turn in my citizen papers and resign from the Assembly."

"You have no right to challenge my patriotism," Assemblyman Shiplacoff replied, "because I happen to disagree with you."

Here Assemblyman Wells, Lieutenant Colonel of the Twenty-third Infantry, who had been vainly trying to get Mr. Shiplacoff to allow a question, shouted: "Your kind of patriotism is the kind that a yellow dog has."

"I can stand this abuse," returned Mr. Shiplacoff. "This derision only comes from a lot of empty-headed Assemblymen who do not count. The men who really count in this body are not indulging in this kind of nonsense."

Assemblyman Martin finally succeeded in restoring order by vigorous use of the gavel. Then the resolution was adopted, Mr. Shiplacoff and the other Socialist, Mr. Whitehorn, voting in the negative.

NAVY OVERCOMES CLERICAL DELAY

re-enlistment was allowed. More than a dozen applicants of this class have been accepted into service again.

Similar applications were received at the recruiting headquarters of the United States Marine Corps, where Captain Evans is in charge. In several cases where men did not admit their dishonorable discharge their identity was established through finger prints.

About sixty applications for enlistment in the Marine Corps were received yesterday. Only five were accepted.

Navy Needs Soon to be Met.

The increase in enlistments when put into figures, appears to be small; it must be considered, however, that a proportionate increase in enlistments has probably taken place throughout the whole country, so that the daily enrollments for the nation may run up into the hundreds and thousands. From the jump that enrollments have taken within the last week, recruiting officials do not think it will take very long to increase the navy to its newly authorized strength.

The majority of the applicants at the main naval recruiting station in Twenty-third Street yesterday failed to pass the physical examination and all but eighteen were rejected.

Commander Grady, in charge of the navy's publicity bureau at 130 West Thirty-ninth Street, opened a new recruiting branch office yesterday at 225 West Forty-second Street, in the heart of the theatrical district. As a part of the general recruiting campaign, printed slides have been sent to all moving picture houses in the city.

At the headquarters of the National Guard it was said yesterday that no special campaign to stimulate recruiting had as yet been planned. Each organization is doing its own recruiting by solicitation on the part of its members, but no tents are being erected at street corners as was done during the mobilization of the troops last June.

WOMAN'S STATUS IN NAVY.

Limited by Orders to Nursing and a Few Special Duties.

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—In view of the numerous applications by women to enter the naval service, it is pointed out here that according to the original announcement made by the Navy Department March 21, women may be enrolled "in the Naval Reserve Force in certain ratings, principally as nurses." In time of war they would be subject to call and their status would be the same as that of nurses in the regular Nurse Corps of the navy.

"A limited number of women," the announcement said, "may be enrolled in the various naval districts during a war. All reservists, when in active service, either have quarters and subsistence furnished by the Government, or a money allowance is paid them for this purpose. The pay of a nurse is $50 a month. The pay of a woman enrolled for clerical work is $33. Commandants of naval districts have been authorized to enroll women for special duty in their districts. In time of peace they are under no obligation. In time of war they are subject to orders as in the case of any member of the Naval Reserve force."

No provision has been made for enlisting women in any capacity but as nurses in the regular naval force. Women have been enlisted in the Naval Reserve force in Philadelphia and Washington as telegraph and telephone operators and a few as hospital apprentices.

NAVY 'ROOKIES' OF HIGH GRADE

Quality of Men Who Seek Enlistment Pleases Recruiting Officers.

If the present rate of enlistments in New York, the New England States, and in the Atlantic States as far south as and including North Carolina continues during the rest of this week, the navy will get between 550 and 600 "rookie" bluejackets for the week. These figures show an increase of more than 50 per cent. over the average for normal times, and each report from the various districts coming into New York shows that the percentage is steadily increasing everywhere. Naval officers would not be surprised to see next week's total reach 1,000 in the naval districts in which the States referred to are included.

Lieut. Commander John Grady, U. S. N., Inspector of Recruiting in the Eastern District, has just returned to New York from a tour in which he covered the entire district, which, in addition to the seaboard States north of the South Carolina line, takes in the interior States of Vermont and West Virginia and the eastern part of Ohio.

"Everywhere in the district," said Commander Grady yesterday, "the news coming in now is good news. But we want better news. The high standard is indicated by the fact that, whereas a few weeks ago we were enlisting only 10 to 15 per cent. of those who applied, we are now enlisting over 50 per cent., without having lowered the standard.

MILWAUKEE MAKES RECRUITING RECORD

Special to The New York Times.

MILWAUKEE, Wis., March 28.—The intensified recruiting campaign in Milwaukee, now three days under way, has developed amazing momentum, Milwaukee, the first city in the country to perfect its preparedness campaign back of the line, now has led the nation in the number of enlistments in the various branches of the service, in proportion to population. The navy and army offices broke all records today for recruiting in this part of the country, and the guard is already filled to capacity, with enlistments being taken for the new organizations to be raised.

The Red Cross is also rushing matters. The base hospital personnel is to be completed if possible by Saturday, so that it can be utilized for immediate call. Six motor ambulances, fully equipped, have been contributed to the Red Cross, and turned over to the National Guard field hospital.

One of these came today from James B. Day, the "Fighting Irishman," of Hartford, Wis., a notable German town. Mr. Day said he was giving the ambulance himself, in order to show his sentiments toward the pro-Germans of Hartford, who have been against the Administration. In order to rebuke them further, he has contributed the ambulance in the name of the town.

SELF-STYLED PACIFISTS AGAINST RECRUITING

Police Disperse Meetings Addressed by Men Emergency Federation Repudiates.

Pacifists, Socialists, and pro-German agitators of an unclassified brand, who are repudiated even by the Emergency Peace Federation of 70 Fifth Avenue, made unsuccessful efforts yesterday to hamper recruiting for the army and navy in this city. The police, in several instances, dispersed meetings in the downtown district, where pacifist speakers endeavored to turn away applicants for enlistment with the statement that they were sacrificing themselves to a "useless war of bloodshed, destruction, and capitalism." United States District Attorney H. Snowden Marshall refused yesterday to discuss what attitude he might take toward the agitators.

Two of the pacifist meetings were held near the naval recruiting station in Printing House Square, and when a complaint was made the police acted promptly. Similar agitations in front of the recruiting stations in Cortlandt Street, the Bowery, and Sixth Avenue were dispersed. No one was arrested.

Miss Nella Secor, Secretary of the Emergency Peace Federation, said last night that there was nothing in the literature sent out by that organization which could be interpreted as an attempt to discourage recruiting. The federation, she said, had made no effort to keep men from enlisting.

SEES ANARCHY IN PACIFISM.

Anti-War Doctrines Would Lead to Disorder, Arts Club Holds.

The Board of Governors of the National Arts Club at a meeting yesterday indorsed universal military service and pledged the co-operation of the club "for the support of the Government, the defense of the flag, and the safety of the republic."

"We find it difficult," said the resolutions which were adopted, "to distinguish between that form of pacifism that repudiates the use of force under any and all circumstances from the theories of anarchism, which call for the abolition of all government. Such doctrines lead not to peace and order and security, but to violence, disorder and the negation of all that makes life worth living and civilization possible."

Pacifist Posters for Subway Rejected by Advertising Agents.

A $200,000 peace fund was started last night by the Emergency Peace Federation, according to an announcement made at the headquarters of the federation, 70 Fifth Avenue. About $10,000 was subscribed at a meeting at the home of Mrs. Henry Villard, 325 Park Avenue.

After the meeting the pacifists sent the following telegram to women in every large city in the country:

> Mrs. Henry Villard's friends in a drawing room meeting in New York tonight raised the first $10,000 of a $200,000 fund for a great peace demonstration in Washington on April 2. We strongly urge you to do likewise, and to enlist your friends in such effort. The women of America can and must keep America out of war at all costs. Wire reply and fund to > WOMEN'S EMERGENCY PEACE FEDERATION,
> HENRY VILLARD, Chairman.

The first sum received, the federation announced, would be spent for advertising in New York newspapers. The advertisements will contain an appeal for contributions, besides urging the sending of letters and telegrams to the President and Congress.

In this connection it was learned that peace advertising offered by the American Union Against Militarism to Ward & Gow of 50 Union Square, for display in the subway and elevated had been declined by the advertising agents on the ground that it would embarrass President Wilson.

The pacifists said last night they expected that 15,000 persons would attend the conference which they have called to meet in Washington next week.

In the meantime the campaign will also take the form of bombarding Congressmen with letters asking for peace.

The suggestions as to means of avoiding war drawn up at the session last week of the "unofficial commission" of the Emergency Peace Federation were made public yesterday. A joint commission of inquiry for the settlement of troubles between the United States and Germany, the calling of a conference of neutrals, and an offer of mediation to the belligerents are the courses which the President and Congress will be advised to follow.

The findings also take up the possible consequences of a declaration of war. Our entrance into the conflict, the pacifists say, will involve such a drain on our resources as to plunge the country into a famine.

"The popular idea that war, producing an embargo on the exportation of foodstuffs, would lower prices here is the precise contrary to the real results to be expected," the commission reports. "The idea that war would bring any real prosperity to the country at large is a cruel illusion, even though doubtless some individuals or groups might profit for a time."

FISKE SILENT UNDER ORDERS FROM DANIELS

Blunder at Washington, Secretary Said, or Navy League Speech Wouldn't Have Been Made.

Rear Admiral Bradley A. Fiske, U. S. N., retired, who was to have spoken on "The Mind of the Navy" at the meeting of the New York Electrical Society last night in the Engineering Societies Building, 29 West Thirty-ninth Street, did not do so because Secretary Daniels has decided that henceforth there is to be no more public talking on war topics by navy officers. The announcement that Rear Admiral Fiske could not speak was greeted with hisses by the audience of nearly 1,000 present.

The hisses were turned to laughter a moment later, when George H. Guy, Secretary of the society, explained how it was that while the Rear Admiral had addressed the Navy League on Tuesday night, he had to keep mum last night.

"I went to Washington on Monday," said Mr. Guy, "and saw Mr. Daniels. He regretted that his rule of war silence had no exception, and I then asked him if he wouldn't have some one in his department censor Admiral Fiske's speech, which I had with me, and accord permission for its delivery in diluted form.

"'Why, certainly,' was his reply; 'leave it with me; I'll do it myself.' When I read the newspapers this morning and saw Admiral Fiske had told the Navy League Germany had an even chance to win the war I thought everything would be all right, but the mail brought a letter from Mr. Daniels inclosing the speech, and saying that Admiral Fiske could not deliver it.

"I thought this looked like discrimination, and this afternoon telephoned to Mr. Daniels, who said the Navy League speech had been news to him, and upon investigation he found that an employe of the Navy Department, under a misapprehension, had telegraphed to Admiral Fiske in ambiguous terms—so cloudy, in fact, that Admiral Fiske had misconstrued the telegram as a permission to go ahead."

Major Gen. Leonard Wood was also to have spoken, but he notified Mr. Guy that work incidental to his removal to his new post at Charleston, S. C., would keep him busy until nearly midnight.

THREE VESSELS MISSING.

One the Bark Manga Reva, Noted for Her Many Mishaps.

The American barks Brown Brothers and Manga Reva and the Swedish bark Barden have been posted as missing at the New York Maritime Exchange on receipt of a cable dispatch from Lloyd's, London.

The Brown Brothers sailed from Brunswick on Nov. 15, 1916, bound for Troon. She was a vessel of 870 gross tons, and was built in Haugesund, Norway, in 1875. The Manga Reva was a four-masted bark of 2,214 gross tonnage, and sailed from London on Nov. 15 last for Hampton Roads.

The third missing vessel, the Barden, left Mobile on Sept. 5 for Cardiff. She was 396 tons gross, and was built in Gothenburg in 1892.

HOUSE LEADERS JOIN TO GET BILLS PASSED

COALITION IDEA DWINDLES

Whichever Side Organizes House Will Treat Opponents Liberally—Mann Still in Field for Speaker.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—House leaders, Democrats and Republicans, began conferences today to pave the way for quick action on appropriation bills and legislation bearing on the international crisis, regardless of which party organizes the House when the extra session begins Monday.

Speaker Clark, Democratic Leader Kitchin, Republican Leader Mann, and Representative Fitzgerald agreed tentatively that the big appropriation bills which failed at the last session of Congress should be reintroduced in the form in which they originally passed the House, be acted upon without delay, under suspension of the rules, and be sent to the Senate. They also agreed that, should either party organize the House, the minority representation on all committees should be raised several members.

Democratic members of the Ways and Means Committee of the last Congress who will serve in the incoming Congress conferred on committee assignments for their party, confident that, as heretofore, their caucus would name them to make the selections. The meeting was executive, but it was understood an agreement was reached to reassign all committee Chairmen of the last Congress who will serve in the coming Congress and advance most of the Democratic ranking members to Chairmanships.

Democratic leaders continued to express confidence that the dissatisfied element of their party would make no serious objection to the committee designations as planned by the Ways and Means members, but all of them are awaiting the coming of Representative Gallivan of Massachusetts before they will say finally that the anti-Prohibitionists will not cause some trouble. Representative Gallivan is credited with controlling twenty or more votes. Representative Caldwell of New York, who has been classed as an insurgent, reached here today and promptly declared that he would be regular.

Save for a statement by Mr. Mann that he expected to see tickets placed in the field by both parties, there were no developments in Republican circles. Mr. Mann declared that, while he still believed a coalition organization of the House would be the wise and patriotic move, he was willing to be, and expected to be, the regular Republican candidate for Speaker if one should be named.

As the time draws near for the Democratic caucus Friday night, Democratic leaders seem increasingly confident of their ability to organize the House without any co-operation or agreement with the Republicans. This feeling of confidence gave room today for mild interest in a rumor that the Tammany members of the House would make a fight in the caucus for better committee assignments for Northern Democrats. It it not believed, however, that any such move will go far enough to imperil Democratic harmony, as the Tammany members are born-and-bred organization men.

FOUR MORE REGIMENTS OF MILITIA CALLED OUT

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—The War Department issued orders today calling the First West Virginia, the Seventy-fourth New York, the Second Connecticut, and the Second New Jersey Regiments of infantry into Federal service for police purposes. There are about 8,500 men in these organizations, which, added to those called out on Sunday, Monday, and Tuesday, bring the total of National Guardsmen now in Federal service to 47,500.

No other explanation was made by the War Department than that contained in the following official announcement:

"The following additional National Guard regiments have been ordered into Federal service for police purposes of protection: First West Virginia, Seventy-fourth New York, Second Connecticut, and Second New Jersey Infantry."

It is believed the troops will be utilized mainly in their home States to guard bridges, munition plants, arsenals, &c.

EAGER TO JOIN AIR PATROL.

The Aero Club of America issued the following statement last night:

"The report that twenty-nine members of volunteer Aerial Coast Patrol Unit No. 1 were starting for West Palm Beach to train in aviation added great impetus to the enrolling of men for the patrol. Three groups of students from different universities visited the club yesterday to ask for co-operation to form additional patrol units.

"Clinton David Backus of 205 West Fifty-seventh Street, who has just left Yale University to take up aviation, called on the club authorities and advised them that he was ready to purchase his own seaplane and start training immediately and that a number of other Yale students were ready to join in forming an additional unit. He was advised to select eleven other men, so as to form a unit of twelve, and that as soon as this was done arrangements would be made for their training."

To protect depositors

How must a Trust Company or Bank invest its capital?

THE State Law is explicit. For the protection of depositors it requires that the capital of a Trust Company or Bank be invested in:

1. United States or New York State Bonds, or
2. Municipal Bonds in New York State, or
3. Mortgages on Real Estate not exceeding 60% of valuation.

The Columbia Trust Company's present capital of $5,000,000 is so invested.

For the further protection of its depositors the Company holds a surplus and undivided profit fund of over $6,300,000.

These two sums together form the Columbia Trust Company's margin of safety over and above what is due its depositors.

the total number of persons in the great auditorium, capable of seating 5,000, probably being at no time more than 700.

In yesterday morning's open forum Lieutenant C. W. Wickersham of the Twelfth New York Infantry, and Lieutenant William L. Chadbourne of the same organization, spoke in favor of universal training. Lieutenant Wickersham presented the record of a questionnaire sent to guardsmen, showing 500 favoring universal training as opposed to only ten against it. Lieutenant Chadbourne said that even with the eight months' training that the members of the Twelfth Infantry had on the border, it would require three or four months more of intensive training before they would really be in condition to meet European armies. He has been working on an employment committee to help members of the regiment to procure work since their return, and he said that while employers were giving the men jobs, it was for patriotic reasons, and the employers were asking: "Suppose he is called out next week?"

General George W. Wingate of this State told of the development of the National Guard in rifle shooting, at the afternoon session, and at the night session Supreme Court Justice John Ford delivered a patriotic address in which he said that those who think war is now avoidable are dreamers.

"We can keep the trade lines open," he said. "They didn't sink the St. Louis. They sank unarmed ships. It would be foolish to fight independently. We must co-operate effectively to aid poor, bleeding France."

GUARD RELIEF RESUMED.

Red Cross Committee Opens New Headquarters and Begins Work.

The Relief Committee of the New York Chapter of the American Red Cross, which provided for the families of soldiers and sailors of the New York National Guard when called to the Mexican border, was recognized yesterday on an order from Washington to continue the work under the present mobilization of the New York militia and naval militia. Headquarters have been opened at 30 East Thirty-sixth Street. The committee requests that application for immediate or future need be sent by mail to the new headquarters, so that prompt investigation may be made.

An appropriation of $2,000,000 was made by the Government for this work last year. It is supposed that similar action will again be taken.

India House for Military Training.

It was announced at India House yesterday that the Board of Governors had unanimously adopted a resolution declaring in favor of universal military training in the United States, and approving the principles embodied in the Chamberlain bill. A copy of the resolution was sent to President Wilson, members of the Cabinet, the National Council of Defense, and each Senator and Representative.

SOLDIERS SING ON SINKING SHIP

TYNDAREUS HITS A MINE

EVERYBODY ABOARD SAVED

And Vessel Finally Taken to Port—Collier Also Strikes Mine Off Cape, but Founders.

LONDON, March 28.—The British transport Tyndareus, with a battalion of the Middlesex Regiment aboard, struck a mine on Feb. 9 off Cape Agulhas, the southernmost point of Africa. The men were paraded on deck, and after roll-call began to sing while they waited for the ship to sink.

The Tyndareus, however, was saved and the troops were transferred to two rescuing steamers, having upheld, as expressed in the official Admiralty report, "the cherished tradition of the Birkenhead."

The Admiralty report issued tonight reads:

> The Admiralty transport Tyndareus, with a battalion of the Middlesex Regiment aboard, struck a mine at 8 o'clock in the evening of Feb. 9 off Cape Agulhas. A strong southwesterly gale was blowing, and immediately after the explosion the ship began to settle by the head with propellers out of the water.
> "Assembly" was sounded and the men donned lifebelts and paraded in perfect order. Roll was called, and upon the order, "Stand easy," the whole battalion began to sing.
> Two steamers dispatched to the rescue arrived on the scene within half an hour. During this trying time, although faced by the probability of imminent death, the troops maintained steadfast courage and discipline. Never was the tradition of the British Army more worthily upheld than on this occasion.
> Thanks to the devotion and perseverance of the Captain and the officers the ship was saved. The troops were transferred to the two steamers and taken to Simonstown, where the Tyndareus subsequently returned under her own steam, with two holds flooded and another leaking.
> The King has graciously expressed his deep admiration for the conduct of all ranks in upholding the cherished tradition of the Birkenhead.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

LONDON, Thursday, March 29.—The Daily Chronicle publishes the following from its Cape Town correspondent under date of Feb. 12:

"It is another deathless story which the Middlesex Regiment has added to the traditions of the British Army, and the thrill of pride with which the mother country will learn of the behavior of her sons so many thousand miles away is shared to the full by every South African, Dutch or British.

"When an accident to the transport Tyndareus occurred the weather was fine, and a majority of the soldiers were watching another transport which was coming along behind, when suddenly a terrific shock was felt and the vessel began to fill with water at a great rate. Panic or confusion would have resulted in a terrible disaster, but the men, from the highest to the lowest, behaved like heroes.

"Every man immediately realized his danger, for apparently the steamer was going down by the head and threatening to take the final plunge. It was a moment to test the nerves of the bravest, and these young men, fresh from the civilian life of London and surrounding towns, stood the test superbly. Not a man flinched. All responded to the commands of their officers as briskly and as orderly as if on parade and quietly lined up. As soon as the roll had been called and the order to stand easy had been given, some one started 'The Long Trail,' and in a few seconds the whole gathering from end to end of the ship had taken up the haunting refrain of the latest marching song. Then came the oldest favorite, 'Tipperary,' and for half an hour afterward, while the ominous incline of deck toward the bows became more and more noticeable, chorus after chorus swept along the lines and over the sea. Let it be remembered that the men of this splendid Middlesex battalion were not old and seasoned soldiers. Many of them were young fellows who a few months before had never handled a rifle or done an hour's drill, but were working at a desk, in a factory, or in a shop.

"The vessel's wireless installation had not been damaged by the explosion, and S O S signals were immediately sent out while boat after boat was lowered to the water. One of them upset in the descent, but a young seaman without a moment's hesitation jumped overboard and succeeded in righting it, and the same man a little later distinguished himself by diving from a lifeboat and rescuing the regimental dog, Paddy. Another example of pluck was given by half a dozen of the troops, who, engineers by profession, volunteered to assist in the engine room, and exchanging their khaki for overalls, did splendid work in this, the most dangerous spot in the ship.

"Six boats had been lowered when a rescuing boat, followed a few minutes later by another, arrived and the work of transferring the troops began. Though a strong wind was blowing and the sea was very choppy, it was carried out without a mishap in a little over an hour, and the rescue vessels turned for port.

"Meanwhile two other steamers had responded to the call for help and took the crippled liner in tow. It appeared to be an almost hopeless task, as she was then well down by the bows, but wonderful seamanship on the part of the officers and crew of all three vessels triumphed and the Tyndareus was brought safely into port.

"Magnificent as had been their own conduct, the troops were enthusiastic in their praise of the officers and crew of the Tyndareus. They, too, demonstrated that the spirit which held the men of the Birkenhead together still survives. Their coolness and discipline were on a level with the qualities displayed by the soldiers. The Captain, who the troops say was magnificent, found time while directing operations to cheer and encourage the men as they stood singing choruses on deck. 'Keep it up, lads,' he kept shouting to them. 'All's well,' while the troops cheered him again and again in return. Five dogs were on board and all were rescued."

Praise from King and Admiral.

CAPE TOWN, Feb. 13.—The Commander in Chief of the naval station at Simmons Town, after investigating the Tyndareus incident, cabled the following to the Admiralty:

> The behavior of —— Battalion of the Middlesex Regiment on board the steamship Tyndareus after the accident to that ship, there being a large quantity of water on board and the ship apparently sinking by the head in a heavy swell, was most praiseworthy, and equal to the Birkenhead tradition of the British Army on the same spot. It was only due to this that no lives were lost in the boat. The ship was saved by the coolness and perseverance of the Captain, officers, engineers, and engine room staff.

In reply the appended message from King George was transmitted through the Admiralty:

> Please express to the officer commanding the —— Battalion of the Middlesex Regiment my admiration of the conduct displayed by all ranks on the occasion of the accident to the Tyndareus. In their discipline and courage they worthily upheld the splendid tradition of the Birkenhead, ever cherished in the annals of the British Army. GEORGE, R. I.

The day before the Tyndareus hit a mine the steamship Cicilia, a 3,750-ton collier of the Marwood International Line, Whitby, struck a mine off Dassen Island. Tugs from Cape Town went to her assistance, but she sank while being towed in. All of her crew were saved.

The Tyndareus was a steamer of 11,000 tons, built in 1916 at Greenock, and owned by the Ocean Steamship Company of Liverpool. Shipping records show her to have left Liverpool on Dec. 20, 1916, for Yokohama and Hongkong, and to have reached Simonstown, Cape Colony, Feb. 8.

The greatest losses that have so far occurred on board of transports torpedoed by submarines was 980 from the British troopship Royal Edward, sunk in the Aegean Sea in 1915, and 3,100 from the French transport Provence, sunk in the Mediterranean last year.

The story of the sinking of the Tyndareus is similar to that related in THE NEW YORK TIMES of April 19, 1852, concerning the sinking of the British troopship Birkenhead, an iron paddle-wheel steamer, which struck a rock on Feb. 26 off Simons Bay, and went down with 454 persons, principally soldiers on their way to the Cape. The story in THE TIMES was written by Captain Edward W. C. Wright of the Ninety-first Regiment, one of the 184 survivors.

GERMANY SHAKEN BY FOOD SCARCITY

GERMANY SHAKEN BY STRESS.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

AMSTERDAM, March 28, (Dispatch to The London Daily Chronicle.)—Russia's revolution obviously has had a greater effect on the German mind than has been generally believed.

The reforms which Chancellor von Bethmann Hollweg, under orders from the Kaiser and the Junkers, refused up to now even to discuss are suddenly and dramatically, with the dawn of light and liberty in Russia, admitted to be not only necessary but urgent.

Herr Scheidemann, head of the Socialist majority in the Reichstag and supporter of the Chancellor in his war policy, has warned him that the clock stands at five minutes to twelve and that reforms must be carried out now and not after the war. He has told the Chancellor that Germany is the only remaining great nondemocratic State, a state of affairs which causes her to be disliked all over the world, and that what the country requires is a constitutional monarchy like that in England, Denmark, and Norway.

Meanwhile the Socialist minority in the Reichstag contributes what will make tomorrow's sitting memorable. In the name of these members a series of demands will be put forward which in ordinary times would be highly interesting, but which in the middle of the great war and in a despotic state have an almost revolutionary aspect. They demand that the Reichstag shall have control over the forming and breaking off of alliances and over making peace and war. No longer is the Kaiser to be undisputed lord of those things.

They require also that the Chancellor shall be dismissed if the Reichstag so demands. He is to be the servant of the people, and not merely the obedient secretary of the Kaiser. Further, the Government is to be requested to work toward speedy peace by abandoning all ideas of annexation.

In addition proportional representation and votes for all men and women at all German parliamentary elections are to be called for, as well as the abolition of all upper houses. In short, the Socialist minority demands that Germany must be swung into line with other great world democracies.

Ever since March 14, when the Chancellor threw defiance at the party of the governing caste of the Fatherland with his promise of domestic political reform, almost the entire attention of Germany has been absorbed by this remarkable turn of events.

To observe how urgent, indeed, the matter is one has only to make a close study of the German press. There can be no doubt that the people are thoroughly alarmed, discontented, and uneasy, and that the powers that be recognize something must be done and done at once.

The retreat of the German armies on the west front and the increasing scarcity of food are beginning to tell seriously on the whole nation, and many other serious things must be added to these.

The agrarians and the junkers are incurring the rising wrath of the people by holding up food or obtaining exorbitant prices for that sent to market. In German papers there is hardly a page which does not protest against, or give some particulars of, heartless and disgusting war profiteering, and this is arousing great bitterness among the masses of the people.

"If war profiteering is not uprooted, then the present social order must be overthrown," declared Herr Stadthagen, Socialist Deputy in the Reichstag, on Monday. At the same sitting a terrible state of affairs in Alsace-Lorraine was fully exposed. Soldiers and civilians there are being treated with unheard of brutality, and despotic rule is indulging in its worst outrages. The tale of tyranny has aroused anger in nearly all parties.

"The French revolution," said Herr Wendel, Socialist, "gave the people of Alsace-Lorraine freedom and made them French. Prussia has been nothing for them but a Drill Sergeant's stick and a policeman."

"When his neighbor's house burns it is a wise man who pours water on his own roof," says the Cologne Gazette in a discussion of Germany's position in the face of the tremendous upheaval in Russia.

RUSSIA MAY SEIZE CORN.

State Monopoly Principle Is Approved by the Leaders.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

PETROGRAD, March 27, (Dispatch to The London Daily Chronicle.)—The Minister of Agriculture in Russia is not a man to be envied at the present moment. He virtually is Food Controller, and, as the food question now stands, the duties of Controller are onerous beyond conception. The Provisional Committee of the Duma fixed on M. Shingareff as the best man for the post. M. Shingareff is not only a man of wide experience and great energy, but of the Russian democracy.

He looked very tired and very worn when I saw him Monday in the ministry. He told me certain facts which I shall not repeat, but which show clearly that if the revolution had not come when it did, Russia within a very short time would have collapsed in the matter of food supplies and would have been unable to continue the war. Urgent measures have been taken by the new Government. Transport has been improved and certain hoarded supplies put into circulation. The immediate danger is past, but the urgent necessity of putting the food supply on a sound basis remains.

"When," said M. Shingareff, "we faced the problem in one of the first sittings of the Provisional Government we were confronted with the choice between two methods—either the restoration of complete freedom of trade or the establishment of a State monopoly of corn. But there were very strong arguments against the restoration of free trade. Attempts made in this direction showed that it encouraged a rapid speculative rise in prices without a corresponding increase in supplies of corn. Moreover, free trade is possible only if you have free transport, and, as the State must now keep a very firm hold on transport in view of the war, private trade must take a very subordinate place.

"On these and other grounds the Provisional Government approved in principle a proposal to establish a State monopoly in corn and commissioned me to draft a scheme. This scheme we are now drafting with the utmost speed. Maximum prices will be raised and we are considering a plan for giving premiums on extensive sowing, as in France and England.

"The State monopoly will be accompanied by a reasonable system of distribution in the form of rationing. It is a difficult problem, but I believe we shall succeed because now the people will be directly responsible and will have a full opportunity to think and act and make their own share in the solution of the problem."

DR. CARREL COMING FOR WAR WORK HERE

Will Be in Charge of Military Hospital to be Erected by Rockefeller Institute.

HIS METHODS TO BE TAUGHT

A complete, portable military unit hospital is to be erected on its grounds at once by the Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research, where, under the leadership of Dr. Alexis Carrel, who has won world-fame in war surgery in France, the Carrel-Dakin method of treating infected wounds is to be practiced on a limited number of patients and taught to army surgeons, public health experts, and Red Cross nurses. Wooden structures are to be built at once and it is hoped to open the wards within ten weeks, by which time it is expected that Dr. Carrel will receive a furlough from the French Government, and will be here ready to take charge.

Two hundred thousand dollars has been appropriated by the institute to finance the new project, which has the hearty indorsement of the Surgeon General of the army and other authorities. There are to be accommodations for 100 patients.

This statement covering the project was issued last night by the institute, of which Dr. Simon Flexner is head:

Statement by the Institute.

"The Rockefeller Institute for Medical Research will establish immediately on its grounds at Sixty-sixth Street and Avenue A in New York a military unit hospital of 100 beds for the purpose of treating patients suffering from infected wounds, and demonstrating the surgical methods worked out and successfully applied at the military hospital at Compiegne, France, by Dr. Alexis Carrel and Dr. H. D. Dakin. The immediate surgical control and supervision of the hospital will be under the personal charge of Dr. Carrel, who, it is hoped, may be permitted by the French Government to return to this country for that purpose. He will have the advanage of the co-operation of Dr. Dakin.

"The distinctive feature of this Carrel-Dakin treatment, which is one of the most notable surgical developments of the war, is the use of a solution of hypochlorite of lime under conditions which utilize the disinfecting properties of the chlorine and avoid its caustic effects. This chemical compound has the unique property of killing the bacteria and exerting a solvent effect upon dead tissue, thus reducing in the wound the opportunity for bacteria to devolop. Though the basis of this treatment is largely the use of this chemical compound, the successful application of it and the attendant treatment of the wound are matters of technique in which any trained surgeon may become proficient in a few weeks.

"The object of this enterprise of the Rockefeller Institute will be three-fold:

First—To make available to the patients this improved method of treatment.

Second—To demonstrate and teach to American surgeons who may be enrolled for military service measures for the treatment of infected wounds, especially by the Carrel-Dakin method, and Third—To test the feasibility of a unit portable military hospital designed by Mr. Charles Butler of New York, who, working under the French War Department, has made a thorough study of the military hospital units which have been developed for use in France and England.

"The Rockefeller Foundation has appropriated a fund of $200,000 in order to make the plan financially possible.

Surgeon General Approves.

"The co-operation of the various medical branches of the Government is indicated by a letter from the Surgeon General of the Army, which is reproduced below:

> Dear Dr. Flexner: In connection with various conversations that I have had with yourself and Dr. Carrel upon the subject of the Carrel-Dakin method of the treatment of infected wounds, I would like to say that it would be of the very greatest benefit to the Medical Department of the Army if you could establish some way of promptly spreading the knowledge of Dr. Carrel's work through the Medical Department of the Army.
> Very truly yours,
> W. C. GORGAS,
> Surgeon General, U. S. Army.

"The Surgeon Generals of the Army, Navy and Public Health Service, and the executive offices of the Red Cross and the National Research Council have all expressed deep interest in the plan. The Surgeon Generals will assign successive groups of surgeons to the hospital to study the method employed. It is estimated that each group of surgeons will spend a minimum period of about four weeks in learning by practical experience the manner of its application and the results to be achieved.

"Work on the unit will begin at once and the hospital will be ready to receive patients suffering from infected wounds and surgeons detailed to it in about ten or twelve weeks. There will be several detached one-story wooden buildings, including receiving room, operating room, &c.

"The proposed scheme it is hoped will prove of great benefit not only as a measure of preparedness for war, but useful also in time of peace. People suffering from injury in workshops and on the street are constantly subject to infected wounds. Several American surgeons interested in preventing and treating industrial accidents have already been to Compiegne to study the Carrel-Dakin technique."

GOELET GIVES $250,000 TO HARJES AMBULANCE

Fund Will Equip Two Sections for American Corps, Which Serves French Army.

Robert W. Goelet donated $250,000 yesterday for the establishment and equipment of two additional ambulance sections of the Harjes-Norton American Ambulance Corps, which at present consists of three sections with a total of approximately 75 cars and 120 men, optrating with the French army. Mr. Goelet also announced his intention to furnish funds necessary for the maintenance of the two new sections until the end of the war.

The Harjes-Norton ambulance corps is distinct from the larger organization known as the American Ambulance Field Service. The first and second sections were organized at the beginning of the war by Richard Norton, formerly of Boston, and Henry H. Harjes of Morgan, Harjes & Co., Paris. In September the two sections were combined. At the request of the French Government a third section was added on the first of the year. As a mark of appreciation of their work, the Government bestowed the French War Cross on Norton, Harjes, and several of their assistants, and they were mentioned in the war orders of Feb. 8.

Eliot Norton of 2 Rector Street, brother of the head of the corps, to whom Mr. Goelet announced his gift, said the two new sections would also consist exclusively of Americans. Each car will require two chauffeurs, and will operate from field dressing stations or base hospitals. The men serve for a minimum period of six months and several have been wounded in their work. Eliot Norton will recruit those needed for the new sections, each of which will have twenty to twenty-five autos and forty to fifty men.

REJECTION OF TREATIES IRRITATES GERMANS

Frankfurter Zeitung Thinks We Will Seize Ships and Intern Teutons Here.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERNE, March 28, (Dispatch to The London Morning Post.)—The Germans appear to be considerably irritated by the American reply to their proposal that the treaties of 1799 and 1828 should be respected. The Frankfurter Zeitung avers that the United States Government has no proof whatever to support the statement it makes, for "the German Empire is most anxious to uphold the old humane agreements whose special object was to secure protection in time of war for citizens residing in the enemy country and for their property."

This influential journal assumes that the German ships in American ports are too great a temptation for the United States and especially for its English friends, so that for this reason the United States is unwilling to abide by the treaties it concluded.

The Frankfurter Zeitung records a rumor to the effect that the United States Government intends to intern enemy subjects in case of war and writes:

"For the moment Germany cannot adopt measures of reprisal, as the number of Americans remaining in Germany is insignificant. We shall not want means later, however, to compel the United States to make ample reparation for any injustice toward our countrymen of which it may be guilty. Nonobservance of the treaty of 1799 would show how weak President Wilson's humanitarian principles are and how unjust and insolent is the arrogance with which he on various occasions attempted to rebuke us on account of our method of waging war. American loyalty to the agreement may yet become as proverbial as was once Punic loyalty."

TORPEDO MISSED BY 20 FEET

British Freighter Ruahine Swerved as the Missile Passed Her.

Captain E. T. Smith of the British freighter Ruahine, which arrived yesterday from London, said that his vessel had a narrow escape from destruction on March 17, when a torpedo missed her stern by twenty feet.

The Ruahine was two days out, in the mouth of the English Channel, when the second officer saw a submarine about a mile away on the port quarter in the act of firing a torpedo. He swung the stern of the Ruahine around in order to get the four-inch gun into action, and at the same time a torpedo passed, leaving a silver shimmering wake on the water. The gun crew did not get a chance to try their skill because the submarine disappeared. Ten minutes later it was sighted a mile away on the starboard quarter and dived again before a shot could be fired.

The agents of the White Star Line received a cable message yesterday announcing the safe arrival of the steamship Cretic at an Italian port.

WON'T PROMOTE PACIFIST.

Fichlander's Teachings Assailed at Board of Education Meeting.

Because Alexander Fichlander, Principal of Public School 165 in Brooklyn, is a radical pacifist the Board of Education refused yesterday to promote him to the principalship of the larger Public School 109 of Brooklyn, for which he had been recommended by the Committee on Elementary Schools. Mr. Fichlander refused to sign the declaration of loyalty circulated by the Mayor's Committee and, it was alleged, taught pacifism in his school.

The refusal of promotion to Mr. Fichlander followed a bitter debate among the members of the board. It was started by General George W. Wingate, civil war veteran, who opposed the promotion of Mr. Fichlander because "by acts and words he has proved himself unfit to be in a position to influence American children, especially those whose parents are of recent citizenship, because of his unpatriotic utterances."

Dr. Ira S. Wile defended the Principal on the ground that his private views did not affect his efficiency as a teacher. But John Greene said:

"I denounce him as being unfit for the transfer as giving him a sphere for wider influence for his unpatriotic views. Here is a man who debased his citizenship and who refused to sign the declaration of loyalty to the United States."

A motion by General Wingate to reject the recommendation for the promotion of Fichlander and two other teachers was carried by a vote of 32 to 4. President Willcox said he hoped there would soon be for teachers in the public schools an oath similar to that required of Judges.

UNION CHIEFS HELP TO MOBILIZE LABOR

Secretary Wilson Arranges with Them to Keep Shipyards and Arsenals Supplied with Men.

LOCAL UNIONS AS AGENCIES

Civil Service Board, Post Office Department, and Government Employment Bureaus All Enlisted.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Mobilization of labor for Government service in the event of war with Germany was planned today at a conference of officials and labor leaders in the office of Secretary Wilson. Means were outlined and agreed upon for making readily available enough workmen to insure operation of Government shipyards and arsenals, and of plants working on Government contracts.

Officials, profiting by the experiences of England, are determined that if the country takes an active part in the war it shall not be embarrassed by labor troubles and inability to obtain skilled and unskilled workers.

The American Federation of Labor, which has pledged it membership to the support of the Government, was represented today by its President, Samuel Gompers. Through the federation the Government expects to get its supply of trained workmen. The United States Public Employment Service will furnish unskilled men, and the Civil Service Commission will supply clerical help. The Post Office Department will advertise the country's needs. The Council of National Defense, of whose Labor Committee Mr. Gompers is Chairman, also will co-operate.

"The purposes of the conference," said Secretary Wilson, after the meeting, "were to find ways and means to prevent overlapping of effort in mobilizing the resources of industries for the support of the Government. We are planning to work together first and to find where help, male and female, can be quickly located for the navy yards, arsenals, and for other factories of the Government, and for any private plants working on supplies for the Government; second, to ascertain the fitness of workers and where they best can be employed, and third, to smooth their way to the work where they are needed. In doing this we are working to avoid duplication of effort and to save time.

"These plans propose utilizing the machinery already in existence to meet the immediate needs of the Government for workers, and do not in manner interfere with the plans being developed by the Sub-Committee of the Advisory Commission of the Council of National Defense dealing with the mobilization of labor."

LABOR IN NEW YORK JOINS DEFENSE PLEDGE

Organized labor, through James P. Holland, President of the New York State Federation, pledged its support yesterday to the campaign of the Mayor's Committee on National Defense. Mr. Holland issued the following statement for the committee:

"I have sent a letter to the head of every organization in Manhattan affiliated with the New York State Federation of Labor, asking him to co-operate to the fullest extent with the Mayor's declaration in support of the President of the United States in the protection of American rights.

"I believe that every man and woman in the community should sign this declaration. Of course, it has been said that there is no need for the majority of people to write down the fact that they are loyal, but this declaration applies to an immediate and specific action, and emphasizes the public's approval of the firm action by the Government to uphold what are everywhere recognized as our just rights.

"I am not unmindful of the noise that has been raised by some people who are opposed to any action for the defense of our national rights, but I am convinced that in the ranks of labor such a policy of surrender is favored by only a small fraction. As a body working men and women of this country are solidly behind the President in his stand for resistance to foreign aggression, and I think that this well-nigh unanimous support should be made a matter of record."

Charles Edward Russell, one of the leading Socialists in the country and once candidate for Governor on the Socialist ticket, telegraphed his support to the committee. Mr. Russell, who is in Washington, asked that his name be signed to the declaration of loyalty to the President.

GERMAN WARSHIPS FIRE 60 SHELLS AT DUNKIRK

Torpedo Boats' 3-Minute Bombardment Results in Only Two Casualties.

PARIS, March 28.—German torpedo boats fired sixty shells at the town of Dunkirk on the night of March 25-26, according to an official statement issued tonight.

The bombardment, which lasted three minutes, resulted in two casualties. The torpedo boats then made off at full speed.

MITCHEL AT MERCY OF TAMMANY FOES

ing the Senators that Mayor Mitchel absolutely refused to take the first step in a peace move, and that he was prepared to go through with the matter.

"Hold up everything until I come, for I will have some important communication to make," Senator Mills is reported to have said over the telephone in his second talk to the Capitol.

Senator Mills arrived just before noon. He went into conference at once with Senator Brown. Ex-Senator Harvey D. Hinman of Binghamton, who had come to the Capitol hurriedly this morning, also attended the conference. It was thought at that time that he had been called in to assist his former colleague in the Senate, Edgar Truman Brackett of Saratoga, as counsel for the Committee on Procedure. After the conference was over it became known that he had been retained by Mayor Mitchel.

"I will say nothing," Senator Mills said. "Let the Mayor tell you."

The committee on procedure which had been in session far into the night and again early this morning met again after the conference to complete its report. The first thing determined upon was to postpone the hearing of Mayor Mitchel until next week.

The committee, of which Senator Charles D. Newton of Livingston is Chairman, had not been at work long before new trouble confronted its members. Ex-Senator Brackett, who had been called as counsel, on account of his wide knowledge of procedure in cases of the kind confronting the Senate, happens to be on bad terms personally and politically with Governor Whitman. Whether this had any weight with the Governor or not, cannot of course be more than surmised, but word soon came from the Executive Chamber to some members of the committee that Mr. Brackett must be dropped as counsel. There was a heated discussion over the mandate from the Executive Chamber, but finally, as the only means of restoring harmony, Mr. Brackett, who, already had done pretty nearly all that could be expected from him was retired and it was decided that the Senate would proceed in the matter without special counsel, or, if necessary call in aid from the Attorney General's office.

Soon after the arrival of Senator Mills from New York a piece of corridor gossip became current to the effect that Mayor Mitchel had caused the telephone wires of Senator Wagner and other members opposed to the first Rockaway Fortification bill to be tapped, and that as a result he would have disclosures to make when he appeared before the Senate. This report was not taken seriously at the Capitol.

"That does not bother me," said Senator Wagner. "I have nothing to fear from eavesdropping on any conversation of mine regarding the Rockaway bills over the telephone or here at the Capitol."

While all the negotiations were going on the Senate was marking time. It was 2 o'clock when it finally was called to order. Without much debate the Brown bill was passed appropriating $2,500,000 to meet the claims of the Rockaway Pacific Company in the injunction proceedings begun to restrain the State from taking possession of the Rockaway fortification site on the ground that not sufficient money had been set aside to pay for the land and the consequential damages. The bill will be transferred to the Assembly tomorrow, and in all probability will be passed in the lower house without delay.

After going through some necessary routine, Senator Brown at 2:30 o'clock arose and moved that the Senate go into secret session. The galleries were cleared of spectators and the newspaper correspondents. Clerks, doorkeepers, and stenographers withdrew. It was the first executive session of the Senate since 1907, when the confirmation of Thomas Mott Osborne, nominated by Governor Hughes as a member of the up-State Public Service Commission, was discussed behind closed doors for hours.

An executive session of the Senate is looked upon here as an occasion of grave and solemn importance, and the Senate lobbies soon filled with curiosity seekers. Extraordinary care was taken to preserve secrecy with regard to what was going on.

The first report from the scene of the Senate conflict came when Senator George F. Thompson of Niagara emerged. Senator Thompson was Chairman of the legislative committee which investigated the Public Service Commission. His committee had Mayor Mitchel before it as a witness in the wire-tapping cases. Senator Thompson has no love for Mayor Mitchel.

"They are trying to put on gag rule," Senator Thompson said. "They are trying to bottle things up. I have left the Senate chamber in disgust. I told them I would have nothing to do with this matter until the Senate meets in open session. Then I will talk to them."

Senator Thompson, despite his belligerent talk, soon was placated and returned to the Senate Chamber. The session began with the presentation of the report from the Committee on Procedure. It was handed up by Senator Newton.

Senator Brown at once offered his amendment. The text of the amendment which the Senate leader subsequently withdrew was not made public. Its outstanding features, it is understood, were a provision permitting the Mayor to make a statement in his own way, which would not necessarily have been confined to the immediate charge occasioning his appearance, and another provision barring free questioning by members of the Senate.

MAYOR MITCHEL CONFIDENT.

Contemplates No Retraction and Says His Position Is Unchanged.

When Mayor Mitchel was told yesterday afternoon that the Senate had decided to call him to Albany on Tuesday next to explain his charges against Senator Wagner, he smiled broadly, but remarked he had "Nothing to say." He had expected to be summoned to Albany today.

Samuel Untermyer, who, it is said, will represent Senator Wagner at the hearing, refused to discuss the matter last night.

Earlier in the day Mayor Mitchel in an interview, in reply to many rumors in political circles here and in Albany that he would back down, had declared that he had no idea of retraction. He said he had had a conference with Senator Ogden L. Mills, regarded as the Senate's spokesman in the Senate, on Tuesday.

"Has there been any change in your position?" the Mayor was asked.

"There has been no change in my position," said the Mayor. "I am going to Albany when I am asked, and in response to a request," he added.

"Is there any chance, Mr. Mayor, that you will apologize?" he was asked.

"You know what I said," was his answer. "I have not withdrawn it. I haven't changed it and I don't propose to."

"Did Senator Mills call on you with a peace proposal?" the Mayor was asked.

"I am not going to discuss my conference with Senator Mills," he answered.

"Are you confident of sustaining your position before the Senate?" was the next question.

"I have absolute confidence that I will sustain my position before the Senate," he said.

"Will it be necessary to subpoena you, or will you accept an invitation to go before the Senate?"

"I always like to accept invitations," the Mayor replied.

Senator Wagner today took steps to retain Samuel Untermyer as counsel in the proceedings before the Senate. Mayor Mitchel, besides ex-Senator Hinman, has retained Roger P. Clark of Binghamton, Senator Hinman's law partner, and Ray B. Smith of Syracuse, former clerk of the Assembly.

STATE FIGHTS INJUNCTION.

Assails Land Company for Blocking Rockaway Plan.

Alfred L. Becker, Deputy State Attorney General, accused the Rockaway Pacific Corporation in the Federal District Court yesterday of trying to "exact its pound of flesh" in connection with the negotiations for the site for the new fort at Rockaway. The charges of lack of patriotism were warmly resented by Gordon M. Buck, counsel for the corporation.

Judges Henry G. Ward, Henry M. Rogers, and Charles M. Hough were hearing the application of the Rockaway Pacific Corporation, owners of the land at Rockaway, to make permanent a temporary injunction restraining the State from taking title to the land at Rockaway Point until it had made an appropriation of $2,500,000, which the corporation thinks it should get for the property.

The Legislature had already passed a measure appropriating $1,000,000, which was before the Governor for signature, when the injunction proceedings prevented his signing it. The contention of Mr. Buck was that the property was worth more than $1,000,000. He offered affidavits of realty dealers to the effect that it was worth $2,000,000 or more, and argued that if the State got it the $1,000,000 appropriated was all the corporation would ever get. He said that the Rockaway Pacific Corporation, owned by the Southern Pacific Railroad, had disliked to bring the proceedings, but he denied that the legal action impeded the progress of work on the fort, saying that for two months, at the invitation of the Rockaway Pacific Corporation, Government engineers had been working on the fort.

Mr. Buck denied the right of the State to take the land for the Federal Government, it being the purpose of the State to give the land site to the Federal Government after its acquisition. He quoted the Fourteenth Amendment to the Federal Constitution, which says that property may not be taken "without due process of law," and the Constitution of New York, which says that the State may not take property without making provision for payment out of the law." He held that "due process of law" meant ample compensation, but that $1,000,000 was not ample compensation.

Mr. Becker answered Mr. Buck's points by saying that the action of the State was taken in an emergency; that the State had the right under the law of eminent domain to take lands for defensive purposes; that the land was not worth more than $1,000,000, and he cited the sworn statements of the officials of the company to the State tax officials last November having placed its value at something more than $800,000, and, furthermore, that the State had power to take the land without providing beforehand for payment for it. He bitterly assailed the motives of the Rockaway Pacific Corporation.

"The State stands ready to pay the Rockaway Pacific Corporation its pound of flesh if it must," he said. "If Mr. Kruttschnitt says that an appropriation of $2,335,000 is sufficient, and if the Court holds that the State must show the color of its money before it can take the lands, such an appropriation will be passed. But I insist that the sovereign State is not compelled to do this. I ask the Court not to establish the dangerous precedent.

"The manipulation of shrewd land speculators and the lack of patriotism on the part of the interests represented in the Rockaway Pacific Corporation are the chief obstacles blocking the State's plan to take the Rockaway Neck lands needed by the Federal Government for fortification purposes."

Mr. Becker asked the Court to disregard the affidavits of experts who said that the land was worth more than $2,000,000 and to consider the sworn statements made to the State Tax Department by the officials of the company that the entire acreage had a value of $856,500. He pointed out that the State was taking only half this acreage and that $1,000,000 was ample to pay all just awards. Continuing, Mr. Becker said:

"What must we think of a corporation, a subsidiary of the Southern Pacific Railroad, which with other railroads boasted the day before the Supreme Court held the Adamson law constitutional that it had given its employes the eight-hour day from patriotic motives, and now, when the State desires to buy its land for defense purposes, swears the property is worth more than $2,000,000—the same property which it said last November was worth $856,500?

"The Rockaway Pacific Corporation, in view of its statement to the Tax Department, has failed to show that the appropriation of $1,000,000 made by the State is inadequate.

"Further, I contend that when a state of threatened war exists, a State Government has the right to take property without appropriating the money to pay for it in advance. The Constitution expressly permits the State to contract debts for defense in war."

The court reserved decision in the case.

RISING COSTS MAY HALT NEW TRANSIT

PRICES UP 50 PER CENT.

Officials May Ask Legislature for Permission to Continue Construction.

TO MOBILIZE ALL FORCES

Mayor Names Board to Ascertain City's Most Urgent Work and Means for Doing It.

Sixteen contractors engaged in work on the city-owned lines of the dual subway system have petitioned for concessions and allowances on their contracts because of the increased costs of labor and materials, with the intimation that if the requests are not granted work may stop. But to these demands the city has refused to yield.

This became known yesterday afternoon at a conference of Mayor Mitchel, Controller Prendergast, Corporation Counsel Hardy, and Public Service Commissioners Straus, Hervey, Hodge, and Whitney. The conference not only decided not to ask for special legislation empowering the city to raise the allowance to the contractors, but resolved on steps to enable the city to carry on the work itself if the contractors should drop the work. As soon as the meeting was over, the Mayor issued a call for the organization of officials of the city and the commission in a "Public Works Mobilization Board," to organize the work now going on on city improvements so that, if need be, the municipality can rearrange its efforts and take care of the subway work first of all.

The troubles of the contractors, like most other economic troubles, are ascribed to the war. The head of one of the leading contracting companies said yesterday that the average increase in the cost of materials since the contracts were let was probably 50 per cent., and the increase in the cost of labor even greater. Lately the employes of one contractor struck, and others threaten to follow. The men demanded an increase in wages from the present rate of $2.25 a day to $2.50, and the contractors, feeling that that was too much, sent a subcommittee to the Public Service Commission a few days ago to find out if the city could not take over part of the burden. It was represented that the contractors were facing heavy losses, and that unless concessions were made some of them might not be able to go on with the work.

Decide Against Legislation.

The conference heard the petition of the contractors and then took up the question of whether a request should be made for special legislation which would be necessary to alter the terms of the contracts. Although this was decided in the negative, the reasons that actuated the conferees could not be learned. It has been pointed out, however, by outsiders familiar with the work that special legislation of this sort, even in a meritorious case, might open the way for all sorts of manipulation in the future through collusion between complaisant city officials and contractors who did not have as good a case as the present one.

As soon as it had been decided not to ask legislation the question as to what should be done if the contractors should throw over their contracts was considered. The result was the call for the Mobilization Board to find out just what could be done and how it could be done most expediently, and a decision to ask for legislation that might be needed to enable the commission to do construction work directly where the commission and the Board of Estimate found it desirable.

Nobody could tell just how much work these sixteen contractors had still to do. It was estimated in round figures that their total contracts amounted to more than $100,000,000, and the guess was made that perhaps more than half of the total amount of work had been done. In a few days the commission's engineers and bookkeepers will be able to tell precisely what the condition of the work is.

City Will Lose Nothing.

A statement, made yesterday by an attaché of the commission, was to the effect that if the plans the Mayor had in mind were carried out, and the city was compelled to do the work that it would not lose anything. If it did the contractors would be compelled to stand the loss, so that it was difficult to see how the contractors could benefit by quitting. It is customary to pay the contractors as work is done, the city withholding about 10 per cent. It was said that this, together with the bonds furnished by the contractors, and the unexpended balances would leave the city ample funds to go on with the work.

Chairman Straus of the Public Service Commission sent a letter to F. J. MacIsaac, President of the General Contractors' Association, which read:

"Following our conversation with you yesterday we had a conference with the Mayor, Controller, and Corporation Counsel. At that conference it was decided that no legislation should be requested modifying existing contracts other than to ask legislative authority for the commission to do work directly where in the opinion of the commission and the Board of Estimate the conditions warrant it."

A statement made by the Mayor was more definite and displayed the intention of the city to carry on the work. It said:

"The city is faced with the possibility of grave emergencies, growing out of war conditions, in prosecuting important physical works. As a result of my conference with the Public Service Commission this morning it is clear that the prosecution of subway construction requires the immediate and complete co-operation of the City Government. It is imperative that an order of urgency be established so that available labor shall be used on the most important work without having to compete with other public work less urgent.

"It is also imperative that the staffs, labor, and plant controlled by city departments and public service corporations should be capable of immediate mobilization. It is also entirely possible that at a later date there will be such curtailment of physical work generally as to produce conditions of unemployment. The city government cannot look upon this possibility with unconcern, and one of the results of deferring less pressing public work now will be to enable the city to alleviate unemployment conditions should they arise."

Strong Board Proposed.

The statement here gave a list of the public officials the Mayor has asked to serve as a "Public Works Mobilization Board." The list contained the names of all of the Public Service Commissioners, all of the engineers of the commission, and a number of heads of city departments, including Nelson P. Lewis, Chief Engineer of the Board of Estimate; Charles W. Staniford, Chief Engineer of the Department of Docks and Ferries; Putnam A. Bates, Electrical Engineer of the Fire Department, and Fourth Deputy Police Commissioner Edgar V. O'Daniel.

"I am asking this board," continues the statement, "to list all physical public works projected by the Public Service Commission, the city government, and the Board of Water Supply, to determine the order of urgency of these various pieces of work; to ascertain the present available amount of labor and to secure the postponement of a sufficient amount of less urgent work to permit the most pressing work to go forward at full speed.

"I have asked this board to confer immediately with representatives of labor and with representatives of contractors of public work. I have written to every department in my control, asking the complete co-operation of that department with this board. I am also writing to each of the five Borough Presidents, making a similar request."

Among the most important pieces of work on the dual system threatened by the situation are:

Lexington Avenue, between Forty-third and Fifty-third Streets, and the connections between the present subway. The Lexington Avenue and the Steinway lines, which are in process of construction by the Rapid Transit Construction Company and Patrick McGivern & Co., and are 77 per cent. finished; the Seventh Avenue-Lexington Avenue subway, between Greenwich Street and Battery Place, which is being done by the same company and is nearing completion; the Williams Street-Clark Street, Brooklyn, subway that is being built by Frederick Cranford, Inc., Smith, Hauser & MacIsaac, Inc., and the Flinn-O'Rourke Company, that is from 82 to 90 per cent. completed, and the Broadway-Fourth Avenue subway, between Union Square and Sixtieth Street, by three other of the contractors who have appealed for concessions. This work is from 49 to 98 per cent. finished.

It was pointed out at the office of the Public Service Commission that no matter how small the piece of work left unfinished on a line it would tie up the entire line, and that in the event of the contracts being abandoned the work of getting the system into running order would be greatly delayed. It had been thought that several important lines of the system would be ready to put into operation in the Summer and Fall, and all of them were scheduled for operation before the end of next year.

OLD GERMAN LINES ALMOST WIPED OUT

DEAD STREWN EVERYWHERE

Many Direct Hits on Bomb-Proof Shelters—Much Equipment Abandoned.

BRITISH HEADQUARTERS IN FRANCE, March 28, (via London.)—Now that the desperate episodes in the war, known in history as the battle of the Somme, have been definitely ended by the German retreat from Arras to the Aisne, it has been possible to investigate more leisurely the conditions which existed along the German front just prior to the backward swing of the so-called Hindenburg line.

When the retreat first began more than a month ago the British swept over some old Somme positions held by the Germans, and even the most hurried glimpse of the evacuated trenches indicated how untenable they had become and why it was decided to run no risks of another allied offensive in this sector. Five miles of slogging along the old German lines in the vicinity of Bapaume today revealed a picture of ghastliness which may never be seen again in this war or any other war. The front line was a long, open, dilapidated, crumbling grave, which disappeared in the mud at times, but could be picked up further on by means of the bodies that marked the way.

One realized with a shudder how the men doomed to live in these trenches had been plagued by their own dead. Such a ceremony as decent burial had been wholly out of the question, and there was no means of conveying the bodies to the rear. It had been like passing through a fiery rain from hades to bring up food and water to the living. So the dead had simply been tossed out of the tarenches, only to be blown back again by an exploding shell. Sometimes they came back in fragments, for there were arms and legs, feet and hands everywhere.

Occasionally graves had bene dug in the sides of the trench itself, but the dead could not even rest there. At frequent intervals the inevitable skeleton hands and feet protruded from the trench walls—grim sights this war has had for the men who passed up and down those trenches during the long and bitter nights of Winter.

It has been an enthralling thing to stand by the British guns in the last three or four months and wonder what was the meaning of all their continuous roar. There was no set battle in progress, and the gunners said it was merely the "daily hate" going on to keep Fritz unhappy. The hideous revelations of the German trenches, however, give the gruesome answer to what the guns were doing. In some places there were veritable mangled masses of what were once human beings. Neither by day nor by night had the Germans rest. Their trusted barbed wire, in which they always place such great reliance, had been swept completely away over thousands of yards, and they dared not venture out to repair it.

All traces of communication trenches leading to the front lines were wiped out and it had been necessary to bring up supplies and relief at night over a country blown into endless shell holes, many of which were filled to such a depth with water that men were drowned in them. White bits of broad tape could be seen here and there attached to the iron posts. These were for the purpose of guiding the men up to the front line.

These pathways over the fields of death also were strewn with fragments of human bodies. Some of the dead had the looks of mummies. One of the fallen soldiers had his right arm thrown over his rifle as if his last impulse was to protect this weapon of defense. But there was no defense against the constant shelling. Some pieces of metal thrown about by the high explosive shells must have weighed at least ten pounds. The result of hitting a man with a ten-pound bullet can easily be imagined.

At one point in the trenches was just the lower half of a German officer, identified by the boots and leggings he wore. His legs were crossed tailor fashion. Trench helmets of heavy steel had great holes torn in them.

The front line, of course, was seamed with the inevitable deep German dugouts, but even these had not been immune. There were hundreds of direct hits on top of them, which must have made life intensely miserable and hazardous within. Around the famous Butte de Warlencourt the German trenches have entirely disappeared. The entire fury of the Somme fighting once swirled about this somewhat insignificant mound of powdered chalk, just off the Bapaume road, which is generally believed to have been a prehistoric tomb. The butte now marks the death place not only of one supposedly distinguished prehistoric man, but thousands of young warriors. The geographical paltriness of the butte really emphasizes the wonderful importance of any high bit of ground in stationary warfare.

The Somme battlefields today appear like some great refuse dump. Litter is strewn everywhere. The evacuated German back areas remind one strikingly of the scenes around a deserted mining camp in which the gold veins have given out.

FAVOR GIFT TO FRANCE.

Columbia Professors Would Return Amount Spent Here for War.

Columbia University professors are circulating a petition to President Wilson asking the United States to present to France at least enough money for that nation to pay the financial obligations which she has incurred here for war supplies. Only Faculty members are being asked to sign the petition, which was started by Dean Harlan F. Stone and Professor Monroe Smith of the Law School. The resolution says in part:

> Our national self-respect demands energetic resistance to Germany's lawless attacks. It should be recognized that she is making war on us. The common cause of law-abiding democratic nations demands our full co-operation with France and her allies against the common foe.
> Armed support we should give, but can give only tardily; financial aid we can and should give at once. To France money should not be lent, but paid. To her we owe an old debt for aid in achieving our independence, as well as a new debt for her defense of law, liberty, and civilization. To her we should at least repay all she has paid us since this yar began for supplies used in fighting our battle.

It is expected that the petition will be ready to be telegraphed to the President today.

STOP BULGAR ATTACK.

French Hold New Trenches Captured on Macedonian Front.

PARIS, March 28.—Operations on the Macedonian front are reported in the following War Office bulletin, issued today:

> Eastern Theatre—After a violent artillery preparation the enemy attacked the trenches which we had captured on March 26 around Tsrvena Stena, in the region west of Monastir. The attack was stopped short by our barrage fire.
> The prisoners numbered twenty-six, bringing the total taken by us in the latest operations around Monastir up to 2,104, of whom twenty-nine are officers. We captured also six bomb throwers and sixteen machine guns.

BRITISH PRESS ON NORTH OF ROISEL

British Headquarters in France mentions the capture of the villages of Guyencourt and Villers-Faucon, and says:

"Taking the line between Longavesnes and Equancourt as representing our progress to Tuesday morning, this means that we pushed forward some 3,000 yards. This does not mean, however, an advance of the whole British line. In the present phase there is no continuous front line, but rather a succession of posts and patrols, all in touch with each other, but varying their positions from time to time, as opportunity offers for pushing on.

"Equancourt was captured by a single squadron of cavalry. Its garrison continued to fire until the front rank of our horsemen, in wide open order, with lances lowered, were within 700 yards of its outskirts. The Germans then bolted, flinging away their arms and all encumbrances.

"A similar stampede occurred at Longavesnes, but in Villers-Faucon the enemy made a stand. Lieramont was entered without opposition."

300 French Prisoners Taken.

BERLIN, March 28, (by Wireless to Sayville.)—A French attack on the west bank of the Oise, near La Fère, failed yesterday, with heavy losses, the War Office announces. French trenches in Champagne, south of Ripont, were captured by the Germans.

The text of the statement follows:

> With the majority of the armies the day passed quietly. In the district on both sides of the Somme and the Oise there were only minor engagements. The successful manner in which our troops there are accomplishing their task is illustrated by the fact that, in the field of the engagement of March 26 between Lagnicourt and Morchies, about 1,000 British dead were counted.
> In Champagne some French trenches south of Ripont were captured. There, and in enterprises south of Saint Souplet and near Tahure, 300 French were taken prisoner and several machine guns and mine throwers captured.
> North of Rheims and in the Argonne hostile reconnoitering detachments which had entered our positions were driven away by a counterattack.

A supplementary statement, issued this evening, says:

> On the western front an engagement occurred near Oroisilles, northeast of Bapaume, which was favorable to us.
> In Champagne and on the west bank of the Meuse (Verdun region) there was lively artillery activity.

FLOODS HINDER WAR ON RUSSIAN FRONT

Spring Thaw Makes Operations on Large Scale Impossible, Berlin Intimates.

BERLIN, March 28, (by Wireless to Sayville.)—No military actions of importance will be possible for some time on the Russian front, from the Baltic to the Carpathians, owing to the setting in of the Spring thaw, today's Army Headquarters statement indicates.

There is some activity on the Rumanian front, and the failure of a Russian attack on Magyros is reported, together with the capture by Teutonic forces of a strongly intrenched ridge south of the Uzul Valley.

The text of the statement reads:

> Eastern Front—Army Group of Prince Leopold—Between the sea and the Carpathians the Spring thaw has begun, which makes the more important military activities impossible.
> The booty from the engagements on the Shara has increased to twenty mine-throwers and eleven machine guns.
> Front of Archduke Joseph—During a raid on the northeast slope of Coman, in the wooded Carpathians, the raiding detachments worked their way into a Russian position, blew up several dugouts and returned with some prisoners and booty.
> A Russian attack on Magyros failed. South of the Uzul Valley a strongly intrenched ridge was taken by storm and in hand-to-hand fighting by our troops, who maintained it against repeated attacks. One hundred prisoners and some machine guns and minethrowers remained in our hands.
> Army Group of Field Marshal von Mackensen—Outpost engagements occurred and there was a revival from time to time of artillery activity.

PETROGRAD, March 28.—The following official communication was issued today:

> Western (Russian) front: After artillery preparation the Germans attacked our positions east of Illuxt, but were repulsed. A German attack northwest of Postavy also was repulsed.
> On the night of 26-27th, after artillery preparation, the enemy attacked in the region of Boguchy, northeast of Krevo, and occupied a part of our trenches. Our immediate counterattack restored the situation. On the Stokhod River, in the region of Borovo, we delivered a mass attack.

HERALD SQUARE NEW YORK

A Label With Something Behind It

"Supre-Macy" is the name we have chosen for a new line of Men's Suits made especially for us.

To satisfy ourselves that "Supre-Macy" Suits represented all the material and tailoring qualities that could be consistently put into a suit to sell for $24.75, we submitted several garments, selected at random, to the following test:

Hung side by side with other garments purchased in other stores at higher prices, they were examined carefully by a disinterested woolen man and then scrutinized within and without by an expert clothes maker. These men declared to be equal in material and construction to the others and in some cases even better made. "Supre-Macy" Suits are made of durable all-wool fabrics and serviceable trimmings, in semi-convertible models, revealing more hand-tailoring than some suits in which this particular quality is emphasized.

For this reason we consider them worthy of the mark of Macy's Own Merchandise.

RUSSIAN WORKERS PREVENT STRIKES

NO TIME LIMIT TO TOIL

Social Democrats, Also Favoring Vigorous Prosecution of War, Vote Not to Press Demands.

PETROGRAD, March 28.—Evidence of the general disposition of the working population to co-operate to the fullest extent with the new Government in pushing the war is being given in a remarkable manner. The factory workmen have reversed the usual order and prevented a strike threatened by the "bosses," who had been deposed or had had their authority curtailed as the result of the new liberty and equality, while a group of Social Democrats has put out a declaration which, as far as can be determined, fairly represents the attitude of the majority of that party toward the Government, favoring a vigorous prosecution of the war and leaving the demands of the Social Democracy in abeyance until the country is safe from the danger of a return of the monarchy.

In a certain munitions factory the disgruntled administration seeing their old berths slipping from their grasp decided to declare the factory on strike, but the workmen, inspired by the appeals of the new Government for their support, refused to walk out. On the contrary, they insisted that the foreman directing the engineers should begin work with them at daybreak and put in an equal number of hours.

"Every hour is precious," declared the spokesman of the workers. "We must work to support our comrades at the front. Every man who goes on strike will be treated as a traitor and we will not guarantee his safety."

Ready to Work Sixteen Hours.

A patriotic spirit appears to have gripped the workmen quite generally in strong contrast to their attitude toward the former régime. One group has given assurance that the eight-hour day—universally applicable now—will not operate to diminish the output, since, if it is necessary, the men will work sixteen hours daily.

At a meeting of engineers, however, a more pessimistic view was expressed. Many complaints were lodged that the workmen had changed rôles and insisted upon dictating terms as to hours and conditions. One of the chief sources of protest is the insistence of the workmen that they oust uncongenial administrators and replace them with men of their own choosing, often from their own ranks. The appointment of an arbitration board, formerly demanded by the workmen, is now desired by the bosses, but declined by the workmen.

Instances are recorded of workmen discipling their former "bosses" by carrying them on a dump. The condition exacted for reinstatement was an apology for past offenses.

Delegates have been chosen by the engineers, who hope to arrange amicable relations through the Council of Workmen and the Ministry of Trade and Industry. Some factories are already working out a plan of profit-sharing.

Social Democrats' Manifesto.

The declaration of the Social Democrats, alluded to above, reads in part:

"The program of the new Government is satisfactory to a sufficient extent. The present state of bourgeoisie and the capitalistic society no doubt precludes the possibility of changing the present revolution into a social one. Any effort in that direction might precipitate a counter-revolution and bring about the return of the monarchy.

"The necessary democratic control of the work of the new Government can be achieved best by participation in the temporary administration of representatives of the workmen's democracy and a wide and stable organization of the popular forces and the army. We appeal to the workmen, soldiers, and deputies to assist the temporary Government in the realization of a program of freedom and in the preparation for the national convention, keeping at the same time their full political independence. Only when the election for the national convention shall begin shall we present in full our demands for agrarian and social reform."

On the subject of the war the declaration said:

"The victory of the Central Empires would bring ruin and reinstate the old régime. It is necessary now, more than ever before, to continue the struggle against the last bulwark of monarchical control in Europe."

By acknowledging the existence of and promising its support to the Provisional Government of Russia the Socialist Party there has done an unprecedented thing. Hitherto and in all other countries organized Socialism has always ranged itself on the side of the opposition.

Not only this, but they have declined to allow their members to assume any appointed office. In France MM. Millerand, Clémenceau, and Briand were ousted from the party the moment they became Ministers of State. The same thing would probably have happened to Emile Vandervelde, President of the International Bureau, who accepted a portfolio in the Belgian Ministry at the beginning of the war, if the Tenth Congress had been held at Vienna in August, 1914, as planned. In Germany men like Bebel and Liebknecht held, of course, elective offices.

OATH OF RUSSIAN CABINET.

Ministers Swear to Obey the Will of a Constituent Assembly.

LONDON, Thursday, March 29.—Telegraphing from Petrograd under date of Wednesday, Reuter's correspondent says:

"In the Senate today the Ministers took the following oath of office:

"'In my capacity as a member of the Provisional Government created by the will of the people, and at the instance of the Duma, I promise and swear before Almighty God and my conscience to serve faithfully and justly for liberty and for civil equality, and in all measures intrusted to me in suppressing any attempts, direct or indirect, toward the restoration of the old régime.

"'I swear to apply all my intelligence and strength completely to fulfill all the obligations assumed by the Provisional Government before the eyes of the people. I swear to take all measures for the convocation of a constituent assembly at the shortest time on the basis of universal direct equal secret suffrage, to transfer to the hands of the assembly all the authority provisionally exercised by me in conjunction with the other members of the Government and to bow before the people's will as expressed by that assembly, concerning the form of government and the fundamental laws of the Russian State.

"'May God help me in the fulfillment of this oath.'"

PREDICTS RUSSIA'S COLLAPSE.

Moraht Thinks Outlook for Germany on That Front Is Rosy.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, March 26, (via London.)—In Major Moraht's review of the military situation in the Tageblatt today he says:

"The leadership of our armies cannot be influenced by events in Russia. I should like to emphasize this fact, for some of our politicians already see the sun of peace rising in the east. One would think it were much wiser to permit the contest between the army and Provisional Government in Russia to develop still further. This enemy will be weakened without any effort on our part, which will not prevent us from intervening at that point where we first observe an inclination to abandon resistance."

Major Moraht then proceeds to enumerate a number of minor engagements on the eastern front, which, however, spiritedly conducted on the part of the Russians, invariably ended with their defeat.

"It is true," he says, "that firing increases on the whole front, but despite that one cannot possibly discover any sign that the Russian Government is beginning to prepare for 'final victory.' From all parts of the front we have news that the difficulties of transport are growing.

"We hear that provisions for the Russian Army are being used to feed the population of the large cities and that within a few days they will be exhausted, and army and population will have to starve. We have no reason to doubt this information, seeing that even the proclamation of the Duma refers to just such probabilities. It would only be the logical consequence of the conditions existing before the outbreak of the revolution.

"The dismissal of Grand Duke Nicholas from the position of Generalissimo is also bound to have a detrimental effect up on the Russian war operations. It is not at all certain that General Alexeiff, who follows the Grand Duke in the highest command, will have a majority of the Russian Army commanders on his side."

HEARS BRITISH SEIZE DETAINED DUTCH SHIPS

Reports Circulated Here and in Washington Can't Be Confirmed —Swedish Vessels Held Up.

WASHINGTON, March 28. — Dutch steamships in British ports were reported here today to have been confiscated by the British Government. The information reached here from a grain house which sold the Dutch Government the grain aboard many of the vessels. It could not be confirmed at the Netherlands legation.

About forty Dutch ships now are in British ports and a fleet of fifteen grain carrying vessels is understood to be on its way from a Holland port to the United States. Many of the Dutch ships now in British ports have been detained from six to eight weeks.

The British Government for some time has been insisting that a certain percentage of Dutch merchant tonnage carry cargoes to British destinations and the Dutch Government has refused.

Representatives here of Holland steamship lines were informed yesterday through unofficial sources that the Entente Allies were negotiating with the Dutch Government to take over all freight ships now detained in British ports. Inquiry made by the lines at the State Department and the Netherlands legation at Washington and by cable to Holland has so far brought no reply.

AMERICAN BUSINESS HAILS NEW RUSSIA

INFORMATION BUREAU HERE

America's business men yesterday at a luncheon given under the auspices of the American-Russian Chamber of Commerce at the Hotel Biltmore, formally welcomed and pledged whole-hearted support to the new Russia. As a token of the Russian Government's appreciation of the warm reception accorded the new régime, announcement was made by its representative that an official information bureau would be opened in this city and Chicago to cement trade relations between the two countries.

Hayden B. Harris, First Vice President of the Chamber, presided in place of President Charles H. Boynton, now on his way to further American business interests in Russia. Seated at small tables were 300 representatives of the leading commercial, financial, and industrial organizations of the United States.

Vice President Harris assured the Russian officials that Russia would be given full support by all American business interests. He then introduced Dr. Shatzky, who said that on Tuesday he received a cable from Professor Milukoff, Minister of Foreign Affairs at Petrograd, authorizing him to go ahead with the plans for the information bureau. He aroused great enthusiasm when he declared that "through a glorious bloodless reconstruction," (he said he did not like the word 'revolution,') all class and racial barriers, including discriminations against the Jews in Russia, had disappeared forever at one blow.

"The Jewish question," the speaker continued, "is now settled by Russian democracy, once and forever. The Jews are now being appointed Senators." Dr. Shatzky received great applause when he insisted in emphatic terms that Russia, under the new leadership, was not to be coerced into signing a separate peace with Germany.

Dr. E. E. Pratt, Chief of the Bureau of Foreign and Domestic Commerce, told his hearers that the crisis which had occurred in Russia was not only the most dramatic event of the great war, but was undoubtedly one of most far-reaching consequences to Russia and to the future of the continent of Europe. He said that Americans interested in further developing the trade of the two countries should keep in mind, without any misconceptions, the part Germany played in the development of commercial Russia. Dr. Pratt added:

"The success of American capital in Russia will depend to a large extent on the spirit behind the American dollar. With the establishment of a stable form of Government and the resumption of peace there is no reason why young Russians should not come to the United States for their technical education, or why American technical men should not go to Russia to assist in building up a system of schools there."

The other speakers included Professor Harper, C. J. Medzikhovsky, and A. J. Sack, all of whom predicted a great future for American trade and investment in the former empire. Railroad construction especially was advocated as an attractive field for American capital.

NO IDEA OF RESTORING CZAR.

Berlin Lokal-Anzeiger Scoffs at Idea of Such a German Policy.

Special Cable to THE NEW YORK TIMES.

BERLIN, Tuesday, March 27.—The Lokal Anzeiger, taking a coldly calculating view of the Russian revolution like most of the other German papers, says:

"In the foreign press we frequently find comment on the German attitude regarding recent events in Russia to the effect that Germans feel the downfall of Czarism like a blow against ourselves, and, therefore, have planned to take the best advantage of the general confusion in Russia to restore the Czar to his throne by force of arms.

Any one looking for such an attitude on our part may find evidence for his purpose in the extraordinary leaders of a few isolated papers, but the great majority of German papers, like the German people, have no such idea and are as little inclined to fight for foreign Czarism as for the reverse. They will only fight for their own country.

"It is not the form of Government of any nation, be it monarchical or republican, that determines the nation's attitude against us. However, only very ignorant minds could conceive such a grotesque opinion of the policy as imputing the idea that Germany felt called upon to restore a Government which in 1914 failed to withstand the imperialistic and nationalistic influence of certain cliques and even identified itself with the latter till March, 1917.

"As long as this Russian policy of expansion continues, and there seems to be no change in views,) so long shall we see in it our most dangerous enemy, whom we shall fight with all the means in our power, no matter whether Russia is governed by Czarism or republicanism.

"Germany has no interest in destroying the liberties of the Russian people, achieved after long and sanguinary battles, but she must be prepared to make futile the imperialistic menaces of large and influential Russian cliques."

RELIEF STEAMER SAFE.

Belgian Commission Announces Its Arrival at Rotterdam.

The Commission for Relief in Belgium announced yesterday the receipt of a cable stating that another relief steamer had arrived in Rotterdam, passing through the German blockade unmolested. On being asked for his opinion of the effect of the withdrawal of diplomatic and relief officials from Belgium, Hugh Gibson, until last year First Secretary of the American Legation at Brussels, said yesterday:

"The feeding of children in Belgium must continue. Withdrawal of diplomatic officials and of workers of the Belgium Relief Commission will not hinder or disturb the distribution of food supplies. The Dutch authorities and relief committees are certain to carry on the work with efficiency."

WANTS BUILDING OF IDAHO RUSHED

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Secretary Daniels has taken up with the New York Shipbuilding Company, whose works at Camden, N. J., have obtained contracts for a large amount of new American warship construction, the question of expediting the building of the dreadnought battleship Idaho, which is due for completion under its contract on Nov. 9, 1917, but which has been delayed by strikes and other causes.

The Idaho, New Mexico, and Mississippi are units of a class, each displacing 32,000 tons, all of which were authorized by Congress on June 30, 1914, and which were due for delivery to the Atlantic battleship fleet toward the end of the calendar year, 1917. Each of these dreadnoughts is to mount twelve 14-inch guns of a new model, more powerful than the big guns on the battleship Pennsylvania, now the most powerful unit in the navy. The New Mexico and Mississippi are to be ready for commissioning in October, slightly in advance of the expiration of their contract date of completion, but the Idaho cannot be commissioned before the end of 1917 unless the company greatly hastens work on that vessel.

COWLE, 'MAN NEXT DOOR.'

Named in Earle Divorce Suit, He Denies Charges.

Special to The New York Times.

WHITE PLAINS, N. Y., March 28.—At the trial today before Supreme Court Justice Arthur S. Tompkins and a jury of the divorce suit brought by Theodore Langsbury Earle, son of Ellis Potter Earle, millionaire and President of the Nipissing Mines Company and Director in several copper companies, against Mrs. Hester Renwick Earle, testimony was given by two former maids of the Earles that F. Youlden Cowle, a corporal of Company L, Seventh Regiment, and next-door neighbor, frequently called at the Earle residence in the absence of the husband. They said Mrs. Earle frequently took Cowle out riding in the automobile of her husband while he was at his office in Manhattan.

It was also brought out that Mrs. Earle and Cowle had one of the maids lock them in the cellar, and that they sat on the cellar steps for three hours. During this time one of the maids said she served them twice with candy and cakes.

Earle is a graduate of Cornell University and the Columbia University School of Mines. The Earles were married at Montclair in 1911 and have two little children. They lived in Brewster before they moved to White Plains.

When Mrs. Earle brought an action for a separation, charging cruel and inhuman treatment, in 1916, her husband started the divorce action.

Mrs. Earle, who is a pretty brunette of medium height, is 24 years old. She will take the witness stand tomorrow.

Her principal witness today was Mr. Cowle, who admitted going to the Earle home while Mr. Earle was absent and staying there on several occasions until 10:30 P. M., but only for friendship sake.

"What did you do?" he was asked by Justice Tompkins.

"Oh, we talked about athletics and politics and Mrs. Earle played the piano."

Mr. Cowle said he and Mrs. Earle were on the cellar steps only five or ten minutes, but that they had candy during that time. He denied ever having made love to Mrs. Earle.

LONG TROUSERS

THIS is a serious question in all Knickerbocker families. But while the change is a radical one, it need not be costly.

We specialize on first-long-trouser-suits, and mark them at an unusually low figure, on the sound theory that we can afford to make a financial sacrifice for the privilege of educating the young man to the advantage of wearing Franklin Simon Clothes, which, unlike other ready-for-service clothes, are exclusively hand-tailored in New York.

We hope you will come in with your son, Madam, as we don't believe that his first pair of long trousers entitles or enables him to dispense with your advice on fabrics and colors.

SAYS HE MADE 250 GERMAN FIRE BOMBS

TOOK PRODUCT TO WOLPERT

Was Supplied with Lead Pipe and Aluminium and Set Up Shop on Liner's Deck.

Ernst Becker, one of the six alleged German plotters now on trial before Judge Van Fleet in the Federal District Court, admitted on the stand yesterday that he had helped to make about 150 incendiary bombs. The Government contends that these bombs were meant for the cargo holds of ships plying between the United States and allied ports, and timed to explode when the ships were at sea.

Becker's testimony reflected upon Dr. Scheele, the indicted chemist, who is a fugitive from justice, and Earl Schmidt, chief engineer of the North German Lloyd liner Friedrich der Grosse. Schmidt is one of the six now on trial.

Becker, through an interpreter, said he was 33 years old, tht his home was in Germany, that he had a family, and that he is an electrician employed on the Friedrich der Grosse. He said he first met Dr. Scheele in the Spring of 1915 at his office in Clinton Street, when he went to see him after Schmidt had told him to go there to find out a way to make "a little extra money." In great detail Becker told about the conversation he had with Dr. Scheele, in which he learned what he was to make and received a sketch of the device. He said he got the lead pipe for the bomb shells from Dr. Scheele.

"Where did you saw the pipe?"

"In the workshop on the deck of the Friedrich der Grosse, near the crew's quarters."

"When you first went to Scheel's place who first let you in to see him?"

"I think von Kleist, but I'm not sure. I was alone with Dr. Scheele in the laboratory, one story up."

The von Kleist referred to is Charles von Kleist, an American citizen, and one of the defendants.

On the second visit to the factory Becker said he talked to Scheele, who told him to come again next day to see if he should make more shells. He said he asked Chief Engineer Schmidt whether to go to see Dr. Scheele the second time, and that Schmidt told him he could go.

On the second visit, the witness said, Dr. Scheele said he would like to have about 100 or 150 tubes like the samples.

"Scheele asked me when I could have them finished," said the witness. "I said I didn't know. I would have to try. I told him I'd have to have more lead. He asked me how much and I said, 'you know how much. I don't.' He then said he'd send me ten or twelve feet of the lead pipe and solder, too."

Becker said he then went back to the ship and asked Schmidt if he might make them.

"Schmidt told me I might make them and the other engineers could help me, so they could be finished quickly," he testified. "He said I should keep track of how many I made and the expense."

The witness said he got $15 a month from the North German Lloyd and that he sent $15 a month to his wife and family and kept $1 for himself.

The court wanted to know how he got his clothes out of $1 a month.

"I've had this suit seven years," replied the witness.

Becker said Dr. Scheele never told him when he was making them, what the cases were for, and that no one else ever told him. He said Dr. Scheele told him on May 11, 1915, to make no more cases because he had enough. He and the other engineers had made about 250 bomb cases up to that time.

At the conclusion of Becker's direct examination a statement he made when arrested was read. In it he said that in each of the little wooden boxes, a satchel full of which he admits having taken the Captain Wolpert, Hamburg-American pier superintendent, were two incendiary bombs. He denied that he had told the police that he had heard of fires on various ships about ten or twelve days after he delivered the satchel to Captain Wolpert.

After the statement had been read Mr. Osborne, attorney for the Government, showed Becker one of the bombs and Becker admitted that the shell was one of his own making.

"Do you know what a bomb is?" asked Mr. Osborne.

"Yes," Becker answered, "it is something like what a Zeppelin drops sometimes."

"And you didn't know what the things you were making were bombs?" Mr. Osborne asked.

"No, I did not."

"Why didn't you try to find out then?"

"Because Germans are expected to do as they are told and not to ask questions."

Becker said he had served in the German Army, but had not served in the navy.

Becker said that in the last six shells he made he put in aluminum partitions from metal given to him by Dr. Scheele. The witness also said he had taken a satchel full of little "boxes" to Captain Wolpert, from Dr. Scheele. Wolpert is under indictment in the same case and is soon to be put on trial.

Wilhelm Parades, another defendant, will take the stand when the trial is resumed at 10:30 this morning.

30 DAYS FOR HEARING FREIGHT RATE PLEAS

NEW COMPLICATION FACED

Companies Not to Confine Case to Increases of Wages Under the Adamson Law.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Suspension pending investigation of all increases in freight rates proposed by the railroads of the country in their forthcoming applications for a general advance appeared tonight to be the course which the Interstate Commerce Commission probably would follow when the various railroad groups filed their proposals.

The suspension, it was indicated, would not be for the customary period of six months, but probably for a period not to exceed sixty days, during which the commission would undertake a comprehensive inquiry into the reasonableness of the railroads' demands. Hearings will be held, it is understood, during the period of suspension, and shippers, commercial and civic organizations, State and utilities commissions and other interested parties will be heard.

Eastern railroads, it is understood, virtually have abandoned their plan to have the proposed increase of 15 per cent. go into effect without investigation by the commission, and have intimated that they either will withdraw the part of their petition asking that the rates be permitted to become effective without suspension or will content themselves with a ruling to limit the period of suspension to thirty days in view of what they characterize as an emergency situation.

Hale Holden, President of the Chicago, Burlington & Quincy, representing the Western group of roads, announced after a conference late today with Commissioner McChord that Western roads would file their formal petition for incraesed rates next week. At the conclusion of yesterday's conference Mr. Holden asked the commission to indicate if it would entertain such a petition. He said today that the petition would be filed without waiting formal decision on this point by the commission.

Mr. Holden did not indicate what percentage of increase the Western roads would ask for, but it is understood that they will join the Eastern lines in asking for 15 per cent. Committees of both Eastern and Western lines, Mr. Holden said, were working on the proposals at New York.

In coupling with increased wages paid under the Adamson law, increases in the cost of fuel, supplies, equipment, and various classes of labor, as reasons why a general advance should be authorized, officials think the railroads have added to the complexities of the case and have taken a course which will tend to lengthen the proceedings preliminary to a decision. The commission is understood to have been prepared for an application to advance rates sufficiently to reimburse the roads for additional wages paid under the Adamson law, but almost totally unprepared for petitions asking for a sweeping advance in all rates based on other grounds as well.

Before a general advance could be authorized, it was said authoritatively today, the railroads must show in unmistakable manner the justification for such action.

Petitions pending and about to be filed in the general advance cases overshadow all others before the commission and the early hearings in prospect may disarrange, to some extent, cases already on the docket. It was said that a postponement of argument in the Intermountain rate cases, down for April 3 and 4, might be ordered in view of the latest developments and of the influence which a decision on the proposed general advance might have on the Intermountain rates.

Appam Turned Over to British.

NORFOLK, March 28.—The United States District Court here today, on order of the Supreme Court, turned over the prize ship Appam to Floyd Hughes, representing the British African Steamship Navigation Company, owners of the vessel prior to her capture by the Germans. What disposition the owners will make of the Appam is not known. The German defendants are ordered to pay all costs in connection with the case.

GERMANS IN MEXICO SUBJECT OF INQUIRY

HOSTILE INTENT SUSPECTED

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Government officials are making careful investigation of insistent reports that Germans were entering Mexico in large numbers and assembling at Torreon and other points in Mexico where they were reported to have been welcomed by Mexican officials.

These reports are of more than ordinary concern to the United States in view of the discovery of the Zimmermann plot to ally Mexico and Japan against the United States in the event of war between this country and Germany. According to published reports Germans have gone from this country, Cuba, and South America into Mexico, and it has been intimated that many of them were reservists, and were concentrating in Mexico with a view to making it a base of activity against the United States.

Whether inquiries have been made regarding the attitude of the Mexican Government toward Germans flocking there with possible hostile intent, could not be ascertained today. But it was admitted by an official that the State Department had heard the rumors of the assembling of Germans in Mexico.

The War Department issued the following statement this afternoon:

"Press reports have indicated recently that many Germans are crossing into Mexico. Reports from our intelligence officers, which include records of the immigration officials at various points, do not confirm these reports. Since Feb. 3 there have been but three crossings at Brownsville and seventy-eight at Laredo, and none at other points. Of these crossings at Laredo thirty-nine have returned to the United States. The El Paso report shows many crossings back and forth, but only by residents in the usual transactions of business."

The denial did not deal with the reports, known to have reached the Government through various channels, that Germans were assembling at Torreon or at other points in Mexico. Nor did it refer to the reported movement of Germans from Cuba and the east coast of the United States by water to Mexico, or the exodus of Germans from South American countries into Mexico and Central America.

The number of German subjects in Mexico is said to be comparatively small, the highest estimate placing them at 50,000. Precautions of a far-reaching nature are understood to have been taken by the War Department to meet any trouble along the border.

Diplomats asserted that the German influence with the Mexican Government appeared to be greater than that of any other country, the United States not excepted. Among the annoyances to which the United States might be subjected through Germans' influence in Mexico, where they are believed to enjoy comparative freedom of action, were said to be the following:

Organization of raids into American territory.

Use of wireless apparatus in Mexico for transmission of military and political information to Germany and to German sea raiders.

Use of Mexican territory as a base for hostile operations against the United States, and the use especially of Mexican waters as supply bases for German submarines should it be decided by the German Admiralty to dispatch submarines to American waters.

Direction from Mexico of plots against the peace of the United States with Latin American countries, through the instigation of uprisings, especially in Central America.

Embroilment of the United States in fresh disputes with Mexico, which might welcome war between the United States and Germany as offering an opportunity to press diplomatic actions in her own advantage.

Mexico is anxious to have the United States lift the embargo upon the exportation of arms and ammunition to Mexico, but it was believed by close observers of the Mexican situation to be improbable that the embargo would be removed for a considerable time, and certainly not during any difficulties in which the United States might be engaged with another foreign power.

Dr. Alfredo Caturegli, financial agent here of the Carranza Government, said that he would deny officially all reports that German intrigue was being carried on in Mexico with the sanction of the Government.

It was stated officially that Germans had been warned to leave the oil districts around Tampico at the instance of Ambassador Fletcher after an investigation of the situation there by Francisco Siller, an agent of the Foreign Office. Mr. Siller is now in the United States on his way to Europe, where he will represent Carranza near the allied governments. It is understood that he was appointed at the suggestion of Ambassador Fletcher.

Luis Quintilla, an official of the Mexican Government in Paris, is quoted in recent papers from Mexico as admitting that a large amount of pro-German work was being done in Mexico and that a number of newspapers were either owned or subsidized by Germans.

WOULD BAR ALIEN TEACHERS

ALBANY, March 28.—Assemblyman Daniel F. Farrell, Democrat of Brooklyn, introduced a bill today which requires that every public school teacher in the State must be a citizen of the United States. The bill has the support of Miss Grace Strachan, a District Superintendent, and several officials of the New York City public school system. It was introduced because several teachers in the De Witt Clinton High School and other schools in New York City refused to sign a pledge of loyalty to the American Government, which was circulated by the Board of Education at the direction of the Mayor.

Do you live as man was meant to live?

Never in the history of the world has there been a greater demand for red-blooded men and women than today. But we cannot be red-blooded men and women, and shirkers too. Nature sees well to that. She demands that we earn health and vigor by daily maintenance of laws of right living.

Oxygen is the breath of life. Let your supply of oxygen be wholly cut off, and you die. But if your entire system be charged with oxygen, you live as men and women were meant to live.

You draw in your daily supply of oxygen through the lungs. Millions of red blood cells carry it thence to every cell and tissue of your body.

Do you not see how vitally important the blood cells are? How can you do your best work—how can you live life to the full—if they are lacking in quantity or quality?

If they are so lacking, begin today to live right. Build up your blood with ample sleep, plain, nourishing food, systematic exercise and deep breathing. Under ordinary conditions, you do not need medicine. However, men and women often cannot or will not keep up a diet so well balanced that it provides all the elements needed to nourish the body and brain cells and tissues. Such men and women can take to advantage

"The Red Blood Builder"

Pepto-Mangan is more than a temporary tonic. It is a true blood food. It fills the red blood cells with new vigor. It increases their number. It helps to make you the red-blooded man or woman Nature meant you to be.

Physicians everywhere endorse and prescribe Pepto-Mangan, because they recognize its unequalled blood-building value, its worth as a general tonic and appetizer, its agreeable taste, its ease of digestibility. They have used it for 25 years.

Be sure that you get Pepto-Mangan only in the original bottle and sealed package shown here, and bearing the name "Gude." That is the only way to protect yourself against substitutes and counterfeit packages. You are entitled to the genuine. Sold at all drug stores.

ADVERTISEMENT. ADVERTISEMENT. ADVERTISEMENT. ADVERTISEMENT.

To the People of New York:

We challenge those who want war against Germany to answer this, point by point.

1. In consequence of indefensible wrongs committed against us by Germany in her attempt to starve England, President Wilson has declared and is just putting into operation a policy of "armed neutrality." This means the vigorous defense of American ships and American rights on the sea without involving America in a European quarrel. We ought not to abandon this policy before we have tried it.

2. Our entrance into the war would lengthen rather than shorten it. The bankruptcy of England, the starvation of Germany, together will bring a negotiated peace. But if we go into the war and back up England's credit she will renew her determination to go on until Germany is crushed. This will renew Germany's determination to wage war to the end, and the conflict will be dragged out indefinitely.

3. We cannot destroy German militarism by defeating Germany. Militarism is a condition that can be destroyed only from within by the democratic impulses of the people themselves. France tried to destroy German militarism from the outside in 1806. Under Napoleon she crushed Germany more completely than the Allies can ever hope to crush her now. That was not the end, but the beginning of modern German militarism. Fight Germany to a finish, to a "dictated peace," and you will only inflame the military passions of her people and strengthen the power of Prussian tyranny over them.

4. By going to war, we cannot vindicate those points of international law which give us a legal right to declare war on Germany. The whole body of international law has broken down among the belligerents. England and Germany have both violated international law. Nations in a death struggle always violate it. International law cannot be upheld by joining in such a struggle.

Thus without the possibility of doing honor to our country, or of shortening the agony of the world, or of destroying militarism, or of upholding international law, we should be entering into war for no intelligible gain whatever.

5. Not only should we gain nothing by going to war, but we should lose our historic opportunity to bring this war to an end by mediation, and to play the decisive part in establishing a secure organization of nations of the world. President Wilson defined the highest aim of this country in his speech to the Senate, demanding peace without victory and a league of the nations to insure peace. If we enter the war our hope of fulfilling this aim is forever lost.

6. Besides losing our opportunity to serve the world we should lose the best of our own possessions—democracy and individual liberty. True democracy and liberty cannot live in a militarized state. Conscription follows war, universal militarization of the mind follows conscription, the suppression of free speech, the enslavement of public opinion, the suspension of the writ of Habeas Corpus follow that, as they have in every belligerent country. War means absolute command; it means dictatorship. In the effort to conquer Prussia, England is being prussianized, and we should be prussianized even more rapidly, for the traditions of individual liberty are less anciently established among us.

We are the only great people left who are free from those habits of servile obedience to authority which are the direct result of war and militarism. At this crisis and parting of the ways let us have the courage to stand up for our liberty and independent manhood against the menace of a militarized America. We cannot bring democracy to Europe by going to war. We can preserve Democracy in this country by staying out.

This is your patriotic duty. Uphold the President in his policy of armed neutrality. Hold Congress to that policy. We must act only for defense. Let there be no recognition and no declaration of a state of war.

WRITE YOUR CONGRESSMAN IMMEDIATELY THAT THERE MUST BE NO DECLARATION OF WAR, TELEGRAPH THE PRESIDENT.

DENIES GERMANS TOOK FRENCH RELIEF FOOD

LONDON, March 28.—Referring to the statements made in The Times by J. P. Whitaker, an Englishman, who declared that he had just escaped from Roubaix, where he lived for thirty months during the German occupation, that trainloads of foodstuffs sent by the American Relief Commission had failed to arrive there, the Directors of the commission in London gave The Associated Press tonight the following denial:

"We can state positively that not a single carload, much less a trainload, of the commission's provisions, once started for Roubaix or any other town occupied in France, ever failed to arrive. Not only is this true, but the actual figures of the receipt and consumption of the food made out and attested by the French local committees at Roubaix, and checked by the commission's American delegates in the Lille district, correspond within a few pounds in the total of many tons with the figures of the amount of foodstuffs forwarded by the commission from Holland and Brussels to this district.

"In fact, the total receipts of the whole 1,882 French communes provisioned by the commission show a loss of but two-tenths of 1 per cent. on 485,000 tons of foodstuffs sent in by the commission from Holland and Brussels.

"With regard to the statement of Mr. Whitaker that the Germans had taken American white flour and substituted rye flour adulterated with sawdust, the facts are as follows:

"This German flour was not substituted for any American flour, but was provided by the Germans from the native French crop as an addition to the American ration, and was the same flour mixture of rye and wheat as furnished to the German soldiers. This addition amounted to 100 grammes daily per person until November, 1916, and now is 180 grammes daily.

"The commission feels that the dissemination of unverified reports of this kind tends to destroy the confidence of the charitable world in the work of distribution and, therefore, directly decreases the amount of food sent to these people, who, even according to Mr. Whitaker's reports, would be starving but for this food."

Fire and Water Spread Alarm Among Tenants in Mutual Life Building.

POLICE CLUES FAIL AT HILAIR INQUEST

CHAMBERMAID AIDS ALIBI

Her Testimony Indicates Woman Was Murdered While Accused Man Was in Brooklyn.

Two leads investigated by the police in their search for the person who strangled Mrs. Elsie Lee Hilair in bed at the Hotel Martinique on March 15 last were destroyed by the testimony at yesterday's session of the inquest. Dr. Albert B. Pacini of the Central Testing Laboratory testified that he had examined a yellowish cloth fibre found under Mrs. Hilair's finger nails, but, so far as he had been able to discover, it did not match anything that had been worn by Benny Sternberg, who is in the Tombs, charged with the murder. The finding of this fibre had been kept quiet, and the police had been working on the theory that Mrs. Hilair had torn it from her assailant's clothes in her death struggle.

Dr. Pacini also testified that he had examined three chestnut-colored hairs on a brush found in her room. This brush is the property of the hotel, and had been sent to Mrs. Hilair's room because she registered without baggage. It was the theory of the police that this brush, presumably fresh when sent to her room, had been used by the murderer, and that the three hairs might lead to his identification.

"I compared these hairs with Benny's," testified Dr. Pacini. "They were not similar."

The District Attorney's case was further weakened by the testimony of Marion Hanley, a chambermaid at the hotel, who swore that she had changed some of the face towels in Mrs. Hilair's room at 7 o'clock in the evening on March 15. She did not notice, she said, until she was leaving the bathroom, that Mrs. Hilair was apparently asleep on the bed. The defense contends that it would have been impossible for Sternberg to have been in the room subsequent to the maid's visit and have reached Brooklyn in time to have been in the places which it expects to prove he visited on the fatal evening.

Yesterday's session of the inquest was marked by many arguments between Assistant District Attorney Talley and Coroner Riordan. Mr. Talley told the Coroner that the District Attorney and the police were still trying to find some evidence that might lead to the identification of the murderer, and he begged that Riordan refrain from compelling the police to reveal information that might make it impossible to clear up the case.

The Coroner continued to press the inquiry, however, and again asked many questions indicating that he thought Mrs. Hilair had died of a hemorrhage. Mr. Talley, in despair, finally offered to permit Jonah Goldstein, counsel for Sternberg, to question the police at length if, in turn, the prisoner also took the stand, but this offer was not accepted. Coroner Riordan said the inquest was a "fishing expedition," which was not subject to the usual rules of practice and evidence, but he finally consented to an adjournment until tomorrow afternoon, after the jurors had expressed their willingness to let the hearing go over until that time.

Mr. Talley took the case to the Grand Jury yesterday morning, and will summon additional witnesses before that body today. One of the witnesses was Miss Irene Murray, niece of the dead woman's husband, who accompanied Mrs. Hilair on some of her outings, and who gave the police the information that led to the arrest of Benny Sternberg. Although the District Attorney did not so express himself, it is said that he expected the Grand Jury to return an indictment before the inquest is resumed tomorrow.

BARYE BRONZE STOLEN.

Statuette Worth $1,800 Taken from Knoedler & Co.'s Store.

Some person walked into the art firm of M. Knoedler & Co. at 556 Fifth Avenue in the lunch hour yesterday and stole a bronze statuette valued at $1,800, made by Barye in 1865, entitled, a "Tiger Attacking a Deer." The statuette was twelve inches long and six and one-half inches high, and weighed twenty to twenty-five pounds. It was shipped here from Europe about a year ago.

The art work was standing on a table in the rear of the room of the main gallery. Yesterday when one of the employes returned from luncheon he noticed that the base was unoccupied. The police were notified at once and they are trying to find out how the thief got out of the store unnoticed with an article so heavy.

DENIES ATTACK ON WILSON.

Dr. Jordan Says He Did Not Criticise President's Policies.

Dr. David Starr Jordan, Chancellor of Stanford University, who was reported to have been hissed for what was construed as an attack on President Wilson in an address to a body of Princeton students at Princeton on Monday, denied in a letter to THE NEW YORK TIMES yesterday that he had attacked the President.

"As the statement affects me personally," said Dr. Jordan, "I must say that I did not attack President Wilson nor any of his policies, either directly or by implication. Nor have I any evidence of a change in his policies since his epoch-making efforts for peace a few months ago."

LAKEWOOD FOR THE POTATO

Special to The New York Times.

LAKEWOOD, March 28.—Lakewood society has accepted the potato. George J. Gould, it is understood, has directed that many of his acres be planted with potatoes. Mr. Gould is quoted as saying he expects to make considerable money out of the venture. Sherwood B. Ferris, who made a fortune in the manufacturing of waists, will also plant many acres of potatoes.

The Rockefeller estate, the Denton Farms, the Tilford holdings, and other properties will produce hundreds of barrels of the once neglected vegetable.

JOSEPH GETS HOME TO FIND TOYS THERE

BROTHERS, COUSINS, TOO

They Enjoy His Elaborate Wardrobe Before Mrs. Petconk Arrives with Her Long-Missing Son.

Little Joseph William Petconk and all his property were moved yesterday afternoon from the luxurious residence of his adopted parents, Mr. and Mrs. Leo D. Shire, at 41 West Eighty-second Street, to the modest apartment at 898 Union Avenue, the Bronx, occupied by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. Petconk, who were forced by poverty to abandon the child four years ago, and got him back through the Supreme Court. Mrs. Shire, who had treated the boy as her own son for a year, but yielded him without a legal contest when it was proved that the Petconks were his parents, did not accompany the child because she was loath to endure a parting scene which would only make it harder for the boy to become used to his new surroundings. Two of her sisters, however, escorted him and his mother, Mrs. Helen Petconk, on the journey.

Joseph went without misivings because he had so far only a slight conception of the revolution in his affairs. He understood that he was going to be with some new relatives, but not that he was going to part from his foster parents. The truth will be broken to him gently and gradually. A. Petconk, the father, who earns $26 a week as a plumber, remained at work during the day, and did not make the acquaintance of his well-dressed little son until evening. While the mother, who does a thriving dressmaking business in the front room of the apartment, was getting her son, her workroom was filled with little relatives waiting to welcome Joseph.

Out on Union Street children who lived nearby were gathered to see the home-coming. In the workroom were William, 7 years, and Eddie, 3 years, brothers of Joseph, and Abie, Joey, and Samuel, his little cousins.

They were making merry over Joseph's return with Joseph's toys and furniture which had been sent on ahead of him. Eddie was trying out his once prosperous brother's little chair and table, while William was darting into aunts and relatives with a kiddiecar, which had just arrived. Cousins Abie and Samuel, who had slipped into a bedroom to investigate a box which had arrived from Shire's, came back in excitement with some astonishing statistics.

"He has four pairs of shoes besides these he has on," said Abie. "He has seven pair of gloves, most of them kid gloves," said Samuel.

This box also contained a number of suits of clothes and many pairs of stockings, hats, toys, and other personal property. These things were so interesting that Joseph himself attracted but slight attention when he arrived shortly after 5 o'clock. He looked very sedate in spectacles with black enameled rims. He was smartly dressed in a black overcoat and black leggings, but the young relatives did not seem to feel at a disadvantage in this particular, for they were all arrayed in new shirts with bright stripes and red neckties.

Joseph identified his kiddiecar, his chair and table, and then turned his attention to his brothers and cousins, but broke off in the midst of the introduction to inquire: "Where is the dining room?" He pressed this question over and over again, but finally postponed the matter until after he had been reintroduced to his family. Then he said good-bye to the two sisters of his adopted mother, and they departed, one of them weeping.

THREE MUSICIANS HEARD.

Jacobinoff, Mrs. Young-Maruchess, Violinists; F. Moore, Pianist.

Sascha Jacobinoff, violinist, gave a recital yesterday afternoon in Aeolian Hall, and Mrs. Young-Maruchess, violinist, and Francis Moore, pianist, together gave one in the Comedy Theatre. All three have been heard here before, and gave pleasing, if not highly important, performances.

Mr. Jacobinoff, a young man, played with energy and earnestness, and a powerful tone concertos by Narolini and Saint-Saëns, and groups of smaller pieces. He has talent and schooling, but has not yet arrived at some of the finer graces of his art, which he may acquire with thought and a riper experience.

Mrs. Young-Maruchess played Handel's sonata with pianoforte accompaniment in G minor, Rimsky Korsakoff's fantasie on Russian themes, not an enlivening composition; two bourrées by Bach, and some other pieces in a sincere and artistic manner, showing also good schooling and intelligence.

Mr. Moore was heard both as her accompanist and as a solo player; a pianist of musical feeling, capable, when the matter in hand is not too exacting, as perhaps Chopin's "Barcarolle" was. In pieces by Beethoven, Handel, and Bach he gave pleasure by a clear-cut, incisive, and sympathetic performance.

THEATRICAL NOTES.

The Metropolitan's annual benefit for the Opera House emergency fund will be given this afternoon. The performance will begin at 2 o'clock and will include the second scene from "Hansel and Gretel," second act from "Aida," third act from "Tosca," and fourth act from "Rigoletto." Among the stars will be Caruso, Barrientos, Delaunois, Garrison, Matzenauer, Muzio, Rappold, Amato, Botta, Didur, De Luca, Martinelli, and Segurola, together with Conductors Hageman, Papi, and Polacco.

One of the largest theatre parties of the season was given last night at the Hippodrome by the officers of the United States Realty Company, which owns the property. All of the officers and department heads of the company and its affiliated corporations were included in the party, for which 4,182 seats were reserved.

Will Rogers, who is on tour with the "Follies," will return to the New Amsterdam roof, the scene of his former triumph, next Monday night. The "Follies" will end its tour Saturday night in Baltimore.

John R. Raphael's dramatization of George du Maurier's novel, "Peter Ibbetson," will be presented in the Republic Theatre next month under the direction of Lee Shubert. This version, which is in four acts and an epilogue, is the one produced at His Majesty's, London, two years ago.

Gabrielle Dorziat, who was seen with William Faversham in "The Hawk," will make her first appearance in vaudeville soon in a playlet by Max Marcin, entitled "The Purple Vial."

$2,000,000 INSURANCE ON H. P. DAVISON'S LIFE

Partner in Morgan Firm to Double Amount Already Held, Partly to Offset Heavy Taxes.

Henry P. Davison, a partner in the firm of J. P. Morgan & Co., is expected to take out in the next few weeks additional insurance policies on his life for an aggregate of $1,000,000. He is already carrying that amount, so that if the new applications are made and accepted he will be one of the most heavily insured men in the country. J. P. Morgan recently made arrangements for the writing of new insurance on his life which may run to an ultimate total of $2,500,000.

Harold Pierce, a general agent in Philadelphia for the New York Life Insurance Company, has written both policies. It is understood that Mr. Davison's will be endowment insurance, a form which he has always favored. Most of his policies have been 20-year endowment, and the earlier ones, taken out in 1889 and subsequent years, have matured and been paid.

It was said in insurance circles that Mr. Davison had been led to double his insurance by two principal considerations. The first is the desire to leave his estate in possession of a large amount of cash, so that it will not be necessary to disturb any investments. The second is the advisability of offsetting the heavy demands made by the inheritance tax, and possibly other taxes which may arise out of the war. Mr. Davison will be 50 years old on June 18, next.

Many of the larger insurance companies are not accepting policies for the maximum permitted under their rules. The largest single policy ever written by several big companies is $200,000, and they have refused recently to take that much on any one risk. The New York Life will apportion the Davison insurance among a large number of companies.

COLUMBIA IN 'HOME, JAMES.'

The Columbia University Players presented their annual musical comedy in the ballroom of the Hotel Astor last night and so dispelled all doubt as to the presence of Spring. Their latest offering, called "Home, James," is the work of some half-score of Columbia grads and undergrads. Herman A. Axelrod, a veteran of a number of 'Varsity shows, and Oscar Hammerstein, 2d, which means that he is a grandson of the immortal Oscar, are credited with the authorship of the libretto, and Robert K. Lippmann composed more of the tunes than any other one composer. The list of those who contributed other numbers includes Kenneth S. Webb, Roy Webb, M. S. Wolff, Robert A. Simon, Frank Padwe, Edgar Wolfe, Cyril S. Laub, and G. M. Watts.

It was evident at many points throughout the two acts that the youthful authors know their Broadway below 116th Street. The names they gave their characters, for instance, suggested other districts than the bone-dry neighborhood of the campus. Pol Roget, Virginia Dare, Gideon Guiness, and Benny Dictine were a few of the liquid sounding names of the people of the play. Then the piece was practically without plot, after the current vogue, the settings showed the influence of the Urban school of decoration, and the second act was saturated with Hawaiian atmosphere.

Mr. Hammerstein played the rôle of a French waiter in a fashionable restaurant and Ormond V. Gould, a recruit from the Princeton Triangle Club, was a comedian of the modern school who simplify matters for the audience by admitting that they are comedians. More spontaneous in his comedy than either of these was H. William Hanemann in a feminine rôle.

The other principals were Emile E. Gyas, Leonard S. Sowar, Laurence H. Nichols, I. Samuels, John D. Beals, Jr., Randolph M. Saville, Karl Fischer, James D. Herbert, Philip B. Leavitt, L. F. Dickinson, Herbert W. Forster, Joseph Crowell, and I. Samuels.

An audience that filled the ballroom saw the performance and applauded the awkward antics of crew and football men in frocks that showed their biceps. The performance will be repeated every night during the remainder of the week and Saturday afternoon.

THE SCHOLA CANTORUM.

A Concert of Folk Songs from Eastern Europe.

The second concert of the Schola Cantorum, which was given last evening in Carnegie Hall, was devoted to "folk music of Eastern Europe." Under this general classification Mr. Schindler had arranged a program of much variety. Russian songs naturally occupied the largest place upon it, but there were none more remarkable in their exotic character or more interesting musically than the two traditional Yiddish songs. One of these, "Auram," shows curious linguistic peculiarities and is musically influenced by the Russian folk tunes; the other, "Eili," an "incantation," much sung by Russian, Polish, and New York Jews, is based on synagogal melody, of strange and seizing emotional appeal.

Of the Russian songs several are used by Rimsky Korsakoff in operas; these and others were presented in arrangements made by Mr. Schindler. In one case a ballad-like poem by Messrs. Schindler and Deems Taylor was fitted to four Ukrainian songs. Another song, "The Prisoners in the Caucasus," a Cossack lament, was noted down from the singing of Little Russians in New York. The last on the program was the well-known "Ei Uchnyem," a Volga boat song.

The singing of the chorus fully sustained the reputation it has made in its recent concerts; it was fresh and youthful in quality, vigorous, elastic, and well finished. The music was well mastered and the spirit understood and conveyed. Several solo passages were sung by members of the society in voice so excellent and style so intelligent as to speak much for the material of the chorus. Mr. Carlos Salzedo, harpist, assisted. At the end of the concert "The Star-Spangled Banner" was sung, the audience joining in it.

Newsboys' Benefit at Hippodrome.

The annual entertainment for the benefit of the newsboys of New York, under the auspices of the newspapers of the city, will be given on Sunday night, April 15, at the Hippodrome. The Friars and Green Room clubs will contribute numbers to the program and a long list of artists from current attractions have volunteered their services. George M. Cohan has agreed to appear, and among others will be Leon Errol, Raymond Hitchcock, Frank Tinney, Anna Wheaton, Joe Jackson, Irving Berlin, the Arnaut brothers, and Rock and White.

CIRCUS ON DRESS PARADE.

Last Rehearsal Held Preparatory to Opening of Season Today.

The Barnum & Bailey Circus will give its first performance of the 1917 season in Madison Square Garden this afternoon. The doors will open at 1 o'clock, and the big pageant which starts the show this year will swing into the arena an hour later. The last rehearsal and the first full-dress one was held in the Garden last night before several hundred invited guests of the circus management. It was still going on at an early hour this morning.

Among the acts seen in New York for the first time are those of the Frank Cherry Troupe of bar performers, Miss Leitzel, a little aerial performer who has the whole Garden to herself when she shows, and who is expected to prove one of the sensations of the present season; Miss Ruth Budd, another of the 1917 top-liners, who is a trapeze performer; the Randows, who tumble down through the collapsible tops of many tables piled one upon another; Cheret, the Spanish clown; the Mangean troupe of seven persons, whose specialty is a tandem somersault, and Solomon, a little man, who, disguised as a chimpanzee, performs so realistically that half those present last night did not know he was human until they were told of it.

NATIONAL DEFENSE AND THE GUARD LOBBY.

A lobby of National Guard officers hamstrung national defense by securing in the National Defense act a system of double control, the so-called federalization of the militia. National defense implies exclusive national control of all the military forces of the United States. "To cut the national defense up into forty-eight parts," as Governor Whitman says, "is not possible." "It is one big individual task." The dual scheme was quickly tried and found wanting on the border. The men of the National Guard who served there are almost a unit in denouncing the injustice, the inefficiency, the failure of the double system.

Now, when the country is over the edge of war and the necessity of universal military service under Federal control is unmistakable, the National Guard Association is listening to pleas for a universal service in the National Guard, for forty-eight little armies, subject to politics, for a congeries of divided, local, and inefficient forces. The volunteer system has broken down. Let us continue, under universal training, the paralyzing intrusion of State military authority and officialism in the army of the nation.

General O'Ryan, head of the New York National Guard, believes in the magic of names. Call the National Guard "the National Army" and all will be well. The Regular Army and "the National Army" will be distinct, and the General Staff at Washington will have "a National Army section." General Mann of that General Staff, uttering the all but unanimous opinion of professional soldiers, says that the militia system "may be worth while for State purposes, but not for Federal."

General O'Ryan speaks of "the failure of our people adequately to sense Europe's Armageddon of human slaughter, grief, and destruction." How well he "senses" it appears in his proposal to devitalize compulsory training and prevent adequate preparedness. He foresees and weeps over "the death and burial of the National Guard." What are the fortunes of some officers of the National Guard, for he speaks for them, not the body of National Guardsmen, to the fate of the United States, facing great perils, too long almost helpless in a world in arms, and at last awakened to the need of providing by universal national military service that "citizenry trained" which the Hay bill does not furnish, which it is so ludicrously and tragically far from furnishing?

It is a time for plain speaking. The Hay law is a failure and a fraud. Compulsory military training, not national, split up among forty-eight States, forty-eight headed or headless armies, will be a failure and a fraud.

A large national patriotism must prevail over this patriotism of the armory club, this parochial and separatist spirit. At least the young men in the National Guard of New York are sick to death of the peddling politics, the hidebound ideas of the "guard lobby," its stubborn efforts to continue under universal service the evils, the incompetencies, the divisions, the petty and pompous class notions and ambitions of the volunteer system. The young men want, they see the imperative need of, universal service under Federal control. They do not propose to be misrepresented by the inveterate politicians and incurable Bourbons of the guard lobby. They will go to the ironically named "National Defense Council" of the National Guard Association today and make heard among these counselors of national military weakness the voice of courage, of wisdom, of military efficiency, of men who are resolved that the armed strength of the nation shall be trained, co-ordinated, be able to strike, if need be, scientifically, with united force, not be impaired, divided, frittered away.

GERMANY'S RELIGIOUS LEADERS.

In years to come historians will not overlook the attitude and utterances of German Church leaders during the great war. Last year the clergy, in the Church press and in pulpits, unanimously approved the killing of patients and nurses in English hospitals by Zeppelin bombs, asserting that the piratical airships were "instruments of God." This directed the attention of the outside world to subsequent expressions of opinion by German theologians.

Among those who have recently addressed the German public is the Rev. Dr. Baumgarten of Kiel University, who asserts that the nation's military strength is due to Divine favor and sees in Hindenburg a leader selected by God's providence. Another, the Rev. Dr. Vogel, also speaking of Divine aid, declares that the Kaiser is the "entire world's Man of Hope." The Rev. Dr. Johannes Muller says that it is "in God's name that Germany is now using her very sharpest weapons," the ruthless submarines. He appears to have some misgivings about the result of the war, but tells the people that even defeat will be a part of God's plan for their ultimate welfare. "Our Kultur among all the nations has been destroyed, but God will make full recompense." If at the end of the war only "a remnant" of the nation should survive, God will be with it and will develop it, "opening for us a new land of possibilities which no enemy can take from us, though the world were full of devils. The enemy may condemn us all to hell, but so long as God believes in us it will be all right."

Surely it is remarkable that the religious leaders in a nation of high intellectual rank should believe and say that God, to show His love for the German people, has planned and approved the repudiation of treaties, Zeppelin cruelty, submarine piracy, the shelling of relief ship sailors in lifeboats, foul use of foreign embassies and consulates, and the work of bomb plotters who have taken the lives of many innocent workmen and caused great loss of property in neutral countries. Has Germany become a nation of paranoiacs?

THE ONLY WAY.

The German order making prisoners of all American relief workers in Belgium, including our Minister, Brand Whitlock, and his staff, removes all doubt as to the course the United States Government should pursue. When Congress assembles on April 2 it must forthwith declare war against Germany. A declaration that the state of war exists no longer befits the unprecedented situation created by Germany's brutalities. It would be a paltering measure, having the air of seeking to jockey Germany into the position of the aggressor. We have no need to do that. She is the aggressor, she has committed a thousand crimes against us, she has given us such unbearable provocations to war that the only course open to us, as a self-respecting nation, is to declare it and make war upon her with all the force we can summon.

What Germany calls a "news quarantine" is but an imprisonment of Minister Whitlock and the legation staff with all the Americans in Belgium, to be held incomunicado for the period named. The Imperial Government held Ambassador Gerard a prisoner in Berlin for days, it will now detain Minister Whitlock for weeks. There is but one reply to such affronts and injuries.

A direct declaration of war has many advantages over any other course. It is the only fitting response to the provocation given. It is the only one worthy of a great nation. No other will meet the demands of the American people, justly angry at these repeated outrages. To declare that a state of war has existed since some given date would in effect condone the many murders and lesser crimes committed by Germany prior to that date. The long score of her accumulated offenses and acts of faithlessness is our provocation, it calls for retribution, we must declare war and wage war until the Hohenzollern is brought to reason or, like the Romanoff, to his end.

BACKWARD AND DOWNWARD.

The useless destruction wrought in the Departments of the Oise and the Aisne forces the world to a reluctant conviction for which the preceding atrocities of the war had prepared it. It is that something new has been let loose on this planet, something very old that is new only because for hundreds of years it had ceased to be and had been thought to have perished with the progress of civilization. For centuries we have grown so accustomed to the idea that cruelties in war are inflicted only for some military object that it has been impossible to accept the idea of cruelties inflicted merely for hatred and spite, destruction inflicted for the sake of destruction. With each new horror we have cast about for a reason. In the presence of the attempt to punish the French people by making Northern France uninhabitable it is plain that there is no reason; and there is no escape from the conclusion that the men who ravaged those departments, and who announce their intention of obliterating life from the other departments as they retire to the frontier, are actuated by precisely the same motives as those who swept down from the northern forests upon the dying Roman Empire, or those who made war terrible to the New England and Virginia settlers and the Western pioneers.

This reversion, this traveling of the road to yesterday, would not have been deemed possible by Germans any more than by other men a quarter of a century ago. Germans, in common with the rest of mankind, believed that the book of Attila the Hun, of Genghis Khan, was forever closed. August Wilhelm Heffter, the German authority on international law, wrote in his "Das Europäische Völkerrecht":

> Civilized nations recognize in war a condition forced by necessity, an inevitable evil, which should not be carried beyond what necessity requires; in which man is not armed against man for mutual destruction, but State against State, each seeking by its resources of attack and defense to overcome the other. Therefore it is the highest principle, consecrated as well by reason and humanity as by interest, to "inflict on your enemy no more injury than is demanded for the accomplishment of the purpose of the war."

"As well by reason and humanity as by interest." In the days of Attila, in the days of Powhatan, the men who served those chiefs had not learned to recognize this higher self-interest. To recognize it, no less than to recognize the voices of "reason and humanity," was a mark of advancing civilization, and the steps upward thus taken by mankind were fondly believed to have been taken forever. It could not have been believed by a German like Heffter, any more than by other men, that in modern times the same blindness to the higher self-interest—to say nothing of humanity—would be displayed that was a mark of the savagery which Captain John Smith found on the banks of the James River in 1607. Gibbon, closing his history of the fall of Rome, speculated on the possibility of a new attack on the civilization we have raised. "The reign of independent barbarism is now contracted to a narrow span," he said; but, he added, "Yet this apparent security should not tempt us to forget that new enemies and unknown dangers may possibly arise from some obscure people, scarcely visible in the map of the world." He never dreamed, any more than did Heffter, that the new barbarism might arise not from some unknown people, but in the very centre of "the map of the world."

In a footnote to Heffter's observation, above quoted, F. Heinrich Geffcken, editor of the seventh and eighth editions of his work, says:

> Between the Middle Ages and modern times stands the lamentable period of the Thirty Years' War and the forays of Louis XIV. against Holland and the Palatinate, in which pillage appears to have become the object, burning and murder the methods of war.

An exception, he thought it, to the new order, a last momentary reversion to the condition out of which mankind has slowly climbed. He could not foresee that a new Tilly would arise in his own country, and that in the twentieth century the practices of the Thirty Years' War would be resumed as if not a day had intervened. Indeed, the German name may be less tarnished by Tilly than by Hindenburg. "The prayers of innocence," Schiller records, "excited some compassion in the hearts of the Germans, but none in the breasts of Pappenheim's Walloons." In "the lamentable period of the Thirty Years' War," so one would judge from this sentence, Tilly's soldiers were a little more accessible to the voice of "reason and humanity" than Hindenburg's retreating soldiers in the tortured, mutilated, devastated land of Northern France.

THE RAILWAY RATE DISPUTE.

During the conference at Washington on Tuesday regarding the general advance in railway rates twenty-five telegrams of dissent were received. Interstate Commissioner Clements said that "the House was full of them" already. The Public Utilities Commission of Kansas sent a representative to express its protest, because the railways really do not need the money. The united railways replied that they proposed to take the question before every State commission in the Union. While this is the hostile reception of the proposal for a general advance, organization is under way to resist the advance in specific rates and charges. The Boston Chamber of Commerce heads such action by New England commercial organizations. Our own Merchants' Association is leader of similar opposition on behalf of local interests. Everybody is willing that the rates of everybody else should be increased, but everybody will join the movement to prevent the increase of anybody's rates. How can rates be raised when nobody wants it done except the railways?

The Interstate Commission thinks that if there is to be an advance of rates the odium of it should be borne by those responsible for the costs of which the railways most complain, that is, by Congress, because it passed the Adamson law. The Commission thinks its contribution to prosperity by keeping rates down discharges its duty, and is willing to leave to Congress the duty of keeping wages down. The President thinks otherwise. He withdrew his request to Congress that it should empower the Commission to increase rates on account of the increase of wages in the eight-hour law, because the Commission already holds the power which the Commission thinks Congress should use. It is perhaps the first case on record in which the Commission has been held to responsibility for the use of power which it disclaims, or in which it was not ready to promise anything wanted if only its power were increased. But there is an obstacle to getting anywhere by that route. The Commissioners are not elected.

It is different with Congress. Its action can be controlled at the polls. And responsibility really rests with Congressmen and their electors for the policy which the Commission is executing. It is not possible to blame the railways for the embargoes which shippers so clearly prefer to service that they might secure by giving the railways straw with which to make bricks. There is no more prosperous or better managed railway in the United States than the Union Pacific. No railway has better credit, or needs assistance less. It reports a decrease in net earnings for February of 43 per cent., due to the increase in the month's account of taxes, and of wages under the Adamson act. Its President declared before the Joint Congressional Committee on Interstate Commerce:

> The responsibility for the railroad development of this country * * * rests primarily on Congress. Whenever the Government regulates rates and financial administration of the railways, and regulates the borrowing of money and the issuance of securities, it relieves the railroad officers of the responsibility of providing and developing transportation systems, except within the limits of the revenue that can be realized from such rates and under such restrictions.

That comes pretty close to showing who is to blame for the embargoes and for the check to the growth of the railways which is such a threat to the country's future prosperity. The placing of the blame is the first step toward a remedy.

"OR TOBACCO."

A joker has been discovered in the Chamberlain Army bill, which passed the House, but not the Senate, at the last session. The bill includes this section:

> Section 39, Intoxicating Liquors—That no person, corporation, partnership, or association shall sell, supply or have in his or its possession any intoxicating liquors or tobacco at any military or naval station, cantonment, camp, fort, post, officers' or enlisted men's club, navy yard or aboard ship, which is being used at the time for the purpose of training under this act.

The joker consists in the two words "or tobacco"; and violation of the section is made punishable by one year's imprisonment or $1,000 fine. The Cleveland Leader comments:

> It seems probable that the words "or tobacco" were inserted by some Congressional jester, insensible to the full idiocy of his act. Even a fanatic could hardly have proposed such a thing seriously.

On the contrary, it seems probable that the words "or tobacco" were inserted for a purpose by some one having full knowledge of what he was about. No law would have a worse effect on enlistments than a law prohibiting soldiers and sailors from using tobacco. In Europe every effort is made to supply the men with it, and it figures largely in relief funds. The insertion of such an apparently ridiculous provision was probably deliberate and done with the purpose of discouraging enlistments. It should come out of Section 39 before the bill comes to enactment, and the Military Affairs Committee should keep a sharp lookout for further innocent-looking innovations from the same hand.

TOPICS OF THE TIMES.

Propagandists Harshly Characterized. Some excellent advice to Germans living in this country appeared in the afternoon edition of the Staats-Zeitung on Tuesday, warning the Kaiser's subjects here resident that the treatment they would get in the United States in case it went to war with Germany would depend on their own conduct and the constancy with which they remembered that "they were on foreign soil that was not exactly pro-German."

Besides that, it characterized as "these fools, these adventurers," the Germans who have done things and made speeches here "that merely provoked disaster, but never contributed one iota toward aiding the cause which they professed to serve." That was an explicit, or almost explicit, confession that all of the elaborate and laborious—and extremely expensive—propagandist work done here during the first and second year of the war was worse than useless, so far as making friends for Germany was concerned, and added to it was the further statement that "no one transgresses more against the Germans living here than the German who imagines that he can wage war on the Allies by means of attentats of the mouth or the hand."

That is, of course, quite true, but it must have been most unpleasant reading for those whom it condemned. In effect, not only did it describe them as plotters who violated the neutrality of the country in which they were guests, but it denied to them the possession of any of the wonderful efficiency so proudly claimed by themselves and so often admitted even by their enemies. Coming from the source it did, this must have been hard indeed to bear, for nobody likes to be called a bungler.

The New Yorker Herold yesterday morning kept to what for a German-American paper is the better position of proclaiming to all and sundry that, "should the United States declare war against Germany, we will show the world that the oath of allegiance which all American citizens, whether of birth or adoption, have taken still holds without any additional declaration on our part, and that, as between our native and our adopted lands, love for and allegiance to our adopted land is supreme. And our actions will show that our words are sincere."

This Seems No Year for Sports. Here as in the other country that devotes much of energy and attention to athletic games—or rather in the other country that formerly did so—even the prospect of war has led to a revision of the program for sports. In England, for some months after the great conflict began, an unwise effort was made to continue not only "business as usual," but play as well, and the result was the creation of much ill-feeling. This was directed particularly against the members of the professional football teams, and they were the objects of criticism, the bitterness of which is quite comprehensible, for continuing their customary activities while other young men less vigorous than themselves were volunteering for service at the front. The other great British sport, racing, also came in for condemnation for much the same reasons.

These mistakes on the part of the players and followers of games apparently are not to be duplicated here. The colleges are giving up, one after another and rapidly, the plans they had made for the coming season of sports, and, though the professional baseball players are still at what they call work in their Southern training camps, their managers are all announcing that if war should come the struggle for pennants would probably end before it had begun. A Summer without baseball would have been almost unimaginable in this country, not long ago, but times have changed, and the national game will go into temporary eclipse "for the duration of the war" without exciting more than the sorrowful comment of the "fans" that of course, in the circumstances, there was nothing else for it to do.

Taking the country over, the members of the major and minor leagues would make, if organized together, several regiments from which much in the way of special efficiency could safely be expected. They are not only strong and vigorous, but they have had training of a sort capable of rapid transmutation into military efficiency. Of course, however, there will not be regiments of ball players. They will be scattered, but they will not be lost, any more than will the college athletes who are hurrying so eagerly to the colors at the first call for real men. Their pacifistical comrades feel no such promptings, but they are too few to be more than a negligible little humiliation. They will promptly sink into oblivion for the excellent reason that, in the days seemingly soon to come, for them to invite further attention would be distinctly dangerous to their precious skins.

When We Hear the Band Play. Among the recent changes in our army regulations, those relating to the national anthem deserve the attention of the civilian officials in several States who are trying to standardize and regulate the respect which we should all show when "The Star Spangled Banner" is played.

Soldiers, whether in uniform or out of it, are expected to stand at salute from the beginning to the end of any rendition of the anthem that takes place where they are present. Also, when an army band plays the tune, it must be played through, without the repetition of any part not required to be repeated to make it complete.

These rules might well be followed outside of the army as well as in it, at least to the extent that their observance is practicable for civilians.

Refitting Ruined Homes of France.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

Every one must indorse what you say of the reparation due to the martyred provinces of France. To any woman who has the housekeeping and other domestic interests of a family for her own business there is something peculiarly hateful in the picture of humble household things wantonly befouled and ruined—the little domestic possessions of peasants who had nothing else; the simple crockery and utensils, the chairs and tables they lived with, the beds where they slept—all deliberately defiled and broken and trampled under foot. And I long to see a commission appointed, when the war is over, whose business it shall be to see that Germany refits those ruined homes in kind; that the indemnity shall be paid not in money only, but in chairs and tables and teapots and kitchen pokers out of every house in Germany in due proportion to its size and equipment. No house ought to escape; every family ought to contribute—to be levied upon for the actual articles needed in the ravaged provinces. Belgium and France, even with money in hand, would have trouble at first to find a place to shop. Let the commission go shopping for them—in Germany.

Mothers of Soldiers.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

A charming singer has recently declared in several papers of the New York press that she would shoot her son (if she had one) before letting him go to war, and she calls upon the mothers of all countries, America included, to kill their sons also before letting them go to a battlefield.

I wonder what the heroic mothers of France and England, of Italy and Germany think of such a statement! Those immortal mothers who have seen their sons return from the battlefield covered with glory and honors—and those other mothers whose hearts are bleeding with their sons who lie dead, unburied in a field of carnage and idealism!

There are many of us American women who hope they will not take Mme. Gluck's statement as the sentiment of American womanhood. God keep us from war is our supplication, but if it must come it will find the real American woman ready to encourage, to sustain, and to comfort our men, be they our sons, our husbands, fathers, or brothers—or just some other woman's man!

War has always been, and it will take a greater power than that of those women who don't want their sons to fight to prevent war, and it seems to me woman's greatest mission today is to prepare the soul of her son to meet calamity—not run from it. Teach him love of country, to protect its honor as he would protect her honor! The brave man makes the noblest son!

ELENORA DE CISNEROS.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

In case it is decided to send troops to Europe, there is one phase of the situation that I have not seen any discussion of in the press and that is transportation.

Our army transports are few in number, and I doubt if any is capable of much over thirteen knots, and the number of private vessels suitable for purchase or charter is inconsiderable.

Would it not be better, on this account as well as for the moral effect, to send as many regulars as can be spared at the outbreak of hostilities, and follow them at intervals with other troops which, partially trained here, can receive the rest of their training abroad?

It would appear that the German liners are too much damaged to be available, and with the facilities at hand, if we first raise and train a large army in this country and then start in sending it overseas, much valuable time will be lost.

A War Lesson for Us.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The article by your correspondent, Wythe Williams, in this morning's TIMES is quite one of the best articles published since the war began. It vividly points out the picture of the devastation, needless ruin, and crimes of the Germans, and should be printed in pamphlet form and distributed broadcast to the American people to show what they might expect if the Germans ever get into this country or should win the war.

A COMMISSION ABROAD

To Keep Us Informed on How Best to Help the Allies.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

We have stood for peace as long as possible, but now war is forced upon us. We are not to war for any material or selfish advantage, but solely because a great moral principle is endangered. Viewed from any angle, it is democracy that we must rush to defend. We have not been militaristic, and therefore cannot immediately put armies in the field and send navies to attack. To be wise; to be humane, however, we should discover in the shortest possible time just what we can do at once to assist in bringing this war to a speedy end, crushing nothing but these hideous menaces to a decent national life and a proper social order, which have dragged on their devastating existence far too long.

Irrespective of any selfish ends or less noble motives which may be charged now or discovered in the future, England, France, and Russia with their allies have been fighting for the same world freedom. They are now well organized, and are occupying the whole terrain of operations. In view of these circumstances, it would seem our most sensible rôle to place at their disposal all of our resources which are immediately available while we are preparing to give other assistance. We could do this most effectively by establishing, at a convenient location in Europe, a commission made up of three men of business and affairs, an army officer, and a naval officer, all of high rank. This commission, in the confidence of the Allies, could learn quickly how we could help—what needs we could supply—what gaps we could fill. If gold is needed, if more food or general supplies would help, if the manufacture and shipment of certain munitions should be speeded up, if sea transportation should be augmented, if groups of men of particular training are lacking, if serious unsolved problems are waiting for design and invention, if a large army will be necessary eventually to establish peace and order—in short, the real needs of the situation could be cabled back to us, so that energetic steps might be taken to satisfy them.

Such an arrangement would enable us to take up our responsibilities immediately, without sacrificing to the slightest degree our independence of action in the event. It would give emphatic evidence to the world that we recognize a great moral issue in this war. If in carrying out the plan we give freely, keeping records of costs, for record purposes only, and not as debts, we shall indeed place ourselves in a high position. We shall demonstrate to all the world that democracy and social progress are really the jewels we treasure in America. We shall prove that in such a cause America's gold can flow out as freely as any and that American men hold life not more dearly than do their brothers in Europe.

GENERAL WOOD.

New York, March 27, 1917.

To the Editor of The New York Times:

The Administration has chosen a strange moment to administer to General Wood what appears to be a public snub; at least his transfer has not been couched in terms of compliment. Perhaps nothing that President Wilson could have done would so have shaken public confidence.

General Wood is the author and the embodiment of the country's present mood. He it was who made us realize the terrible dangers in which we stood through our lack of military preparation. He not only toured the country, and with deep moral earnestness besought the people to protect themselves, but, with the sagacity of a leader, he began to organize training camps. His spirit reached the young men who would, in case of war, begin the fighting. He thus created not only the emotion and the desire for defense, but the practical beginnings of an army.

In the war which we now face, the fighting will be done by the masses of the people. While masses cannot direct strategy or control in detail the advancement of Generals, our masses can and will control the general conduct and spirit of the war; and it is quite certain that the old military etiquette will be as completely swamped in America as it was in England, in France, and in Russia when the people once began to fight.

For the Administration in the present crisis to throw away its greatest asset in the way of popular confidence has cast into many minds a doubt as to whether the Administration is in earnest about the war. To blanket General Wood is the first thing that an anti-war party would have done, if it had come into power.

At the present moment the forces at work in America are so tremendous, and are in such a state of confusion, that one can not be sure what effect any particular move on the Government chessboard may have. It would seem, at any rate, as if this slight to General Wood must tend to increase his importance by focusing upon him the gratitude and admiration of every American who has watched his course.

JOHN JAY CHAPMAN.

"They shall not pass!" one said, and so the word
Through trench and dugout went:

"They shall not pass!" Each Frenchman's soul could feel
The words were forged in fire!

Their backs against the wall!

On came the driving mass!
But not a foolish boast had been the prayer:
"Please God, they shall not pass!"

"They did not pass!" The uncrossed, bloody goal
Ah! Those immortal words shall thrill the soul
Of multitudes unborn!

BIG JUMP IN FLAGLER STOCK.

Standard Oil Shares of Divorced Wife Increase $2,051,087.

On account of the remarkable increase in the value of Standard Oil stocks during the last year, the property of Mrs. Ida M. Flagler, divorced wife of the late Henry M. Flagler, is worth $2,051,087 more than in January, 1916. The total value of Mrs. Flagler's property, consisting mainly of Standard Oil shares set aside for her when she was divorced on the ground of lunacy, is $7,997,725.

These figures were shown yesterday in an accounting filed in County Clerk Schneider's office by Cornelius J. Sullivan and the Guaranty Trust Company, appointed a committee on Mrs. Flagler's property a year ago to succeed the late Andrew Freedman. They reported that the value of the estate when they received it was $5,724,805, and that the income from the property for the last year was $357,385. They paid out $135,576, and have on hand $7,997,725, of which $7,918,486 is in securities and mortgages, and the balance in cash. The total value of the Standard Oil shares is $4,346,538.

The largest Standard Oil holding in the group is 2,670 shares of Standard Oil of New Jersey, which increased $542,010 to $1,340,340. The next largest increase was $340,988 for 1,629 shares of Ohio Oil Company. A holding of 2,036 shares of Standard Oil of New York is now worth $431,692, but the increase has not been large. The next largest holdings were 1,343 shares of Standard of California, which increased $281,730 to a present value of $454,685, and 813 shares of Standard of Indiana, which increased $260,390 to $410,928. Twelve of the subsidiary Standard Oil stocks decreased a total of $26,827.

Baron William Waldorf Astor wants the residential restrictions on the row of eight old dwellings he owns on the west side of Madison Avenue, between Thirty-fifth and Thirty-sixth Streets, removed so that the block front may be used for business purposes. The zoning act which went into effect last July put the Baron Astor property, in the lower part of the Murray Hill centre, in the residential class. Through his lawyer, Henry W. Taft, of Cadwalader, Wickersham & Taft, a petition has been made to the Board of Estimate asking that the zoning act be modified so as to place Baron Astor's block in the business section.

A hearing was held this week on the petition before the local board, of which Borough President Marks is the head. Edmund L. Baylies opposed the change on behalf of the Murray Hill Association and other property owners, who fear that if the Astor block is taken out of the residential zone it will be an entering wedge for the more rapid invasion of trade in the old Muray Hill center.

The Astor block is directly north of the Altman store. On the opposite Thirty-fifth Street corner is the Episcopal Church of the Incarnation and diagonally opposite at Thirty-sixth Street is the home of J. P. Morgan, President of the Murray Hill Association, who has fought every effort hitherto made to permit business interests to enter the immediate locality. Borough President Marks will report on the hearing to the Board of Estimate and within the next month a public hearing will be granted.

LAWYER AROUSES GOFF.

Almeron H. Cole, of the office of James L. Quackenbush, attorney for the New York City Railways Company, told Supreme Court Justice Goff yesterday that he did not believe his client could get a fair trial in his court. An order was signed at once by Justice Goff directing him to show cause this morning why he should not be punished for contempt. Mr. Cole declined to say what steps he would take when called before the bar this morning.

The court order arose out of the trial of two out of seven suits brought against the New York City Railways Company by the occupants of an automobile which collided with a Lexington Avenue trolley car at Twenty-seventh Street and rebounded and struck a grocery store. Eight persons were in the car, and the chauffeur was convicted of using the car without permission and he didn't sue. Two of the suits came to trial before Justice Goff and in one of them the jury found for the railroad company. The other ended yesterday in a disagreement. Mr. Cole then asked Justice Goff to send the case back to the calendar, which is in charge of another justice, to be assigned to trial. Justice Goff denied the application and stated he would hold the action and try it himself. This led to Mr. Cole's statement and the contempt action.

WOMEN RUN WAR HOSPITAL.

A large gathering of women filled the ballroom at the Hotel McAlpin yesterday afternoon to hear Dr. Rosalie Slaughter Morton speak of her experiences in the European war. She spoke under the auspices of the New York Southern Woman's Patriotic Committee. Slips for enrollment were given out and many signatures were taken. The membership is not to be limited to Southern women.

Dr. Morton was in her war service costume, with short skirt and little Serbian cap. She told of the work women were doing in the Scottish Women's Hospital at Saloniki, where every part of the work, from the doctors to the cleaners, is done by women. She told of the twenty-five American women ambulance drivers and of the college women who were doing the menial work, there being no char women among those who volunteered their services.

NEGROES INVADING NORTH.

The past year's northward migration of more than 150,000 negroes and the prospect that another 100,000 will arrive this year, has furnished the city and Long Island, where many of them settled, with a problem, according to speakers at luncheon of Long Island business men, held yesterday in downtown Delmonico's, 56 Beaver Street. To help solve it, teams were organized to raise $100,000 for the Howard Orphanage and Industrial School at Kings Park, L. I.

L. Hollingsworth Wood, President of the Howard School Trustees, said the labor shortage had caused the negroes to flock North in great numbers and, as they were poor, they came to this climate without proper protection against pneumonia. George Foster Peabody, a Trustee of Hampton Institute, said that the national crisis, when every man was needed, should insure to the negro the right sort of treatment.

VILLA FORCES DEFEATED.

JUARAZ, Mexico, March 28.—Villa forces were defeated at Mapula, twenty miles south of Chihuahua City, yesterday by Carranza troops in command of General Murguia, according to unofficial reports received here today from Chihuahua City. All reports of fighting within the city were denied.

At military headquarters no message had been received from the State capital today and this was taken as an indication that there was no fighting in progress near there. Freight and express matter are again being sent south from here.

The defeat of the Villa troops at Mapula was believed here to have prevented Villa from carrying out his announced plan of attacking Chihuahua City today. An unconfirmed report received here today said that General Amaro, with 4,000 troops, had arrived at Chihuahua City from Torreon to reinforce General Murguia.

OLIVER TO GOVERN OUR NEW ISLANDS

NEW NAME VIRGIN ISLANDS

Special to The New York Times.

WASHINGTON, March 28.—Rear Admiral James H. Oliver, Chief of Naval Intelligence, was today named by Secretary Daniels as Governor of the new American insular possessions heretofore known as the Danish West Indies, which are to be formally and officially taken over by the United States Government on Saturday, March 31, under the name of the Virgin Islands.

These islands will be in the possession of the American Government when Congress assembles in Washington on Monday, April 2, to determine the attitude of the United States respecting the existence of a State of war between this country and Germany. It is a historical irony that these islands should pass into the hands of this Government formally under these circumstances, in view of the known wish of Germany that the United States should not obtain possession of them and the fact that the Berlin Government is generally understood to have been responsible for the rejection by one branch of the Danish Parliament some years ago of a treaty which would have transferred them to the United States for $3,000,000, instead of the present purchase price of $25,000,000.

The ceremonies of transfer will take place at St. Thomas on Saturday. On the same day Secretary McAdoo in Washington will deliver to the Danish Minister a United States Government warrant for $25,000,000 in payment for the islands. While the Navy Department will have charge of the Government of the islands for the present, the Treasury Department will take over the collection of the customs and the Department of Commerce will take charge of all lights and light houses.

Just who will receive the islands on the part of the United States depends on the result of a race between the United States naval vessels Olympia and Hancock, both of which have been ordered to St. Thomas. Should the Olympia, Admiral Dewey's Manila Bay flagship, be first on the scene, Commander B. B. Bierer, will represent the United States. Should the Hancock beat the Olympia Commander E. T. Pellock will officiate. Rear Admiral Oliver, the first American Governor of the islands, will leave for his new post on Saturday. He will serve until by legislation Congress fixes the permanent form of government for the islands.

The Danish flag will be hauled down by a representative of the Danish Government, the senior naval officer of that country on the spot, and the American flag will be raised by the representative of the United States. Admiral Oliver is expected to make St. Thomas the seat of the Government, although it is understood that the Danish Governor divides his time between that island and St. Croix.

Explanation was made today at the Navy Department that the Government of the new group under Admiral Oliver would be temporary, that is, until Congress decides as to the form and the details. It is considered likely that a civil government will be established, with the new possessions under supervision of the Navy Department, on the lines of the civil government of Porto Rico under the Bureau of Insular Affairs of the War Department. The name, "Virgin Islands of the United States," also is said to be only temporary, and a suggestion has been advanced that they be named the Dewey Islands, in honor of the hero of Manila Bay.

After a visit to Secretary Daniels this morning, Secretary McAdoo said that the Treasury Department had not yet completed the details for the payment of the purchase money, and at the department it was said that no arrangements yet had been made for the presence of any representative of that department at the transfer ceremonies or for taking over the customs houses. It is assumed that free trade between the new dependency and continental United States will go into effect at once.

No information could be obtained at the Danish Legation as to who would accept payment on behalf of that Government for the islands, nor as to the Danish end of the details. As yet, it is understood, no consideration has been given to the subject of defenses for any of the islands, but it is expected that the matter will soon be taken up.

ASSOCIATES QUIT BLANCHE.

Leave Malakite Inventor Alone in Case Against Government.

LONDON, March 28.—When the Government inquiry into the malakite, or white powder syndicate, was resumed today, Sir Theodore Cook and other former backers of Joseph C. Blanche withdrew from the case. This step left Blanche alone in his effort to prove the charges that the British military authorities had failed to make use of his explosive and had prevented him from introducing it in France.

In view of the statements on behalf of the Government on Monday that the white powder invented by Blanche was dangerous and useless, Sir Theodore, who was Chairman of the syndicate, and his associates apologized to the Government and all other concerned, stating that, owing to lack of information, they had been induced to take a position which the facts revealed by the Government showed was entirely wrong. They said they would be glad to give the Government every assistance in their power in the further procedure.

Charles L. Pack Elected President in Place of John Hays Hammond.

Charles Lathrop Pack has been elected President of the World's Court League, succeeding John Hayes Hammond, who resigned because of ill health. Mr. Pack has long been actively identified with the League, and is an authority on conservation matters, especially those connected with forestry. For many years he has been prominently identified with movements for strengthening national resources.

He is President of the National Emergency Food and Garden Commission, a Trustee of Western Reserve University, member of many clubs here and, in Cleveland, a Director of the Seaboard National Bank, and one of the founders of the Cleveland Trust Company. For years he has advocated the plan for an international tribunal of justice, modeled after the United States Supreme Court and affiliated institutions, on lines laid down by Elihu Root when he was Secretary of State.

NO BAN PUT UPON MARRIAGE

Miss Loretta Dermody, telephone operator in the office of City Clerk Patrick J. Scully, has received many queries lately from young women to know if marriage licenses are being refused.

A rumor has circulated, particularly among young women employed in department stores, that no marriage licenses are being issued because the Government wants all the young men it can get to enter the army.

Mr. Scully said that the bureau was still doing business at the old stand, although the number of licenses issued was somewhat below normal because of Lent.

BRIDALS HASTENED BY WAR PROSPECTS

B. J. Carroll, Jr., of 7th Regt., Marries Miss Mary Clapp in St. James's Church.

SQUADRON A MEMBER WEDS

Another of the many wedding hastened by the prospects of war was that yesterday of Bradish Johnson Carroll, Jr., a member of the Seventh Regiment, N. Y. N. G., who has been at the Mexican border, and Miss Mary Eunice Clapp, a daughter of Mrs. E. Mortimer Ward by her first husband. It had been planned for June 6, but it took place at 4 o'clock yesterday afternoon in St. James's Protestant Episcopal Church, Madison Avenue and Seventy-first Street, the ceremony being performed by Bishop Frederick Courtney and the Rev. Dr. Frank Warfield Crowder, rector of the church. The edifice was decorated with Easter lilies on the altar and tied in clusters on the nave. The chancel was banked with marguerites and palms and church pillows were wound with smilax and pink rambler roses, and other pink roses were arranged as though growing from the base.

There was a full choral service, the surpliced choir leading the bridal procession to the chancel, followed by the ushers, and they by the bridesmaids and maid of honor. The bride, who walked with her stepfather, Mr. Ward, wore a soft white satin gown with the V-neck outlined by point lace worn by her grandmother and mother at their weddings. A pearl girdle confined the waist, and the long sleeves were of white gauze. The cloth of silver train depended from the shoulders and the long tulle veil, held over her dark hair by a diadem arrangement of lace points, was fastened to the end of the train by lace points, the veil being fastened to the end of the train by orange blossoms across the entire breadth of train and veil. She wore a diamond pin, the bridegroom's gift, and carried orchids and lilies of the valley.

Miss Dorothy Clapp, the bride's younger sister, was the maid of honor, in pale pink taffeta, the taffeta overdress, in coat effect, being cut low and square at the top, and bands of silver embroidery outlined epaulets and side pockets and the edge of the jacket, from which depended a straight full skirt of pink tulle. Her large pink tulle and lace hat had a pink rose on one side, and her bouquet of Ophelia roses was tied with blue ribbons.

The other attendants were similarly ogwned, but had pink ribbons on their bouquets. They were the Misses Marion Carroll, a sister of the bridegroom; Emmalena Sizer, Anna Ballard, and Mrs. Harold Hartshorne.

Mr. Carroll's best man was his cousin, Aymar Cater, and the ushers were Herbert Clapp, a brother of the bride; O. Carley Harriman, Horace Allen, Paul Bonner, L. Havemeyer Butt, and William S. Fairchild.

The wedding reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, 129 East Seventy-third Street, which was gay with pink roses and Easter lilies. Mr. and Mrs. Carroll will make their home in Garden City, L. I.

In St. James' Church, Long Branch, N. J., at 1 o'clock yesterday, Miss Felicity Campbell Clark, daughter of Mrs. W. Campbell Clark of 410 Park Avenue, New York, and Richard Bache Duane, son of Mrs. James May Duane and member of Squadron A, New York, were married by the rector, the Rev. Morton A. Barnes. Hurried preparations were made for the wedding on account of the bridegroom being called into service, as the original date was set for April 28.

The bride wore a gown of white satin and carried a bouquet of sweet peas. Mrs. W. Gill Wylie of New York, the bride's sister, was matron of honor, and was gowned in blue satin. The best man was H. Bartow Farr of New York.

ALBERT P. RYDER DEAD.

Albert Pinkham Ryder, whose death occurred yesterday morning, was one of the most interesting artists America has produced. Every picture that he painted was the result of years of reflection and experiment, and represented not only a deeply romantic temper of mind but infinite zest for perfection of craftsmanship.

Mr. Ryder was born at New Bedford, Mass., March 19, 1847, and died at Elmhurst, L. I., in his seventy-first year. He was a pupil of the National Academy of Design and later an Associate of the National Academy. He was made a National Academician in 1906. His personality was one of rare charm, but was known only to a few devoted friends, his absorption in his art causing him to lead the life of a recluse. Occasionally he wrote poetry.

Among his principal paintings are "Jonah," owned by Colonel Wood of Portland, Ore.; "Temple of the Mind," owned by Mr. Angus of Montreal; "The Flying Dutchman," owned by Mr. Gellatly; "Macbeth and the Witches" and "The Race Track," owned by A. T. Sanden; "Moonlit Cove," in the collection of the late Alexander Morton; "Siegfried and the Rhine Maidens," in the collection of the late Sir William Van Horne; "Interior of Stable," owned by Mr. Macbeth, and "Resurrection," owned by Mr. Montross. His work is also represented in the Metropolitan and the Brooklyn Museums.

AMERICAN RIGHTS

The American liner St. Louis answered the question and defied Germany's submarine order when she sailed, armed fore and aft, for the barred zone.

MOTHERS, DAUGHTERS AND WIVES OF MEN--

Have You No Hearts? Have You No Eyes? Have You No Voice? We Are Being Rushed to the Brink of War---and

YOU DO NOT WANT WAR

On April 2nd, Congress will meet to face the question, "Shall this country be plunged into war?" The war which has already sacrificed five million lives, desolated millions of homes, orphaned many millions of children, robbed a million mothers of their sons.

Your men are to be sent into this horrible butchery—your husbands, your fathers, your sons.

We have no REAL cause for war. The provocation is great—but we have not yet exhausted all the reasonable alternatives to ruinous war:

A CONFERENCE OF NEUTRALS.

The women of America do not want war. If their voices could be heard there would be no war. The West and Middle West are opposed to war. They do not realize how near we are to war.

KEEP AMERICA OUT OF WAR

The President and Congress are waiting to hear the voice of the people. It is not up to Congress to make war—it is up to the people. If the people are heard from there will be no war.

Money is needed to make the voice of the people throughout the land HEARD. Advertisements inserted in the leading newspapers throughout the West and Middle West will liberate the overwhelming peace sentiment there. Tens of thousands of telegrams, hundreds of thousands of letters will pour into Congress from the men and women who re-elected President Wilson because "He Kept Us Out of War."

This pitifully small sum may save countless thousands from a horrible death, save many thousands from a living death, crippled or blinded for life.

Send in what you can NOW. Don't delay. We must act at once. Send money by wire or messenger—we want to know TODAY how many papers are to be included.

Mothers, save your sons. Daughters, save your fathers. Wives and sweethearts, save your husbands and lovers. Write a message to Washington. Go to Washington, if you can, with the great peace delegation on April 2nd. Help us get that $200,000 within 12 hours. We are fighting your fight.

PLAYERS IN TRAIN WRECK

Special to The New York Times.

CORDELE, Ga., March 28.—After being delayed by a wreck, the Yankees and Braves arrived here late this afternoon and managed to squeeze in a six-inning game, part of which was played after the sun had set. The Braves won by producing better ball. The score was 3 to 0, and although Caldwell and Nehf, the left-hander, both pitched well enough, the Bostonian had the help of better support and the timely batting of the large Mr. Konetchy. Those were the telling factors.

The wreck involved a freight train, and, after being halted for a considerable time, the teams were transferred from one train to another. For a while they were scrambling all over the ties and Georgia scenery, weighted down with grips and other impediments. They were fortunate to get in a game at all, and did not start their contest until 4:45 o'clock.

In this, the first scrap with an outside foe, the Yanks suffered from lack of practice. They had not been in action for five days and were not keyed up. The Braves had been rainbound also, but not so long, and were more on their toes than the American Leaguers.

The batting was thin on both sides, but in one inning Konetchy hit over the left field fence for a homer, Kelly got in a scratch hit, Gowdy swatted safely on a hit and run manoeuvre, and Nunamaker failed to throw accurately in an attempt to block a double steal.

Konetchy batted in the third hostile run, but his hit would have been useless if Peck had not fumbled an easy grounder. Caldwell could have held the Braves to one run with perfect support, such as Nehf received, but he was not quite as steady as the left-hander.

Both pitchers had a lot of "stuff" on the ball, and, in addition, had the help of the waning light. Nehf was effective with men on bases, but in the fifth inning, when he wabbled, a fine catch in deep centre by Collins saved him. Pipp lammed to the centre field corner with two men on bases and Collins scooted back and plucked the ball out of the twilight.

Lee Magee and Peck bunched hits on Nehf in the fourth inning, but there were two out at the time. If Pipp, first man up in this inning, had not allowed himself to be caught napping by Gowdy, the hits of Magee and Peck would have produced some scoring.

The Yankees were captained by Baker today, but he was filling that position merely in pro tem. capacity.

CADETS TOY WITH ST JOHN'S.

Special to The New York Times.

WEST POINT, N. Y., March 28.—The Army began its baseball season today with a victory, swamping St. John's College of Brooklyn by 16 to 1 in a game played in football weather. The Cadets presented a varied assortment of pitchers for the collegians, but the visitors were unable to connect effectively.

Sam Strang's proteges showed promise of good play, their base running and fielding being of a high order today. Gerhardt's hitting was a feature. His six trips to the plate netted him five safe drives.

GIANTS FEAST ON DALLAS.

Special to The New York Times.

DALLAS, Texas, March 28.—The Giants ended their session in the Texas League this afternoon when they overwhelmed Dallas under a score of 11 to 0. This is the same team that humbled McGraw's regulars by a score of 2 to 1 in the first game down here this Spring. Since then the Giants have won nine straight from Texas League teams.

The same pitchers who baffled the Giants in the opening game were slugged for sixteen hits this afternoon. Furthermore, Dallas narrowly escaped being victims of a hitless game. McGraw turned loose a pair of left-handers—Schupp and Benton—and the lone Dallas hit was a single by Augustus in the eighth inning. Augustus, by the way, is the weakest batter on the Dallas team.

Behind Schupp and Benton the Giants put up a snappy and perfect fielding game. They also bunched hits effectively. Heinie Zimmerman wielded a wicked bludgeon. In five times at bat Zim made two doubles and two singles. He scored two runs, and all three of his assists at third base were corkers. Holke was the next most effective batter. He made three singles, drove in three runs, and laid down a sacrifice. Burns was up five times, walking twice and hitting for a home run and a double.

The Giants began scoring in the second inning. Lewis held them until the sixth, when they smoked him out of the box. Only twenty-eight batters faced Schupp and Benton. Of these only four reached first base—two on bases on balls and one by being hit. The locals never did advance a runner to second base.

Schupp passed the first man in the first inning, but the next batter hit into a double play. In the fifth, with one down, Palmer was hit by a pitched ball, but he was also doubled. Brooks walked with one out in the sixth, but was forced. There were two out when Augustus singled in the eighth.

The Giants have played Texas League teams every day for a week, and will rest tomorrow. There will be practice, however, at the local park. The Detroit series begins Friday at Fort Worth. Anderson and Perritt probably will pitch for New York in the opening game.

GIANTS' COLTS LOSE AGAIN.

Special to The New York Times.

Giants' colts arrived in this city last Giants' Colts arrived in this city last night from Sherman and today met the Denison Club of the Western Association in the first game of a scheduled series of two. The visitors were shut out by the home club by a score of 2 to 0, this making the second dose of whitewash for the colts in as many days.

The New Yorkers were dangerous in only one inning, when they had three men on bases and yet were unable to get a man across the plate. At all other stages of the game the local hurlers held them safe, allowing them only three hits in all. The home boys hit Causey, who pitched for the Giants, for eight solid blows, including two two-baggers. Hans Lobert, who is in charge of the colts, has called a meeting of his troupe for a heart to heart talk, and has also ordered batting practice each morning for the rest of the trip.

ROBINS BEATEN IN TENTH.

Special to The New York Times.

MEMPHIS, Tenn., March 28.—Ivan Olson, who helped the Superbas win their only game in the world's series last Fall in Boston, started the Dodgers on the down grade in their game at Russwood Park this afternoon by making a wild throw over Daubert's head in the eighth frame. Before the world's champions were retired they tied the score and finally won out in the tenth inning, 7 to 5.

With the score at five all in the tenth inning, Larry Cheney, who has been showing Manager Robinson more pitching than any of the veterans the last few days, appeared to have lost all sense of direction and had Catcher Miller darting from side to side back of the plate. Before he had a chance to settle down he walked three Red Sox, which along with a foolish peg by Miller and a long sacrifice fly gave the world's champions two runs, one more than enough to win the game.

It looked very much as if the Dodgers might tie the score in their half of the extra inning. Cutshaw had managed to reach third base, but neither Olson nor Miller could tally the Dodgers' little second baseman. Dutch Leonard of the Red Sox, who arrived here at midnight last night, had a conference with President Frazee over his contract this morning and came to terms tonight. Harry Hooper is expected to join the world's champions in Indianapolis next week.

TIGERS ARE BLANKED BY SETON HALL NINE

Special to The New York Times.

PRINCETON, N. J., March 28.—Princeton's baseball season was ushered in rather inauspiciously this afternoon when the Seton Hall College nine defeated the Tigers by a score of 4 to 0. Lack of outdoor practice, coupled with the cool weather of early Spring, caused the playing of both teams to be ragged. One error was chalked up against Seton Hall and three against Princeton.

The delivery of Chaplin, who started on the mound for Princeton, did not prove especially effective and the visitors were able to score in the first inning. O'Grady walked, was sacrificed to second by Gallagher, and came home on Heine's single to left field. Chaplin tightened up then, but the Seton Hall players solved his pitching for two other runs in the third and fourth innings. Ernest Savage replaced him at the end of the fifth and pitched excellent ball for the next four innings, although one run was made off him. This was due in large part, however, to the loose playing of his team mates. Savage, who played his first 'Varsity game today, gives promise of developing into a dependable moundsman.

FORDHAM SQUAD IS CUT.

Gargan Reduces Baseball Candidates from 60 Men to Only 27.

After a month and a half of preliminary work in the gymnasium and six days of actual playing outdoors on the 'Varsity diamond, the Fordham baseball squad was cut for the first time yesterday. Of the sixty men who have been trying for the places only twenty-seven were retained. Gargan picked two men for each post, and he plans to hold to this arrangement all during the year. However, of the eight pitchers who remain only two will be dismissed to the second 'Varsity. A year ago Fordham had only three twirlers, and after Collins injured his arm putting the shot all the work of the schedule fell on the shoulders of Joe Martin and McQuade.

Of the men retained by the coaches yesterday only four have won the baseball insignia, and of the others at least two-thirds are freshmen. Damico, the Captain, played third base a year ago, but he is the only veteran in the infield, while Shankey is the only familiar figure among the outfielders. The strongest position on the Fordham team is behind the plate, where McGinn and Sweetland will fight it out for the regular berth.

RED CROSS WILL BENEFIT.

CHICAGO, March 28.—Part of the profits of the Chicago club of the American League will be donated to the American Red Cross if the country becomes involved in war, Charles A. Comiskey, owner of the club, announced today on his return from the Mineral Wells, Texas, training camp.

"I think every club owner in the major leagues will do the same thing," Comiskey declared.

COLUMBIA CREWS ON RIVER.

Jim Rice released his Columbia University oarsmen yesterday afternoon from nearly three months of indoor work on the machines and sent five boats of aspiring 'Varsity and freshman candidates up and down the Hudson for the first river practice of the season. Water conditions were well-nigh perfect. The surface of the river was smooth, but the air was chilly and a strong wind whipped down under the Palisades.

The first crew, with Captain R. R. O'Loughlin in the bow seat, had the longest work-out of the fleet, being sent away from the boathouse at Edgewater, N. J., northward for about three miles and back to quarters again. No hard work was indulged in and frequent resting periods were allowed. Coach Rice did not make the trip out on the river in the coaching launch, but could see enough from the float to discover that no particularly superior form was displayed by the oarsmen on their first day of outdoor practice. The coaching launch is broken down and it may be several days before Rice will have the opportunity to direct the entire work-out.

Duncan Leys, stroke of the 'Varsity at Poughkeepsie last year, was unable to report, with the result that the first combination had a more or less haphazard array of junior and 'Varsity crewsters. Pennell, at No. 7, and Captain O'Loughlin were the only veterans aboard.

The first crew was the only one of the eights to use the frail shell, all other combinations being sent away in the clumsier barges. In the other four boats 'Varsity and freshman candidates rowed together without particular arrangement. Coach Rice indicated that it might be several days before the yearlings would begin separate practice under their own coach, Fred Plaisted, and it is certain to be several weeks before they will be boated in shells. Practice for the fresmen will continue to be held every day at 3:15 o'clock and the 'Varsity candidates will report at Edgewater daily an hour later.

The first crew was boated as follows yesterday:

Bow, Captain O'Loughlin; No. 2, Brown; No. 3, Gallico; No. 4, Curry; No. 5, Shilliday; No. 6, Hooven; No. 7, Pennell; stroke, Lorenz; coxswain, M. Thomas.

In today's play Miss Rosenthal won from Mrs. J. R. Price, Pittsburgh, 3 and 1, and Mrs. Hurd defeated Miss Mildred Caverly, Philadelphia, 3 and 2.

ANDERSON LOSES ON 19TH.

ATLANTA, Ga., March 28.—John G. Anderson of Siwanoy was eliminated in the first round of the Invitation Golf Tournament at the Duid Hills Club here today by Victor R. Smith of Atlanta, who defeated him by 1 up in a nineteen-hole match. Louis Jacoby of New Orleans defeated George Adair of Atlanta, 1 up. Adair yesterday led the entrants in the qualifying round with the low score of 81.

In other matches today Tom Prescott of Rome defeated Frank E. Blossom of Yale, 2 up and 1 to play; Ned Beall of Uniontown, Penn., defeated Jack Sheldon of Macon, 1 up (nineteen holes,) and Perry Adair of Atlanta defeated C. M. Sciple of Atlanta, 3 up and 1 to play.

MISS WALTON TAKES TITLE.

Captures National Women's Championship with Foils.

Miss Florence Walton of the Fencers' Club won the national women's championship with foils last night after a spirited competition in which thirteen women took part. Four of these qualified for the final round at the Fencers' Club, and by winning all three of her bouts Miss Walton captured the title.

Miss Adelaide Gehrig of the New York Turn Verein was only defeated by Miss Walton in the final and took second place, with two bouts won. Miss Dorothea Samuel of Philadelphia was third, with one victory in the final round. Miss Ida Toepfer of Philadelphia was the other contestant to survive the preliminary bouts. The contest was held under the supervision of the Amateur Fencers' League of America.

Members of the National Women's Life-Saving League disported in their monthly aquatic meet last night in the league pool in Brooklyn, where a program of four events was decided. The eighty-yard medly race, one length for each contestant, back, breast, side, and crawl strokes to be used, was the only scratch event. This was won by Miss Josephine Bartlett, champion female diver, who covered the distance in 1:10 1-5.

Miss Claire Galligan, with a handicap of 10 feet, won the plunge for distance with an actual plunge of 45 feet. Miss Lucy Freeman, handicapped at 10 seconds, finished first in the 100-yard event in 1:25 2-5. The water polo game between the Otters and the Seals resulted in a victory for the former by a score of 3 goals to 2.

MAT CHAMPION BEATEN.

The comparatively small crowd of members who witnessed the preliminary bouts in the competition to decide the metropolitan A. A. U. wrestling championship titles at weights of 108, 135, and 175 pounds, which began last night in the gymnasium of the Crescent Athletic Club of Brooklyn, were treated to an unexpected surprise when C. Liljehult, Bronx Church House, national and metropolitan champion in the 135-pound division, went down in defeat before N. Chrisoverghis, Greek-American A. C. Liljehult has held his national and metropolitan championship titles since 1914, and in addition held the Scandinavian championship, which he annexed recently.

Ten bouts were decided in the four classes and five of them ended before the regulation ten minutes had expired. The shortest bout went 21 seconds and was won by O. Freedman, Boys' Club, in the 125-pound class. A notable feature of this year's tournament is the absence of John Taylor, National Turn Verein, champion in the 108-pound class, and O. Huseby, Norwegian-American A. C., champion in the 175-pound division, who failed to enter the competition. The tournament will be continued tomorrow night.

This rattling pace was too fast to be maintained to the end, and it took the Columbia cueist twenty-nine innings before he had completed his full string of 250. This gave him an average for the game of 8 18-29.

It was a good night all around for the Appleby family. Brother Edgar also won his game, defeating C. B. Terry by a good margin. His best contribution was 47 and his average was 7 12-34. Although he has not shown such brilliant form as his brother, Edgar Appleby is coupled with George T. Moon, Jr., at the head of his division, while C. R. Lewis, who has won both of his games, leads Francis Appleby in the first division.

Irving Lewine was displaced from the leadership when he lost one of the night games to the veteran, Louis A. Servatius. It was a close contest, Servatius winning by thirteen points.

Jacob Klinger, a class A man, was the star of the matinée games. He was in fine stroke in the thirteenth and fourteenth innings, compiling 50 and 60. The latter run is the second highest of the tourney, but in spite of these sterling contributions Klinger failed to improve his average made earlier in the week. The other afternoon game produced a hard struggle, in which C. J. Steinbugler won after George Spear had picked up the handicap he was giving the Brooklyn man.

LEONARD-WELSH BOUT OFF.

Fulton to Meet Morris April 9 Because of Harlem Boxer's Illness.

The scheduled ten-round bout between Freddie Welsh of England, holder of the world's lightweight championship title, and Benny Leonard, the popular Harlem contender for this honor, which was postponed recently on account of the illness of Leonard, has been abandoned temporarily. This announcement was made last night by the officials of the Manhattan A. C., where the bout was scheduled to be staged Wednesday, April 4. Leonard's illness has become more serious than was at first suspected, and it will prevent his taking part in any form of training for at least five or six days.

In place of the Welsh-Leonard bout, the management of the Manhattan A. C. has arranged to stage a ten-round bout between Fred Fulton, the Minnesota heavyweight, and Carl Morris of Oklahoma. This contest was set originally for April 10.

White to Box Callahan Tonight.

Charlie White, the Chicago lightweight, and Frankie Callahan of Brooklyn are reported in excellent condition for their ten-round bout this evening at the Clermont S. C. of Brooklyn. In addition there will be a special three-round exhibition between Terry McGovern and Young Griffo.

COLLEGE REGATTA OFF IF WAR COMES

After a meeting of the Board of Stewards of the Intercollegiate Rowing Association at the office of the Columbia representative, Charles H. Mapes, at 143 Liberty Street, it was announced that if Congress declares war no other course is open except to abandon the intercollegiate regatta at Poughkeepsie. The official announcement is as follows:

"The response of the rowing men to the call of preparedness has been so universal, practically the entire squads of Columbia, Cornell, and Pennsylvania havin affiliated themselves with some organization, that if Congress declares war no other course can probably be considered except calling the Poughkeepsie regatta off. In fact, with war declared, it looks doubtful whether any of the great college rowing fixtures will be held this year. While it is extremely improbable that the Poughkeepsie regatta will be held, the Board of Stewards voted to send tentative invitations to California, Leland Stanford, Princeton, Syracuse, Washington, and Wisconsin."

In speaking of this matter yesterday Mr. Mapes emphasized the fact that it was not as much the decision of the Board of Stewards as the actions of the men themselves that would necessitate the abandonment of the regatta. The sweep men have so unhesitatingly offered themselves for service that there would be no one left to row the shells if war broke out.

Prospects for a great race are in sight if the war cloud moves past, however. With invitations issued to the three Pacific Coast crews, it has bene practically assured that the winner of the coast regatta will journey to Poughkeepsie if the race is held.

The Syracuse discussion came to nothing, and this crew will also line up for the race. In addition to Mr. Mapes those at the meeting were C. C. Treman of Cornell and Howard Eisenbrey of Pennsylvania.

Darcy to Box Smith in New Orleans.

NEW ORLEANS, March 28.—Les Darcy of Australia and Jeff Smith of New York will fight twenty rounds to a decision here May 4, according to the announcement tonight of a local promoter. The bout will be advertised as for the middleweight championship of the world.

FINANCIAL MARKETS

Stocks, Less Active, Show Strength—Industry and War Needs.

One does not meet many people in the financial district who have any doubt that war is soon to come. It is necessary, therefore, in searching for the explanation of the strength which the stock market showed yesterday to put aside any assumption that the market was strong because traders were impressed with the suggestions which have come from some political quarters that there is no need of the United States doing anything more than adhering to its present policy of armed neutrality.

It will be easier to explain the rise in prices if we first take special note of the fact that the volume of trading showed further contraction. The gains which were made, therefore, did not come about as a result of aggressive buying such as might absorb a heavy volume of selling and at the same time carry prices forward. There was no heavy selling of that sort. It took little buying to put prices up, because there was very little selling. Traders were, in fact, much impressed with the absence of liquidation, which many of them, not unnaturally, had assumed to be likely in the last few days before the convening of Congress. It was argued that the holders of stocks, if they were disposed to sell because of the possibility of war between the United States and Germany, would hardly wait until after war had been declared. That is not the way of the stock market. It is certain that if war does come it will take no one by surprise, and traders were buying yesterday on the theory that if the owners of stock were not disposed to sell on the practical certainty of war they would not sell on the news of war itself. On that assumption traders felt warranted in again enlarging their commitments, but the limits to which trading was restricted showed that speculative lines of stock were not increased to any undue extent.

If the market had remained backward it would have done so in the face of much evidence that business at large is going forward actively. That is another reason why prices rose yesterday. The current news from the steel trade shows how unremitting are the demands which that industry is being called upon to fill. It is one of the industries upon which large demands by the Government will be made in the event of war, but no Government orders now expected would amount to more than a very small percentage of the total output of the country's steel mills. The Iron Age estimated yesterday that the consumption for Government purposes would hardly exceed 2 per cent. of the output. That by a curious coincidence is just about the percentage of the country's copper output which the producers of that metal have arranged to sell to the Government at about half the current market price. Lower than market rates are also likely to be named by one or more of the large steel companies for the steel which the Government will require. It is not yet settled, however, that arrangements of this sort will be generally adopted between the Government and steel producers or in the case of other industries which will be called upon to supply Government needs.

There is strong sentiment in some quarters in favor of the Government fixing its own price rather than that the managers of corporations should name prices below the market which might be either more or less than the Government would consider a fair price. Also many manufacturers believe that the prices which the Government is to pay should not be left to casual arrangement between certain producers and the Government, but that the latter should formulate a general rule which would cover all purchases to be made by the Government. This is but one of many problems which the coming of war would raise, but meanwhile the stock market is making it plain that traders as a body are convinced that it is a problem which will be solved in a way fair to the great mass of producers.

The news that the Treasury was about to make a fairly large issue of short term Government obligations, although this is not strictly speaking a war measure, fitted in with the general belief that events are moving rapidly toward a state of war between Germany and the United States. In that case this issue will be but a very small installment of the amount which the Government will need, but the country is well prepared for any demands which may be made upon it either for loans or for taxes with which to perform this country's part in doing away with the threat against all peaceful nations.

LONDON MARKET IS DULL.

War Loan and Other Securities Decline on Moderate Sales.

LONDON, March 28.—The stock market was dull and uninteresting today. The war loan, with other gilt-edged securities, declined on moderate sales. Rubber stocks were firm and active on provincial buying, and shipping shares hardened under the lead of Cunards. Argentine rails declined 2 points on rumors of prohibition of the export of wheat. American securities were dull and neglected.

Money was plentiful owing to the payments of maturing Treasury bills. Discount rates were quiet and inclined to sag.

Trading Quiet on Paris Bourse.

PARIS, March 28.—Trading was quiet on the Bourse today. Three per cent. rentes, 61 francs 40 centimes for cash; exchange on London, 27 francs 87½ centimes; 5 per cent. loan, 88 francs 30 centimes.

Greenwich Bank Raises Dividend.

Directors of the Greenwich Bank yesterday increased the quarterly dividend from 3 to 4 per cent. The bank has $500,000 stock and capital and surplus together amount to $1,500,000. The institution has five branches in addition to the main office at Fulton and William Streets.

EXCHANGE HONORS SUCKLEY

Governors of the Stock Exchange at their regular meeting yesterday voted to close the board on Good Friday, following the custom of recent years. The board passed a resolution in respect to the memory of Henry Eglinton Montgomery Suckley, a Harvard man who was killed in action near Saloniki on Monday while in command of the New York Stock Exchange section of the American Field Ambulance Service.

The Governors also decided to appoint a committee to collect funds from the Exchange members for the sufferers from the recent tornado in Indiana. A telegram was received Tuesday from the Citizens' Tornado Relief Committee in New Albany, Ind., asking that the Exchange assist in raising $250,000 needed by the Red Cross Society in carrying on relief work. It was the first time the Stock Exchange had ever been called upon as an organization for assistance of the kind, and a liberal response was predicted. The committee will be appointed by President H. G. S. Noble today.

TOPICS IN WALL STREET.

Raw Gold.

The tons of gold that have been shipped to the United States in part payment for the purchases made here by the Allies have been made up by all sorts of parcels, but the miscellaneous character of some of the latest lot excited interest even among men who have been handling the shipments. For a time nearly all of the gold came in kegs and boxes in the form of British sovereigns. In yesterday's consignment there were bars of various shapes and weights. Three sample bars were about as dissimilar as possible. One was about the size and shape of a stick of sealing wax, and bore a German imprint; another was a miniature "pig" covered with Chinese hieroglyphics, and the third was a small brick bearing British marks. All three were just as they left the rough molds at the mines or refineries.

Steel Rails Follow Armies.

The progress of the Allied armies in France and the Near East is adding to the demand made upon American manufacturers for steel products. The Iron Age reported yesterday that inquiries had been received for 200,000 tons of railroad rails for delivery in Mesopotamia and 40,000 for France and Belgium. Presumably, the British Government is planning to extend railroad facilities in the wake of the army in the region whence the Turks have been driven. The retreat of the German forces has evidently increased the need for more railroad facilities by the English and French troops in improving transportation over the devastated land now being occupied by them. It would be impossible, of course, to get orders through the mills at this time for delivery in the near future, but it would seem probable that the advancing armies are levying on railroad supplies in territory which has not been disturbed. If this is the case, rails ordered now will be of use for replacement purposes later on.

Waiting for Congress.

The comparatively dull market gave traders opportunity to speculate mentally on the effect the convening Congress would have on prices next Monday. The cautious trend of dealings indicated that potential buyers were inclined to hold back until they could get a line on developments at Washington. With the knowledge that last week the market advanced rapidly when war talk became rampant, operators on the short side likewise appeared to act with caution pending Congressional proceedings.

Employes Who Become Soldiers.

There is a disposition among some of the leading banking institutions to continue the regular salaries of men who leave their desks to serve with the militia or other branches of the Government service. It was announced yesterday that Hornblower & Weeks would pay their men during the life of the war. The head of one of the biggest trust companies said that the question had not been laid before the Board of Directors, but that he was disposed to guarantee that all of the men leaving the company in response to the Government's call would receive their full pay in addition to their army wage. In other quarters it was said that arrangements would be made to fit the circumstances of each man called out.

Midvale's Capital Investments.

The balance sheet of the Midvale Steel & Ordnance Company as of Dec. 31, 1916, shows capital investments of $23,321,906 in stock of the Midvale Steel Company, $14,416,032 in shares of Worth Brothers Company and $5,000,000 in stock of the Remington Arms Company, a total approximately $42,738,000. These were the first properties which figured in the combination. The figures presented in the listing application on the Stock Exchange yesterday upset the idea held about the cost of these companies in October, 1915, when the Midvale organization was formed. The total reported then was $60,500,000 and the Remington was said to have commanded a price of $20,000,000 when Marcellus H. Dodge turned it over to the Midvale. The investment in the Cambria Steel shares was recorded as $70,880,508, which, at $81 a share, involved 875,068 of the 900,000 Cambria shares outstanding when the purchase was made. The aggregate of all capital investments was $114,646,031.

Reserve Bank to Have More Space.

The business of the Federal Reserve Bank of New York is growing so rapidly that it has already found the need of additional space. Yesterday, following a meeting of the Board of Directors, it was announced that the bank has made arrangements to take about 300 square feet of additional floor space in the Equitable Building. The extra room will be occupied by the cages on the ground floor, the discount department being enlarged considerably. The Reserve Bank occupies not only the ground floor of a corner of the Equitable Building, but it also has space in the basement, mezzanine and part of the fifth floor which is used for the check collection department. In all, the bank has about 21,625 square feet.

For Higher Railroad Rates.

In a telegram sent yesterday to the Interstate Commerce Commission the Railway Investors' League urged favorable action on the applications for increased rates. "All classes of industrial corporations have been able to counteract increased charges for labor and materials by raising prices," said the league's spokesman. "The railroads alone are tied down to a scale made before these prevailing conditions arose. Industrial plants can exploit their machinery for high profits now and if advisable go out of business, but the general good of the country calls for the railroads being placed in a position to continue spending money for improvements and extensions if industrial and agricultural progress is not to be injured."

APPROVAL FOR UNION OF TRUST COMPANIES

STOCKHOLDERS TO RATIFY

Directors of the Bankers Trust Company and of the Astor Trust Company at special meetings held yesterday approved of the plan for the merger of the two institutions. The State Banking Department having sanctioned the consolidation, it now only remains for the respective stockholders to ratify the agreement.

The plan of consolidation does not contemplate any immediate increase of the combined capital of the two trust companies. Bankers Trust Company stock to the amount of $1,250,000 will be issued in exchange for the same amount of stock of the Astor Trust Company after a special dividend has been paid by the Bankers to its own stockholders to equalize the book values of the stocks of the two concerns. A committee has been appointed to appraise the assets of the two companies and to determine exactly what the difference is between the book values, and hence, what the dividend shall be. It will probably be found to approximate $20 a share, making a total disbursement of about $2,000,000.

Assuming that the special dividend will be $2,000,000, the Bankers Trust Company, after the consolidation, will have a capital of $11,250,000; surplus of $11,250,000 and undivided profits of $5,334,084, or a total of $27,834,084. The deposits of the combined institutions will be close to $300,000,000. The earnings of both companies have shown a steady increase. The Bankers has been paying an annual dividend of 20 per cent. since 1913; and the Astor paid 16 per cent. in 1915 and 1916.

All of the Directors of the Astor will be Directors of the Bankers excepting a few who are disqualified by the Clayton act. The new board will consist of the following

Stephen Baker, President Bank of the Manhattan Company; E. C. Converse, President Astor Trust Company; Edgar L. Marston, Blair & Co., bankers; D. E. Pomeroy, Vice President Bankers Trust Company; Seward Prosser, President Bankers Trust Company; Daniel C. Reid, Vice President Liberty National Bank; Herbert K. Twitchell, Vice President Chemical National Bank; Samuel G. Bayne, President Seaboard National Bank; Edward M. Bulkley, Spencer Trask & Co., bankers; F. N. B. Close, Vice President Bankers Trust Company; T. De Witt Cuyler, President Commercial Trust Company, Philadelphia; H. P. Davison, J. P. Morgan & Co.; William North Duane, Vice President Bankers Trust Company; Frederick T. Haskell, Vice President Illinois Trust and Savings Bank, Chicago; Fred I. Kent, Vice President Bankers Trust Company; Herbert L. Pratt, Vice President Standard Oil Company, New York; Edward Townsend, Chairman of the Board of Importers and Traders National Bank; Thomas Cochran, J. P. Morgan & Co.; Cornelius Bliss, Jr., Bliss, Fabyan & Co.; H. C. McEldowney, President Union Trust Co., Pittsburgh; William H. Porter, J. P. Morgan & Co.; John L. Downey, building construction; Nicholas Biddle, Astor estate; Douglas Robinson, real estate; Charles L. Tiffany, Vice President Tiffany & Co.; M. Friedsam, President B. Altman & Co.; Robert W. Goelet, Archibald D. Russell, Ronald H. MacDonald, Vice President Astor Trust Company, and Walter N. Frew, President Corn Exchange Bank.

The merger will give the Bankers Trust Company an uptown branch in the new building at Fifth Avenue and Forty-second Street, and it will be known as the Astor Branch. The new quarters will be ready for occupancy on May 1.

STEEL FOR SHIPS HIGHER.

Conferences of steel makers in reference to prices to be quoted the Government for its army and navy requirements are noted in the current trade periodicals. The Iron Age says:

> As this issues goes to press steel makers are in conference and the prices at which steel mill products will be supplied to the Government are under discussion. Without regard to the concession which will be made, it is to be remembered that the total consumption for Government purposes does not bid fair to exceed 2 per cent. of the country's productive capacity. Much of it, of course, will get first attention, and by that fact penalize domestic consumers in respect to delivery and price.
> Representing an effort to serve the Government with material without regard to other obligations of the mills, it is not yet believed that any price reductions are likely in future purchasing for the Governments of the Allies. Signs are that general exporting will carry stiffer prices rather than otherwise.
> Domestic buying has been of no inconsiderable magnitude in the last few weeks, in anticipation of the readiness with which a high market augments with a demand. And here there has been the spectre of the Government with its great resources and the ultimate possibility of its needing material on a gigantic scale. One sign of the present distortion is a further delay in shipments of boiler tubes because of the Government program with its fleet of little as well as big ships.

Prices continue to advance, especially for material used in shipbuilding. Sales are reported this week of ship plates at 8 cents a pound, compared with a normal quotation of 1½ cents. The Iron Trade Review says:

> The overwhelming demand for plates for vessel construction continues the outstanding feature of the iron and steel market. It is estimated that there probably are 100,000 tons of ship plates which are wanted for any reasonable delivery, but which mills are in no position to book. In fact, the plate makers are quoting on only about one-sixth of the business that is offered. A leading Eastern Pennsylvania plate mill has advanced its prices for the third time in less than three weeks and now quotes 6.50 cents, mill or Pittsburgh, on tank plates and 7.50 to 8 cents on Lloyd's specifications ship plates.

NEW CREDIT FOR FRANCE.

Arrangements for $15,000,000 Acceptance Loan Announced.

William P. Bonbright & Co., Inc., announced yesterday the completion of arrangements for a fourth $15,000,000 French acceptance credit. The third and final $5,000,000 installment on the first $15,000,000 will be paid on April 2, when it becomes due, the money required being already on hand.

The credits are for the payment of raw materials purchased in this country for export to France. French banks draw their drafts on American banks by an arrangement under which these drafts are accepted payable three months after acceptance and are in turn discounted at favorable rates and handled by banks and brokerage houses dealing in commercial paper. The acceptances are taken up by the proceeds of renewal drafts, the total credit running for a period of one year. As in the case of the recent $50,000,000 French Industrial Credit, the drafts are secured by the pledge of French Government Treasury notes.

In announcing the new acceptance credit, the Bonbright concern observed that the transaction was "particularly interesting as being in line with suggestions made in various quarters that the United States should show its gratitude for financial assistance from France in earlier days by now contributing largely to the financing of French war expenditures."

GREEN HEIRS AGREE ON WILL

Estate Worth $2,000,000 to be Held in Trust for Twenty Years.

The will of Adolphus W. Green, President and organizer of the National Biscuit Company, particulars, of which have already been published, was filed for probate yesterday. The will was drawn in 1905 by Mr. Green, who was an Illinois lawyer, under the statutes of that State, but it is of doubtful validity in New York, and for that reason the heirs have agreed that the estate shall be held by the Astor Trust Company and divided equally among the six children.

The will filed yesterday gave $100,000 outright, all works of art and other personal effects, and the Summer residence at Belle Haven, Conn., to Mrs. Green, who died about four years ago. The remainder of the estate was set aside for the six children—John R. and Elizabeth L. Green of the Plaza Hotel, Mrs. Jane Green Carrott of Greenwich, Conn.; Mrs. Mary Green Ream of 111 East Fortieth Street, Mrs. Esther Margaret Green Howard of 108 East Eighty-second Street, and Mrs. Josephine Green Ordway of St. Paul.

Under the agreement entered into among the heirs to avoid any question as to the validity of the will, each is to receive the net income from one-sixth of the estate for twenty years, and then get the principal of such share. The estate is estimated at more than $2,000,000.

ADVANCE IN COTTON

The feature of yesterday's cotton market, which was very irregular in tone, was a sharp increase in the old-crop premium, with May contracts selling about 100 points above October, compared with 83 points at the close of Tuesday. This reflected transferring of short hedges from old to new crop positions and evening up of speculative commitments, which took the form of urgent covering in the near months, while old-crop deliveries were held back by the more favorable weather in the South. May contracts sold as high as 19.05c, or 22 points net higher, while October advanced to 18.06c, or only 6 points above Tuesday's final price. The closing was a shade off from the best under realizing, but steady at a net gain of 3 to 20 points.

Following a decline right after the call, prices became firmer on covering, with the demand becoming more active on reports that an embargo had been placed upon northbound shipments by the Morgan Line. This led to apprehension of increased difficulty in replenishing the rapidly diminishing local stock and undoubtedly added to the uneasiness of near-month shorts. After selling about 5 to 22 points net higher the market reacted, following a report from Houston that the embargo via the Mallory Line had been removed, leaving the situation as to coastwise shipments about unchanged. Spot advices were bullish.

Following are yesterday's quotations:

WHEAT.

Intimations that damage reports on the new Winter wheat crop were being somewhat exaggerated caused reactionary feeling in the wheat market yesterday, but exporters were good buyers on the decline, and in consequence net price changes were comparatively narrow. The cash position was very strong, although Canadian wheat is offered for opening of navigation at much under prevailing spot prices. In the local market No. 2 hard Winter wheat was quoted at $2.23½; No. 1 Northern Duluth, $2.34½, and No. 1 Northern Manitoba, $2.30, all free on board, New York.

CORN.

The strength in the cash position, the crop failure in Argentina, and the high feeding value on account of the prevailing prices for hogs were all looked upon as strong bullish features in the corn market, but values have experienced a sharp advance recently, and consequently there was a slight reaction yesterday under profit taking. Exporters were in the market, and sales were estimated at 240,000 bushels. In the local cash market No. 2 yellow corn was quoted at $1.31, cost, insurance, and freight, New York.

PROVISIONS.

There was opening firmness in the provision market with strength of grain and commission house buying, but later it felt the weight of realizing sales and eased off near the close. Clearances were again heavy, including 2,393,000 pounds of lard. Receipts at all points aggregated 125,000 hogs, of which 34,000 were at Chicago, 8,000 at Kansas City, and 16,000 at Omaha. Chicago expected 30,000 hogs on Thursday.

COTTONSEED OIL.

The market for cottonseed oil was moderately active and prices were irregular. The March position developed considerable pressure, with longs disposed to liquidate, and at the close this position was 15 points lower, while April was down 8 points and the later months ranged from 3 points lower to 4 points net higher. Total tenders on March contracts during the month were 34,200 barrels. Range of prices:

COFFEE.

The coffee market just about lost Tuesday's rally under renewed liquidation or local trade selling. July contracts sold off to 7.70c and December to 8c, or about 7 to 10 points net lower, and the market closed at a net loss of 4 to 7 points. Sales were reported of 42,000 bags. SUGAR.

There was another active day in the market for sugar futures, and after opening at an advance of 6 to 9 points, values showed further sharp gains, with heavy Wall Street buying and short covering in March, sending nearly the entire list through the 5.00c basis. The strong spot market with higher prices there and the active demand for raw supplies by operators and refiners helped sustain the futures market to a great extent. The market closed at net gains of 10 to 21 points, with total sales, 28,500 tons.

The market for refined sugar was firm, influenced by the strength in raws, and prices were unchanged to 25 points higher. Raw sugar was strong at the close, with prices still in favor of sellers. The demand from operators and refiners was again active, and the spot quotation advanced ⅛c. The following sales were reported: Operators bought 11,000 bags Cubas, April shipment, at 4½c, cost and freight; 25,000 bags Cubas, second half April clearance, at 5c; 5,000 bags April shipment, at 4½, cost and freight. Refiners bought 15,000 bags Cubas, April shipment, at 4⅝c, cost and freight; 12,000 full duty sugars, at 4⅝c, cost, insurance, and freight; 20,000 bags April shipment Cubas, at 5c, cost and freight, and 7,000 bags Cubas, second half April clearance, at 4⅝c, cost and freight. BUTTER AND EGG MARKET.

BUTTER.—Receipts yesterday, 6,158 packages. The market maintains a very strong position on nearly all grades, and prices were further advanced with decided strength shown at the close. The secondary grades are crowding up closer to the best, and it seems very probable that the range of values will narrow materially within the next week or two. The firmness extends to all classes of stock. Creamery, higher scoring than extras, per pound, 44@44½c; extras, 93 score, 43½c; firsts, 88 to 91 score, 40@43c; seconds, 83 to 87 score, 37@39½c; thirds, 35½@36½c; creamery, unsalted, higher than extras, 44½@45c; extras, 43½@44c; firsts, 40½@43c; seconds, 37½@40c; creamery, held, extras, 40½@41c; firsts, 38½@40c; seconds, 36½@38c; thirds, 35@36c; State dairy, tubs, finest, 42@43c; good to prime, 39@41½c; common to fair, 31@38½c; renovated, extras, 33½@34c; firsts, 32@32½c; lower grades, 30@31½c; imitation creamery, firsts, 32@33c; ladles, current make, firsts, 30@30½c; seconds, 29½c; lower grades, 28@29c; packing stock, current make, No. 1, 29@29½c; No. 2, 28½c; lower grades, 27@28c.

EGGS.—Receipts yesterday, 30,198 cases. Although receipts were larger, they are still moderate for the season. Stock is moving out quite promptly, and the higher grades are a little short of requirements. The market closed generally firm, although the tone is a little irregular, and some dealers are inclined to hold off. Advices still indicate moderate supplies in transit. A few lots of storage packed eggs are coming in, of which some sales are reported up to 33½c for current use. Nearby white eggs are moving readily, and prices show further advance. Most receivers report a good clearance, although it requires very fancy stock to reach top quotation. High grade duck eggs in light supply; hardly enough to fill the orders in hand, and prices show some improvement; ordinary lots from far Southern sections are quiet and show no change. Fresh gathered, extras, per dozen, 34@34½c; store-packed firsts, 33½c; fresh gathered, extra firsts, 33½@33½c; firsts, 32½@33c; seconds and lower grades, 31@32c; dirties, 30@31c; checks, good to choice, dry, 28½@29½c; State, Pennsylvania, and nearby Western, hennery whites, fine to fancy, 37@38c; ordinary to good, 35@36c; gathered whites, ordinary to fine, 35@37c; Western and Southern, gathered whites, 34@36c; State, Pennsylvania and nearby, hennery browns, 34@35c; gathered brown and mixed colors, firsts to extra firsts, 33@34c. Duck eggs, Baltimore, 43@45c; Western and prime Southern, 41@43c; far Southern, 37@40c. Goose eggs, $1.

MITCHELL IS SHERIFF.

Court Holds That Term Began When He Took Oath of Office.

Justice Jaycox in the Queens County Supreme Court refused yesterday to issue a writ of mandamus compelling Controller Prendergast to pay the salaries of Sheriff Samuel Mitchell of Queens and his employes, now due since Feb. 1. At the same time, he stated that Mitchell's term of office started on Jan. 30, when he took the oath of office, and that he would hold office for a term of three years.

Mitchell, who was elected Sheriff at a special election on Jan. 23, asserts that he is only Acting Sheriff. He was Under Sheriff at the time of the death of Sheriff Paul Stier on Oct. 23. According to him, the term of office for which he was elected does not begin until Jan. 1, 1918. Controller Prendergast has refused to issue any paychecks until Mitchell consents to sign the payroll as Sheriff, thus starting his term.

The National Lead Company says in the report for 1916, to be issued today, that times of peace, stable business, and normal taxes are more desirable than periods of exceptional business activity. The net earnings were $2,977,698, a gain of $267,172 over the year before. After paying dividends and setting aside $500,000 for reserve, the surplus was increased by $445,750.

The company owns a half interest in the United States Cartridge Company, which handled large foreign orders. The results were not included in the statement, however, and a financial statement is promised only when the contracts are completed and the value of the equipment used for special work is established.

"The abnormally high prices of raw materials and greatly increased manufacturing expenses, including wages, present problems for the future that are receiving serious consideration," President E. J. Cornish says. "In this connection it is proper to say that the company, with its greatly diversified interests built up to supply the ordinary wants of the people of the United States, gains more by peace than from war, even from the narrow view of profits."

LONDON'S WOOL AUCTION.

Arrangements Have Been Made for American Buying Today.

LONDON, March 28.—The offerings at the wool auction sales today amounted to 5,900 bales. It was a better selection, and the demand was active at firm prices. New South Wales scoured sold at 4s 9½d and New Zealand at 4s 10½d.

Special arrangements have been made for American representatives to purchase wool tomorrow and Saturday, which will be paid for in New York, the rate of exchange being placed at 4.77.

MEETING OF SILK MEN.

The appointment of a committee on Government specifications, the duty of which will be to co-operate with the Government in the purchase of silks to be used for war purposes, featured the annual meeting of the Silk Association of America, which was held yesterday at the rooms of the association, 354 Fourth Avenue. The committee is made up of George A. Post, Horace B. Cheney, and H. A. Viola.

In the merchandise section of his annual report Secretary Ramsey Peugnet outlined the various fabrics and colors that are to be in vogue during the Spring and Summer seasons, and also told of prospects for Fall.

"For the coming season," he said in part, "colors like damson, fir, tan, mole, chinchilla, and seal are regarded favorably. Reds of the coral type seem to be increasing in importance. Crepes in general, and Georgette in particular, hold their popularity, and there are many reasons for believing that a large number of looms will be engaged on these weaves.

"Excellent business in taffetas, both in plain and fancy weaves, is indicated for the coming season. Satin crepes, meteors, charmeuse, and all lustrous cloths are being ordered extensively for Fall. Sport silks give evidence of a second year of great popularity, and there is likewise a steadily increasing demand in the waist and underwear trade for wash silks."

Of the ribbon trade the report says that it has not been dealt with very kindly by fashion of late and that there is little in the new styles that seems to indicate any particular tendency toward the increased consumption of ribbons. It also says that imitation or artificial silk ribbons have been produced in such large quantities by the trimmings makers that the business of the silk ribbon manufacturers has been somewhat affected. Present millinery styles are also blamed in part for the "slowness" of ribbons at the present time.

Other things that came before the meeting included the election of officers, all of whom were returned to their posts. The Board of Managers was also re-elected, as was the Executive Committee. Divisional reports were rendered by prominent men in various branches of the silk industry, and several new members were admitted. Committees in charge of various activities of the association were appointed practically without change.

Not Discouraged by Poor Season.

Dress manufacturers are not overdiscouraged as a result of the upset in their business caused by the style switch this season from dresses to suits. They expect the Fall styles to favor them even beyond the record volume that was turned in last season. The idea is gaining ground in both the suit and the dress branches of the garment industry that the two types of apparel in the future may have separate seasons—suits for the Spring and dresses for the Fall.

Drifting Toward Wide Ribbons.

The trend of the demand in the ribbon trade is toward the wider varieties of ribbon. This is a source of satisfaction to the manufacturers, who for some time past have been suffering from the narrow yardage that usually means trouble and little profit. The call for wide ribbons is not yet very extensive, but manufacturers think prospects are good for a broadening out of the demand on account of the interest taken by the millinery, cutting up, and retail trades. Colors at present, except in the sports goods division, are showing a change toward the darker shades. The prominent houses in the trade, however, still expect lighter colors to reign for Fall.

FUR SALES CONTINUE GOOD.

Mink, Muskrat, and Ermine Were the Features Yesterday.

Mink, muskrat, and ermine were the featured articles sold yesterday at the auction being held at the Masonic Temple. The buying interest varied on the three varieties of fur, and, while there were no declines under January prices, some grades just about held their own. The medium-sized mink skins, for instance, brought better prices than the larger pelts, and there was a good demand for the darker furs. Spring black muskrat was eagerly sought by the fur buyers, and one skin sold for $1.03½, the highest figure reached on skins of this sort.

Revillon Frères were successful bidders on some of the best marten skins, and Gordon & Ferguson of Minneapolis also got furs of the same description. They will be used, it was said, to make up the fine quality stoles, for which quite a vogue is promised among the finer class of trade. The lighter varieties of marten did not do so well.

When the muskrat offering was reached, bidding became very lively, as these furs, besides the demand from the usual sources, are also being purchased in large quantities by the clothing manufacturers. Michigan and Wisconsin Winter and Fall muskrat sold up to 48 cents, Spring up to 65 cents. Minnesota and Iowa muskrat, Winter and Fall, sold up to 49½ cents, Louisiana up to 25 cents, and black muskrat up to $1.03½. The highest prices received for other skins were mink, Northern, No. 1, $5; Southern, $3; ermine, $1.05, and badger, $2.

An ermine lot, for which the record price was received, went to $2.18. It was a culled lot, and the skins were of exceptional quality.

The official price comparison with January prices follows: Lynx, 10 per cent. higher; mink, Northern and Southern, same as January; muskrat, same as January; ermine, 15 per cent. higher.

ST. LOUIS'S BIG OFFERING.

Auction There Will Dispose of $4,000,000 Worth of Pelts.

Funsten Brothers & Co., who conduct the public fur auction at St. Louis, yesterday issued a list of their approximate offerings for the April sale. Besides the feature of 1,500 seals sold for the United States Government, there will also be auctioned off 1,553 skins of the same sort for the Japanese Government.

In the announcement it is stated that the offering will be an unusual one on account of the exceptional quantity and quality of high-class furs, such as chinchillas, Russian sables, silver foxes, cross foxes, and Eastern mink. Attention is called to the prohibition in Chile and Bolivia on catching and exporting chinchillas for the next five years. There will be 2,183 of these skins offered at the sale. Some of the large quantities of various furs to be sold include 1,250,000 muskrat, 154,000 skunk, 240,000 opossum, 110,000 raccoon, and 200,000 dressed China white coneys. The value placed on the offering is approximately $4,000,000.

Will Protect Their District.

At the suggestion of the Police Department, about 300 business men in the Maiden Lane jewelry district have organized a commercial branch of the Home Defense League. The duties of this branch will be to help the police guard the district against looting in event of serious riots growing out of a declaration of war against Germany, or to take the bulk of this work from the police in case of trouble in other parts of the city should make it necessary temporarily to withdraw them from the Lane. Drills are being held regularly at the Second Precinct Police Station, with seven companies of forty men each in attendance. The first mobilization will take place tomorrow.

Advances in Chemical Prices.

Drug and Chemical Markets will say today that an active inquiry for materials for war purposes featured local trading in the last week. The German proclamation, extending the barred zone to the waters giving access to northern Russian ports, is causing further apprehension among shippers. War orders for mercury, in flasks, caused a substantial advance in prices. Dynamite glycerin was also advanced on Government business. Stringency of supplies of caffeine alkaloid and acetphenetidin stiffened prices. Tin oxide advanced on the higher price of tin. Among the declines were nitrate of silver, cantharides and potassium permanganate.

Double-Brimmed Hats Coming In.

Bulletin No. 7 of the Retail Millinery Association of America contains a cable from Paris saying that as the millinery season advances hats with double brims or a very small brim underneath a larger upper one are gaining in favor. Sailor shapes with this small brim are good, the cable says. The bulletin has received a report from Los Angeles telling of a strong demand for white hats, in summery dress effects, there. As yet the call for white hats has not manifested itself very strongly elsewhere. Locally, pressed and hand-blocked untrimmed hats are selling freely, and there is a good run on the popular trimmings. At the same time, high-priced "dress" hats are gaining steadily in demand. Banded and sports hats are selling well to the "popular" trade.

Men's Wear Fabric Styles.

Although it is just a little early for the fabric styles in men's clothing for next Fall to be clearly defined, the manufacturers are beginning to get a fairly good idea of what will be desired by the retail trade. Mixtures, it is said, in browns, greens, and grays will be in a leading position, and, from the retail sentiment so far sounded out, the plain colors named will enjoy a heavy sale. Fancier effects will be fancy in name only. Quiet stripe effects and hairline overplaids are also well thought of. There is no dominant design, as in past seasons, which is said to be due to the abnormal condition of the trade.

Board No. 2 of the General Appraisers yesterday handed down a decision in the long-disputed Rockingham ware discount cases, the test action being that of H. J. Wood, Burlsem, England. The invoices called for a discount of 15 per cent., but the New York Appraiser contended that the foreign purchaser was allowed a discount of only 7½ per cent. The Board found that 12½ per cent. was the average discount allowed to purchasers in the British markets, and customs officials were directed to make reliquidations of the entries on that basis.

Bleached Cottons Are Active.

The rising costs of cotton goods in the gray, and the consequent advance on bleached fabrics, has not hindered the movement of the latter in the local market. On the contrary, it seems to have stimulated it, and in some cases production is under order till early Fall. The Western jobbers are especially active at the moment, with the Southern wholesalers buying more conservatively and possibly running a chance of getting left later on. Demands for prompt or anticipated deliveries are insistent. It was said yesterday that scarcely an hour passes without a telegram from some jobber asking that his goods be hurried along, often whether they are due or not. The rise in bleaching costs is also forcing sellers to ask more for their goods, the advance in at least one case being an even hundred per cent. Increases of at least 50 per cent. in bleaching costs are general.

Gray Goods Trading Slows Up.

Buying in the local gray goods market yesterday was not as active as it has been, due, sellers say, to the general scarcity of staple cloths available for delivery this side of July and the unwillingness of many buyers to trade beyond that point at present prices. Among the day's printcloth sales were 39-inch 56-54s for June-July delivery at 6 7-16 cents. Some houses are firm for 6½ cents for nearby shipments of these goods, but others will submit the former price to their mills. Good-sized bids of 6¾ cents were refused for April deliveries of 38½-inch 60-48s in certain quarters, an eighth more being asked. There were reports of nearby sales of 39-inch 68-72s at 9¼ cents, but it is a fact that a few of these goods can be had immediately for 9⅛ cents. Nine cents is asked for them on contract deliveries as far away as October and November. For October-December deliveries of 48-square, four-yard sheetings 9 cents was bid with more or less success. Nominal closing spot printcloth prices were:

39-inch, 68-72s	9c	38½-inch, 60-52s	7c

WOOL MARKET IS QUIET.

Special to The New York Times.

BOSTON, March 28.—The American Wool and Cotton Reporter will say tomorrow:

"Quietness but strength continues in the wool market. The trade is waiting to see what will happen when Congress convenes on April 2. The majority feel that the limit of prices has not been reached yet. It is argued that prospects of getting a considerable quantity of wool from Australia, if war is declared, seems good. During the week, the market has shown stimulated interest in all classes of spot wools. Contracting in the West is over for a while, owing to high prices.

"The cotton situation is very strong. Thirty cents a pound is not considered unreasonable, and even higher prices are possible. The woolen goods market is relatively quiet, and it is unlikely that buying will improve in the near future.

"The cotton goods market has improved still more during the week. The outlook is for a good distribution at present or even at higher levels."

Georgia Adopts "Bone Dry" Law.

Atlanta, Ga., March 28. — A "bone dry" bill barring liquor absolutely from the State, except for medical, mechanical, and sacramental purposes, was passed by both Houses of the Georgia Legislature today, and Governor Harris is expected to sign it shortly.

THE REAL ESTATE FIELD

Vincent Astor contributed the element of activity to the realty market yesterday by selling his celebrated model market building on upper Broadway, which was afterward resold to Adolph Lewisohn, while Mr. Astor, as a result of his deal, purchased the seventeen-story apartment house on the northeast corner of Park Avenue and Seventy-ninth Street. The entire deal, which is one of the largest in some time, aggregated over $2,000,000.

The Astor market, erected about two years ago, covers the greater part of the block front on the west side of Broadway, between Ninety-fourth and Ninety-fifth Streets, being 165 feet on Broadway by 125 on Ninety-fifth Street. It is assessed at $715,000. It was purchased by T. De Witt Cuyler, executor of the estate of Maria De Witt Jesup. The seventeen-story apartment house at the northeast corner of Park Avenue and Seventy-ninth Street, 110 by 85, was taken by Mr. Astor in exchange.

The deal was closed through the Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company, and, in conjunction with L. J. Phillips & Co., representing Adolph Lewisohn, they resold the market property to Mr. Lewisohn, who paid all cash, and will hold the property as an investment. The Park Avenue apartment was purchased by Mrs. Jesup from Bing & Bing through Douglas Robinson, Charles S. Brown Company. Included in this deal was the four-story dwelling at 104 East Seventy-ninth Street, opposite the apartment house, purchased by Mrs. Jesup to protect the light for the apartment house, as its ownership prevents building on the south side of Seventy-ninth Street and Park Avenue. The 1915 has been used but a short time; was thoroughly overhauled and has been refinished, so that it looks like it was still on the show room floor; this car is painted a russet brown, has practically all brand new shoes, and is considered by those who know an exceptional bargain; an inspection would be most convincing; inspection and demonstration day, evening or Sunday. On exhibition at The Brighton, 1,077 Atlantic Av., Brooklyn.

OTTO H. KAHN NOW AMERICAN CITIZEN

HAS LIVED HERE 23 YEARS

Determined to Change Allegiance Prior to the War, but Postponed Application.

Otto H. Kahn of the banking firm of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. became an American citizen yesterday, having passed his final examination in the morning before Judge Salmon of the Court of Common Pleas at Morristown, N. J. Mr. Kahn was born in Mannheim, Germany, where he spent several years in the banking house of his father, Bernard Kahn. Then he went to London and was connected there with the branch of the Deutsche Bank. Five years later, after he had become a British subject, he came to this country, where he has lived twenty-three years.

Explaining his application for citizenship Mr. Kahn said:

"Prior to the war I had determined to become an American citizen and had initiated steps with that end in view. The advent of the war caused me to postpone the filing of my final application papers, as I feared that my action or motives in giving up my British nationality during the war might be misunderstood.

"In view, however, of recent developments I believe that there is no longer room for any such misunderstanding. Moreover, I feel that these developments have made it my duty now to assume formally the obligations and duties of citizenship in the country in which I have worked and lived these many years and expect to live permanently, in which my children were born and expect to live, and to which I have become deeply attached."

Mr. Kahn owns an estate at Morristown. It is likely that he will spend more of his time in the future in New York, because he has bought a home at Glen Cove, L. I.

While he lived in London he had many opportunities of taking an active part in English public life. Some years ago he was selected as the Conservative candidate for Parliament for the Gorton Division of Lancashire, but he declined the honor on the plea that he had no time for politics.

For two years after he arrived in this country he was affiliated with the firm of Speyer & Co. He traveled for a year and then joined the house of Kuhn, Loeb & Co. Mr. Kahn has long been active in the promotion of arts and music. His city home is at 8 East Sixty-eighth Street.

Charles Einsiedler, a banker, of 49 Wall Street, who lives at Sterling, N. J., also otbained his citizenship papers from Judge Salmon. Mr. Einsiedler is a native of Germany. He has lived in this country twenty years.

SOLDIERS BECOME CITIZENS.

Thirty-five soldiers from Fort Hamilton, in command of Lieut. Charles D. Meyer, applied to the Brooklyn Naturalization Bureau yesterday for citizenship. A number of them had been in the service of the United States for many years, but had never troubled to become citizens

Besides taking the oath of allegiance to the United States the applicants were also obliged to swear allegiance as soldiers. County Clerk Schneider, who is in charge of the Naturalization Bureau in this county, expressed surprise yesterday that the announcement of the Government that no aliens would be interned in the event of war with Germany unless their conduct made it necessary, had not resulted in cutting down the number of applications for citizenship.

On Tuesday there were 430 applications and 255 yesterday.

"Many of the applicants," said Mr. Schneider, "are natives of Germany and Austria, and the fact that they are still applying for citizenship seems to disprove the theory that the rush of a few weeks ago was due to a fear of internment."

William E. Kelly, Clerk of Kings County, gave first citizenship papers last night to more than 125 aliens, thirty of whom were women, who have been studying in Night Schools 17, 144, and 156, Brooklyn. The occasion was made a graduation from the schools, the citizenship papers serving as diplomas. The auditorium of Public School 156, Sutter Avenue and Grafton Street, was filled with friends and relatives of the new citizens. School Superintendents James J. McCabe, Benjamin Veit, and Henry E. Jenkins spoke on the desirability of having aliens living in this country become naturalized. A large flag was carried to the stage by Boy Scouts, and the audience stood and saluted.

Are You
—a Judge
—a Lawyer
—a Business Man?

DO you believe that the corporations control our courts? Do you think that justice is only for the rich? Then read Rupert Hughes' great story, "Though the Sky Fall" in the April number of Hearst's Magazine.

"There is a sanctity in the law itself" say the old authorities, "which assures that justice must be done though the sky fall". Is this merely outgrown sentiment or is it basic truth? Is justice today becoming a farce or will it always ultimately triumph because it is justice? If you are an American—man or woman—who may some day need justice, you should not fail to read Rupert Hughes' answer to this great question.
